SEVEN PERSONS KILLED IN MAIL PLANE CRASH AT POCATELLO, IDAHO

MEMORIAL FOR RABBI HARRISON IS CONSIDERED

Congregation Will Take Up Matter After Funeral Which Will Be Held at 2 P. M. Thursday.

BODY TO LIE IN STATE AT TEMPLE ISRAEL

Relatives Attend Service in New York Today After Which Casket Is Put on Train for St. Louis.

Plans for a permanent memorial to Dr. Leon Harrison, rabbi for 36 years of Temple Israel, will be considered by officers and members of the congregation, following the funeral in the temple, Kingshighway and Washington avenue, at 2 p. m., Thursday.

The body of Dr. Harrison, who was killed Saturday by falling in front of a New York subway train, left New York in a special car at 1:45 p. m. today, after the conclusion of a funeral service held in Temple Israel, Ninety-third street and Broadway. More than 300 persons attended the service, including members of the family, and members of Temple Israel congregation now in the East. Those who officiated were: Dr. Max Harris of New Orleans, Dr. Samuel Thurman of United Hebrew Congregation, St. Louis; Dr. Simon Cohen of Brooklyn, Dr. Max Heller and Dr. Harrison D. Samuel.

Those accompanying the body to St. Louis are: Abraham Harrison, a brother; Mr. and Mrs. David C. Goodman, the latter a sister; Dr. Thurman, Emil Mayer and Walter Glaser, acting head of Temple Israel Congregation. The body will arrive in St. Louis at 1:35 p. m. tomorrow and will lie in state in Temple Israel from 9 a. m. Thursday until the time of the funeral.

Dr. Harrison's body will remain in St. Louis, the visiting delegation having persuaded the New York members of the family that his long service and pre-eminent standing in the community made it appropriate that [illegible] final resting place should be here.

Memorial Considered.

Following the services Thursday afternoon, the body will be placed in a receiving vault at Mt. Sinai Cemetery, on Gravois road. It will be determined later whether the body shall be interred or whether a mausoleum shall be provided. The latter question will be involved in the discussion of a suitable memorial, a member of the congregational board said today.

Members of the board will meet morrow night to make final arrangements for the funeral service. has not been determined thus whether the funeral will be marily a religious observance, members of the congregation of the Jewish community, or vic and nonsectarian one. WINSTON CHURCHILL LAYS BRICKS, DAUGHTER HELPS HIM

British Chancellor of Exchequer Found at Work at Home of One of His Servants.

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, Sept. 4.—The Evening Standard says that Winston Churchill, Chancellor of the Exchequer, has become an amateur bricklayer.

A reporter of the Standard found Churchill acting the part of a bricklayer on the home of one of his servants on his estate at Westerham. His young daughter, Sarah, was his "hod carrier," handing the bricks to him the while he set them in place.

Three glaring inconsistencies in his makeup are pointed out in the story, which mentions his cigar, gloves and a hat and coat such as bricklayers never wear on a summer day.

FINE ENGLISH SETTER PUP IS PRESENTED TO COOLIDGE

"Ticks" on Dog, President Learns, Aren't the Same as North Woods Bugs.

By the Associated Press.

SUPERIOR, Wis., Sept. 4.—The White House has another pet, an English setter puppy, named Palo Alto, presented to President Coolidge today. Palo Alto, Mr. Coolidge was informed by Claire L. Wildner, who gave him the dog, has an ancestry which has won 418 places in field trials. The beautifully marked little setter has the blood of Mohawk II, a national field trial champion, and a prairie chicken champion, as well as that of Eugene M., another chicken champion, Count Gladstove IV, and Antonio, equally famous.

"What are 'ticks?'" asked Coolidge reading from the pedigree of the animal. He was told they were the markings on the dog. "Well, that's not what ticks are at Cedar Island lodge," he replied.

Presentation of the dog grew out of the President's interest in trap shooting and hunting since he has been in the north woods.

INQUEST VERDICT OF CARELESSNESS IN AUTO FATALITY

James Lee Johnson and Fielding Childress Named by Coroner's Jury in Death of Woman.

HAVE NOT BEEN PUT UNDER ARREST

Johnson Drove Car Which Caused Death of Mrs. Harold Rising in Collision Near O'Fallon.

A Coroner's jury at St. Charles yesterday returned a verdict of carelessness and reckless driving against James Lee Johnson, son of Mrs. Oscar Johnson, 38 Portland place, and Fielding T. Childress, son of L. Wade Childress, head of the Columbia Terminals, whose automobile crashed into the car of Harold Rising of Kansas City on Highway 40 near O'Fallon Saturday night, causing the death of Mrs. Rising.

Witnesses testified Johnson was driving a Packard car west at a high rate of speed with Childress in the seat with him, and in passing another car going in the same direction, sideswiped Rising's car coming from the west. The speed of Johnsons' car was judged by witnesses at 50 to 60 miles an hour and that of Rising at 35 miles an hour.

Johnson and Childress, who were summoned by the Coroner as witnesses, did not take the stand on advice of counsel. They were not arrested after the verdict nor held under bond.

Warrant Considered.

Prosecuting Attorney Bloebaum has issuance of a warrant under consideration.

Johnson and Childress were driving to Hannibal, Mo., for a visit, it was said today at Childress' home, Clayton and McKnight roads. They returned to St. Louis after the accident. Following the inquest, Johnson was taken to St. Luke's Hospital for treatment of minor injuries. Childress is 23 years old; Johnson is about the same age.

Rising was so severely injured that he could not attend the inquest. He made an affidavit that he was going 35 miles an hour and turned to the right off the highway but the speed of Johnson's car was too great to avert the crash. J. Gordon Hulse, a clerk in a bank in Kansas City where Rising is employed and who was in Rising's car, also was injured, but was able to attend the inquest. He testified the speed of Johnson's car as it dashed around another car was so great they did not have time to scream. Francis Boren and his wife, 6221 Reber place, St. Louis, whose car was passed by Johnson's car, testified Johnson passed them at a speed of about 55 miles an hour.

Mrs. Rising was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Andreas of 3712 Eiler avenue, St. Louis, and she and her husband were on their way to visit her parents in this city.

Johnson is a son of the late Oscar Johnson, president of the International Shoe Co., who died in 1916, leaving an estate valued at $2,147,000 to his widow and three children. He is a brother of Oscar Johnson Jr., who has taken up aviation.

Youth Whose Car Killed Two Children Held to Grand Jury.

Herbert C. Michael, 19-year-old bricklayers was ordered held for the grand jury by a Coroner's jury today on two charges of manslaughter due to criminal carelessness. His machine killed two children, aged 11 and 9 years respectively, at Prairie and Kossuth avenues, last Saturday evening.

Michael was making a left-hand turn into Kossuth avenue, after driving south on Prairie, when his car struck Aline and Jean Giegerich, daughters of Martin Giegerich of 3755 Kossuth avenue. He picked up the children and took them to a hospital, where they were pronounced dead.

Michael took the stand, an unusual circumstance at a Coroner's inquest, and told the following story: "I was going to make a left turn. I saw a car at my left and I waited a minute. Then I turned. When I had completed my turn I heard a man shout to me 'Stop.' I jumped out of the car and saw the headlights of another car shining on two children. I didn't realize till then that I had struck anybody. I didn't feel any impact or sudden jar. I picked up the oldest girl. We took them to the hospital."

Michael is held under $20,000 bond.

6-FOOT LIZARD ADDED TO ZOO FAMILY; COST $500

Said to Be the Largest Reptile of Type in United States; Brought From Ceylon.

A giant lizard, 6 feet 6 inches long, has been added to the reptile group at the zoo in Forest Park.

The lizard, a member of the Varanous Salvator family of lizards from Ceylon, was purchased in New York by Supt. Vierheller from a collector, for $500. It is a non-poisonous type and eats meat. It has sharp teeth, strong claws and a narrow tongue, which it sticks out at anyone coming near it, at the same time making a hissing noise. Vierheller thinks the latest acquisition to the zoo to be the largest lizard in the country. Several giant monitor lizards, the largest type known, were brought to this country last year, but died.

The zoo also has received three guanacos from South America. They are similar to the llama and are used as pack animals in their native country.

TELEVISION TO BE USED TO LEAD SYMPHONY CONCERT

Cincinnati Conductor to Make Self Visible to Aid Directing Hidden Auxiliary Orchestra.

By the Associated Press.

CINCINNATI, Sept. 4.—Fritz Reiner, conductor of the Cincinnati Symphony Orchestra, announced he will use television for direction of a special number in a concert here Nov. 17.

The conductor said Mahler's Symphony No. 2, in connection with which the television will be used, requires in its last movement a full orchestra, chorus, organ, soloists and a small orchestra backstage. It is in conducting the second orchestra, which will be hidden from view, that television will be used.

Heretofore while Reiner has directed the main orchestra he has had an assistant director behind a wall conducting the second orchestra. In order to keep the same time it was necessary to cut a hole in the wall for the assistant to see the main director.

Reiner's new plan is to have his picture, movements, time and placement thrown on a screen where the second orchestra is hidden, enabling it to keep exact time with the main orchestra.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 4.—An increase of $121,771,190 in the gross debt of the United States was shown in the monthly treasury report for August, issued today. On Aug. 31 the debt amounted to $17,647,990,660, whereas on July 21 it was $17,526,219,470. The increase, treasury officials explained, was due to bonds issued in June in preparation for the retirement of the Third Liberty Loan bonds, which mature Sept. 15. That issue had not appeared on the treasury statement for July.

MRS. KNAPP GETS 30 DAYS FOR NEW YORK CENSUS FRAUDS

Judge Declares She Got at Least $17,408 of the $27,604 That Was Misapplied.

PROSECUTOR'S PLEA FOR LENIENCY DENIED

Ex-Secretary of State Unmoved—Defense Lawyers Seek Certificate on Which to Base Appeal.

By the Associated Press.

ALBANY, N. Y., Sept. 4.—Mrs. Florence E. S. Knapp, former Secretary of State of New York, convicted of grand larceny, first degree, in connection with her administration of State census funds, today was sentenced to serve 30 days in the Albany County aJil. The amount of money misapplied was $27,604.

Mrs. Knapp heard her sentence without moving from her chair and with no sign of emotion.

Mrs. Knapp was taken direct from the courthouse to the jail while her attorneys argued for a certificate of reasonable doubt, which would automatically act as a stay of execution.

The certificate of reasonable doubt, if obtained, would form the basis of an appeal, her attorneys said. They added that they were preparing the appeal at Mrs. Knapp's request.

Plea for Leniency Overruled.

In declining to suspend sentence Supreme Court Justice Stephen Callahan overruled a plea by Attorney-General Ottinger asking for leniencey for Mrs. Knapp. Patrick C. Dugan of defense counsel made a similar plea after a technical motion for dismissal had been denied.

Sentencing Mrs. Knapp was postponed at the conclusion of her second trial last May when specialists testified that she was on the verge of nervous collapse. Her first trial ended in a disagreement. During the summer she has been under the care of physicians at various times.

Ottinger based his recommendation for a suspended sentence on "the changes undergone by the defendant beginning with the crime charged in the indictments, because of their present continuance, her physical and mental suffering, her exposure, disgrace and complete ruin, and because of the State's debt to Clara Blanche Knapp (Mrs. Knapp's stepdaughter and principal witness for the prosecution)."

Overruling the recommendation, Justice Callahan said: "I have considered carefully every aspect of her case and all that has been said in her favor and after mature thought and deliberation I am fully convinced that justice would not be served by a suspension of sentence."

Statement of the Judge.

In imposing sentence, Judge Callahan read a prepared statement, in which he said:

"I have no desire to add to the humiliation of the defendant, yet I deem it my duty to state the reasons which lead me to impose a prison sentence. The records furnish indisputable proof that funds amounting to $27,604.18 were improperly paid by the State on false certifications by the defendant. Of that sum at least $17,408.03 was wrongfully received by the defendant and probably a total of $24,175.82 is traceable directly or indirectly to her. Although the grand jury returned but 12 indictments there was ample evidence to justify at least 30. The grand jury, however, in its wisdom, evidently felt that no good purpose would be served by finding other indictments.

"When the Governor ordered an investigation of the irregularities with which the defendant was charged she did not, as is the duty of every public official, lend herself in assisting in a complete investigation of the charges against her, but remained out of the jurisdiction to prevent the commissioner from causing process to be served. She filed affidavits which were false and which were no doubt intended to relieve her of the imputation of wrongdoing. Her attitude toward the commissioner was the same as that evidenced by her in the trial of the indictment upon which she was convicted.

"She persistently endeavored to defeat the ends of justice, and to carry out her purpose, she was

MINE PROMOTER, ON WHOM MANY LOST, SHOT DEAD

Baird Thimming, 27, Slain by Men in Auto at His Home at Campbell Hill, Near Murphysboro, Ill.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

MURPHYSBORO, Ill., Sept. 4.—Baird Thimming, 27 years old, who promoted the sale of stock in a coal mine which recently failed with considerable loss to investors, was shot to death outside his home at Campbell Hill, 18 miles north of here, last midnight.

Thimming had retired for the night when two men in a Hudson touring car drove up to his residence and inquired for directions to Murphysboro. Thimming told them to wait a minute, then dressed and went out to their automobile. He was standing beside the car with one foot on the running board when the men fired five shots, two taking effect in his stomach. The men drove away.

The men were "Americans," the wounded man told his wife, but he was not able to describe them. His wife notified his brother, who is Sheriff at Pinckneyville, in Perry County, 25 miles away, and the brother drove to Campbell Hill, got the wounded man and drove back to a Pinckneyville hospital, arriving there 10 minutes before the man died. In his last moments, he told his brother he knew of no reason for the shooting.

Sheriff Flanagan of Jackson County, in which the shooting occurred, began an investigation.

Thimming is survived by his widow and two children. He had lived at Campbell Hill for about six years, and before that had conducted a furniture store in Christopher. He promoted the Hi-Carbon coal mine which failed, and upon which mortgages were foreclosed last month.

It is understood stock in the mine had been sold to people around Christopher, West Frankfort and other mining towns. Estimates of the stock sales vary between $50,000 and $100,000.

ROCKFORD FLYERS PLANNING RETURN FROM GREENLAND

Their Only Immediate Means of Travel Is Freight Ship Line 400 Miles From Mount Evans

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Sept. 4.—Bert Hassell and Parker Cramer, who were rescued in Greenland Sunday after being lost 14 days on their flight from Cochrane, Ont., to Mount Evans, were planning today how to get back to Rockford, Ill., their first take-off point. Their plane, the Greater Rockford, in which they made the perilous nonstop flight of some 1800 miles from Cochrane, was 100 miles away, abandoned on ice and perhaps smashed in weather.

Due to strong static interference, details of their struggle across 100 miles of Arctic wastes were not obtainable.

The radio station of the New York Times, which received news Sunday of the flyers' safety from the University of Michigan Greenland expedition at Mount Evans, could obtain but fragmentary messages yesterday. Hassell managed to get word through that the plane was about 100 miles from the camp of the expedition. The plane was undamaged when the flyers started their trek to the camp but heavy winds soon afterward indicated to Hassell the possibility that the Greater Rockford might be smashed.

Message to His Wife.

He made inquiries about boat connectins and sent a message to Mrs. Hassell expressing the hope that he would see her soon.

Indications were, however, that the flyers must remain at Mount Evans for some days and virtually live the life of Eskimos. Anthony Fiala, once an Arctic explorer and now a merchant in New York, expects Prof. William H. Hobbs, head of the Mount Evans expedition, to return in the fall. Fiala has furnished the expedition much of its equipment. He suggests that the aviators probably will return with Hobbs.

One possibility of the flyers' coming home sooner is a line of freight steamers which runs from Philadelphia to Ivigut, Iceland, some 400 miles from Mount Evans, to obtain minerals used in the manufacture of soda and glass.

If the flyers should leave by the

ROBINSON OPENS HIS CAMPAIGN BY DEFENDING SMITH

DIVERGES FROM PREPARED SPEECH

Promises to Devote Some Attention Later to What He Calls "Whispering Campaign" in Souh.

By the Associated Press.

ROBINSON SPECIAL CAR, Enroute to Cisco, Tex., Sept. 4.—Having opened his campaign with an attack upon those assailing Gov. Smith's personal and religious records, Senator Robinson moved onward today from Dallas to Cisco, another Texas city, for his second address in his campaign for the vice presidency on the Democratic ticket.

While he has not announced the subject of his address to be delivered at 8 p. m. tonight, he has indicated he might enter into a discussion of the qualifications of the Democratic standard bearer for the presidency.

Robinson is known to have prepared a speech on this subject and is thought in this to have touched again the attitude of the New York Governor on the relationship between State and church.

After delivering a prepared address on the Democratic party's position toward labor in Dallas, yesterday, Robinson closed with a brief review of the Governor's record in New York State.

"An American Governor."

"He has not been a Catholic Governor, he declared. "He has not been a Baptist Governor, nor a Democratic Governor, but thank God he has been an American Governor."

The Senator said that Smith had taken up the fight for a teachers' pension law in New York and, although practically all of the beneficiaries were Protestants, he had put the measure through a hostile assembly.

Tucking his prepared speech into his pocket, the Senator edged closer to the microphone and said: "The statement has been made that he is a drunkard."

He paused for an instant and then shouted: "There's not one word of truth in it."

The crowd, to a large extent a Labor Day gathering, applauded and cheered although up to that time it had not been very demonstrative.

Assails "Whispering Campaign."

Continuing, the Senator said he regretted the presidential nominee had been accused unjustly and that before long he proposed to deliver a speech on what he described as a "whispering campaign" now being carried on in many parts of the South.

"If I keep on talking, I'll deliver that speech now," he said, and someone in the stands shouted: "Go on."

Robinson said that William Allen White, the Kansas publisher, had brought charges against the Democratic standard bearer and sailed for Europe. From abroad, he went on, White issued a retraction, and then a retraction, or a part retraction, of the retraction. It has been said, he continued, that some official of the Republican committee announced that the retraction should not have been given out.

"If Mr. White had been the man he should have been," the Senator exclaimed, "instead of making a half-hearted apology, he would have made a full apology."

Regarding Talk of "Priest Rule."

The vice presidential nominee said that the statement was abroad that if Smith were elected he would conduct a government of "priest rule" and that it would be a government "of the priest, by the priest and for the priest."

"He has not been a Catholic Governor," he shouted. "He has not been a Baptist Governor, nor a Democratic Governor, but, thank God, he has been an American Governor."

Robinson said that there was not a more outstanding personality in American politics than Smith. "Do you know why his name is referred to 100 times to once for Mr. Hoover?" he asked, and went on: "It is disclosed by his record. He always has been loyal and fearless in the discharge of his duties to the masses."

Introduced by Sheppard.

The Senator was introduced to the crowd, which filled the fairgrounds grand stand and jammed all space between that structure and the speaker's platform, by Senator Morris Sheppard of Texas, author of the eighteenth amendment.

"Texas this fall will be a doubtful State," was the way Sheppard started off. "It will be doubtful whether it will give the Democratic ticket 250,000 or 300,000 majority."

He added that Texas and the South were obligated to the Democratic party and urged Texans to remember that it was "largely the Democratic party" which brought about admission of the State to the Union.

Sheppard was presented to the assemblage by Lieutenant-Governor Barry Miller of Texas, who in turn was introduced by Representative Hatton W. Sumners of the Dallas Congressional District.

Gov. Moody Does Not Speak.

Miller said from the first he had announced he would support whoever the party might nominate and in the same breath expressed the hope it would be Smith. He described Senator Sheppard as one believing the prohibition law the "greatest law ever written" and added: "When he can find it within his conscience to support Gov. Smith, I wonder what kind of a conscience can't support him."

Sumners said he had not been a Smith man from the first but now was wholeheartedly for the ticket. The South has but one-fourth of the votes in Congress, he went on, and when it has needed support it has been the Democratic party which came to its aid. "You can't talk of him as being the nominee of Tammany," he continued, "when the Democrats of the nation in their first opportunity declared themselves for Smith."

Gov. Dan Moody of Texas was on the speakers' platform but did not speak.

SAYS BUSINESS IN COUNTRY IS UNDERGOING RATIONALIZATION

President of National Industrial Board Asserts Smaller Companies Are Hit by Competition.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Sept. 4.—The business structure of the nation is undergoing a rigorous process of "nationalization," in the opinion of Magnus W. Alexander, president of the National Industrial Conference Board. The process is based, Alexander indicated on his return to New York after several weeks of travel during which he studied general business conditions, on increased earnings and profits by large corporations, continued failures in the ranks of smaller business organizations and a wide prevalence of sharp competition and growing selling costs.

Alexander said the conditions which he observed are making it increasingly important for business executives to apply the most scientific management principles if they expect to survive in an era of amalgamations and large-scale enterprises. In the "nationalization" process, he said, many of the smaller companies find it increasingly difficult to compete with the high efficiency standards set by well-managed, large-scale enterprises.

"Business activity on the whole," he added, "and in spite of the fact that we are facing a presidential election, has been improving ever since the first of the year."

POLICEMEN SHOOT SOLDIERS

Wound Two Sergeants From Selfridge Field, Mich.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

DETROIT, Mich., Sept. 4.—Sergeant Edwin Olsen, 23 years old, of Cadillac, Mich., and Sergeant Glenn Moran, 22, Dayton, O., both of Selfridge Field, were shot and wounded by two policemen here last night.

The two patrolmen said they fired after ordering the soldiers three times to put up their hands, and when one of them acted as if he was reaching for a revolver. The soldiers deny this and say they were looking for two girl friends.

The two patrolmen were hiding in a suite in the Vicksburg Apartments when the soldiers tried to enter. The police were stationed there on information that the place was a rendezvous for liquor thieves.

SPENCER PENROSE, REPUBLICAN, DECLARES FOR GOV. SMITH

Brother of Late Senator From Pennsylvania Once Offered Home to Coolidge for Summer.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 4.—Spencer Penrose of Colorado Springs, brother of the late Senator Boies Penrose of Pennsylvania, and Richard R. Quay, son of the late Matthew S. Quay, have declared themselves in favor of the election of Gov. Smith.

The declarations of Penrose, a millionaire mining engineer, and Quay, are contained in letters addressed to H. C. Hansbrough, for 18 years a Republican United States Senator from North Dakota, now chairman of the Smith Independent League.

Penrose last year offered his home as the summer residence for President Coolidge before Rapid City was chosen. He is a member of the Union League Club of Philadelphia and of the Republican Club of New York.

Quay followed Roosevelt in the Progressive movement in 1922 and was a Roosevelt delegate to the convention which nominated Taft.

"I have always been a strict Republican," writes Penrose, "but matters have come to such a climax in regard to the prohibition question that I cannot vote for Hoover. The Republicans look to me to be like a flock of ostriches which put their heads in the sand and think everything is splendid."

FAMILY OF THREE KILLED WHEN I. C. TRAIN HITS AUTO

Oscar Wolters, Wife and Son of St. Louis Victims of Grade Crossing Crash Near Litchfield, Ill.

A St. Louis family of three was killed yesterday afternoon when an automobile in which they were driving back to the city was wrecked in a collision with a fast Illinois Central passenger train at Shop Creek crossing, near Litchfield, Ill., 60 miles northeast of St. Louis.

The dead: Oscar A. Wolters, 28 years old; his wife, Elizabeth Barbara, 36, and their son, Ralph, 12. The family resided at 6332 Gardenville avenue.

They left home Saturday morning to spend the week-end and holiday with relatives, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Brown of Raymond, Ill., two miles north of Litchfield. Wolters was driving. At 4:30 o'clock, half an hour after they had started on the return trip, the St. Louis-bound train, traveling at high speed, demolished the automobile and carried it several hundred yards down the track. The three occupants were dead when extricated from the wreckage.

At an inquest today, Frank Gallagher, the engineer, testified he did not see the automobile and did not realize the engine had struck anything until he saw rods from the wrecked machine fly past the cab window. The crossing was open and the train was moving at between 50 and 60 miles an hour, he said.

H. M. Barnett, the fireman, said he was looking out of the window. "The train was about 50 or 60 feet from the crossing when I saw the coupe move on to the track," he said. "It looked as if it was being deliberately driven in front of us. The woman saw the train after they got on the track, but it was too late. I called to the engineer, but the whistle was blowing and I don't think he heard me."

Wolters was driving west and had stopped a short distance from the track to ask W. P. Wade, a contracting foreman, for road information. Wade, who was not present at the inquest, saw the approaching train and was shouting to warn the driver when the collision occurred. An accident verdict was returned.

Wolters, a foreman for the St. Louis Can Co., was to have celebrated his thirty-eighth birthday today. His son, a student at Gardenville School, expected to be graduated this year.

Mrs. Wolters is survived by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Dean, 4159 Taft avenue, and one brother, Marshall Dean. Funeral arrangements have not been completed.

The train arrived an hour late at Union Station.

FRENCH AVIATORS BOUND OVERSEAS LAND IN MOROCCO

By the Associated Press.

CASABLANCA, Morocco, Sept. 4.—The yellow Canary plane, which hopped off with Jean Assolant, Rene Lefevre and Armand Lotti from Le Bourget Field, near Paris, this morning, landed here at 4:40 p. m., today.

Assolant and Lefevre announced that they would take off again within two or three hours. They did not indicate their probable destination.

By the Associated Press.

PARIS, Sept. 4.—A sigh of relief went up from the aviation fields around Paris tonight when news came that the "kid sergeants," Jean Assolant and Rene Lefevre, had landed at Casablanca, Morocco, at 4:40 p. m., 9 hours and 36 minutes after their plane, "The Yellow Canary," had hopped off from Le Bourget Field on an announced trans-Atlantic flight.

Neither aviation experts nor the Paris man in the street had taken the attempt seriously. They were fearful, however, that the young flyers would come to grief as it was believed that their daring outweighed their experience, especially in the art of navigation.

Announcement said that the plane landed because of a leak in the oil lines. There was no explanation for their presence in Africa after they had started ostensibly for New York and had sent messages to representatives in the United States asking that arrangements be made for their landing at Mitchel Field, Long Island.

Besides the two flyers there was a passenger in the plane, Armond Lotti, son of Alfred Lotti, a wealthy hotel keeper of Paris. Young Lotti was the financial backer of the flight, but his family had no inkling of his intention to go in the plane. He concealed this even from workmen at Le Bourget Field, hiding under a pile of rags in the machine.

"Extraordinary," exclaimed Alfred Lotti when told of his son's action. "Perhaps now he will be back to work within a few days."

Chief Pilot Paillard of the Bernard company, which built the plane, announced after the take-off that the flyers because of adverse winds over the Atlantic, were going over a course of some 5600 miles to Rio de Janeiro, and that they would go by way of Dakar, Senegal, and Pernambuco, Brazil, in an attempt to carry off the prize offered for the first nonstop flight from Paris to Rio de Janeiro.

The Canary Bird developed splendid speed, pilots of the military escort planes said, when they returned to Paris. They had intended to follow the trans-Atlantic flyers to the sea, but turned back 30 miles from Le Bourget because they could not keep the pace of 115 miles an hour the Canary Bird set.

Assolant and Lefevre are both bachelors, 23 and 25 years old, respectively. They belong to the Thirty-fourth Air Regiment. Although said to be subject to air sickness they are skilled and experienced airmen. Assolant served in the Riff war with disetinction and was twice commended in dispatches and decorated with the military medal and war cross. Both have creditable records for long distance flying. They were members of the crew of the plane commanded by Col. Anthoinat which sought to unite Paris and Indo-China by air. That expedition was interrupted, however, by difficulties raised by Turkish authorities.

DR. JAMES MADISON TRACY, LAST PUPIL OF LISZT, DIES

Veteran Musician Succumbs at His Home in Denver at the Age of 91.

MEXICANS DENY NUN KNEW OF CONSPIRACY

Plotters Had Accused Her of Part in Plan to Kill Calles and Obregon.

By the Associated Press.

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 4.—Reversing their former testimony that Mother Superior Concepcion, Acebado de Llata, was involved in plots to kill President Calles and Gen. Alvaro Obregon, Senorita Maria Elena Manzano and Eulogio Gonzales today swore that she knew nothing of that conspiracy or of the plot to dynamite the Chamber of Deputies and the Obregon headquarters. Senorita Manzano said that she was so nervous that she did not know what she was saying when she testified on a previous occasion. Gonzales made no coherent explanation, but said he must have been mistaken in the first instance.

They testified today before the Federal District Attorney-General Niedo, in the jail at Mixcoac. The Mother Superior was present and took part in the examination.

The testimony was taken in a Mexican process of bringing persons accused of crime face to face with their accusers in order to compare their testimony in each other's presence.

When Gonzales was brought into the presence of Attorney Niedo and Mother Concepcion, the former turned to the nun and said:

"Gonzales has previously testified that you presided over meetings held in your house, at which a plot was formed to kill President Calles and Gen. Obregon, and he said further that you furnished the poison for this plot. Is this true?"

"Absolutely untrue," replied the Mother Superior.

The attorney then turned to Gonzales and asked: "Do you say now that this is true?"

Gonzales replied: "Well, I say that the truth is—er—er—well, whatever Mother Concepcion says, that is the truth."

Gonzales similarly was vague on other points and finally was returned to his cell. Then Maria Elena confronted the Mother Superior. She was the senorita who was accused of having been designated to scratch President Calles and Gen. Obregon with a poison needle while she was dancing with them.

"Is it true that I directed the meetings where plots were formed against the President and Gen. Obregon and gave you the poi be used on them?" asked Concepcion of the girl.

"No, it is not true," the woman replied. "Carlos Di Collano gave me the poison did not know why I was Celaya."

SAYS EMBALMING WON'T HIDE TRACE OF POISONING

INQUIRY PENDING BY DR. STEWART

Health Commissioner to Examine Into Deaths From "Gastritis, Cause Unknown" at Catawissa.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

UNION, Mo., Sept. 4.—Exhumation of the bodies of three persons to whom Mrs. Bertha Gifford confesses she gave arsenic at her former home near catawissa, Mo., is regarded as a certainty with the arrival here this afternoon of Dr. James Stewart, State Health Commissioner.

Dr. Stewart, who in a public statement last Saturday deplored the laxity of Catawissa physicians in failing to demand post-mortems in deaths now attributed to poison, said he would ehume bodies wherever there was a chance of "significant" post-mortem.

The fact that several of the bodies have been embalmed will not preclude authoritative autopsies, according to John A. Thiebes, undertaker at Pacific, Mo., who buried and embalmed the bodies of at least 10 of the 17 persons who died suddenly after Mrs. Gifford had ministered to them as volunteer nurse.

Embalming Does Not Hide Poison

Several months ago, Thiebes said, at the suggestion of Prosecuting Attorney F. H. Jenny of Franklin County, he wrote to the makers of the embalming fluid he uses, and asked them if the embalming liquid destroyed chances of post-mortem in the case of a poison death. The manufacturers replied that it did not, and that a skilled toxicologist could detect arsenic in an embalmed body several months, or even years after death.

This letter is in the files of Prosecuting Attorney Jenny and will be turned over to Dr. tSewart when he arrives tomorrow. The first body to be disinterred is likely to be that of Ed Brinley, 48-year-old farmer, whose death certificate, signed by two doctors, reads: "Acute unkown disease" and "acute gastritis—cause unknown."

A grand jury investigation developed that Mrs. Gifford had purchased arsenic a few hours before Brinley developed symptoms, said by Dr. W. H. Hempker, one of two attending physicians, to be those of arsenical poisoning. Mrs. Gifford personally arranged for the embalming of Brinley's body while members of his family were still considering an autopsy.

Certain embalming fluids, it is known, make an authoritative post-mortem impossible.

After exhuming the body of Brinley, buried in the Brush Creek Cemetery, Jefferson County, Dr. Stewart is likely to dig up the bodies of the two Schamel boys—aged 7 and 9, respectively — to whom Mrs. Gifford also admits she gave poison before they died in agony. Their death certificates read — "acute gastritis cause unknown."

Many of the Bodies Embalmed.

Undertaker Thiebes buried and embalmed both children. Their graves are in the Bethlehem Cemetery, in Jefferson County. He also buried and embalmed the bodies of Beulah Pounds, 3 years old, who died of "acute gastritis" in Mrs. Gifford's home; Sherman Pounds, 41-year-old farmer, who unexpectedly succumbed to stomach pains in the Gifford home; Mrs. Leona Slocum, aunt of the Schamel children, who was a tubercular patient and who suddenly died with abdominal pains after Mrs. Gifford nursed her; James Ogle, Gifford's hired man, who died suddenly after complaining the Giffords owed him money, and "Jimmy" Gifford, Mrs. Gifford's 11-year-old brother-in-law.

It was told about Catawissa that Mrs. Gifford had not only ordered the embalming of Ed Brinley's body but had paid for his funeral as well, but Mrs. Ludelphia Brinley of Kirkwood, the widow, has written the Post-Dispatch that she paid all the burial expenses. Mrs. Gifrod, at Brinley's funeral, acted as mistress of ceremonies, prepared food for the relatives of the deceased, and held sympathetic conversations with the mourners.

None of the Stuhlfelder children, according to Thiebes, was embalmed, and he said he did not think that the bodies either of Mrs. Mary Stuhlfelder, both of whom Birdie Unnerstall, both of whom died suddenly under Mrs. Gifford's care, had been embalmed. The three Stuhlfelder children, their mother told a reporter for the Post-Dispatch, died under suspicious circumstances when Mrs. Gifford was nursing them, and showed symptoms like those developed by the Schamel children and Ed Brinley.

Dr. Stewart's Plans.

Dr. Stewart, in his exhumations, is not likely to disinter bodies that have lain in the ground as long as 10 years. He is concerned he told the Post-Dispatch, with getting his medical files straight in Jefferson City. Such a death certificate as that made out for Ed Brinley, he said, showing death was due to an acute unknown disease, simply could not be accepted.

"Many of the cases, I understand, are old," Dr. Stewart said by telephone. "Mrs. Gifford's first husband, I am told, died 18 years ago. We would not go back that far. Sometimes, where a body has been emblamed, postmortem is impossible. I will go into that with Prosecuting Attorney Jenny. Wherever we believe there is an even chance to get a good postmortem, we will dig up the bodies. We want our files in Jefferson City to mean something. When they say that a man died of something, we want them to be exact."

To Concentrate on Three Cases.

Prosecuting Attorney Jenny plans to concentrate for the present on the Brinley and Schamel cases—the three deaths in which Mrs. Gifford confessed she mixed arsenic with the medicine a physician had prescribed. Mrs. Gifford is under indictment, on first degree murder charges, in connection with the deaths of Brinley and of Elmer Schamel, 7 years old, the last Schamel child to die.

Should the condition of the bodies prevent proof of the presence of arsenic in fatal doses, the State will proceed with its case on medical testimony as to arsenical symptoms at the deaths, circumstantial evidence linking purchases of arsenic by Mrs. Gifford with the fatal illnesses, and Mrs. Gifford's confession.

The 55-year-old poisoner, sunbronzed, plump, receives several callers daily, but she remains stretched under a blanket in her Franklin County cell, hiding her face in daylight. Only at night does she stir from the cot, to tramp up and down the concrete floor, moaning intermittently.

KELLOGG AND COSGRAVE EXCHANGE GOODBY MESSAGES

U. S. Secretary of State Expresses Gratitude for Warm Reception In Ireland.

By the Associated Press.

DUBLIN, Irish Free State, Sept. 4.—Secretary of State Kellogg, en route to Cherbourg, France, on the U. S. S. Detroit, last night sent by radio a farewell message to President Cosgrave. His message read as follows:

"On leaving Ireland, Mrs. Kellogg joins me in again expressing to you and Mrs. Cosgrave, to the members of your Cabinet and to the people of Ireland our appreciation of the splendid reception we received. We have always wanted to visit Ireland and this, our first trip, has far surpassed our fondest expectations. We shall never forget your kindness and the warmhearted greeting from everyone."

Cosgrave replied: "Your visit, following signature of the memorable peace pact, made a profound impression here and it was an honor and pleasure to us and the people of Ireland to receive you and Mrs. Kellogg in our midst. Our only regret is that the pressing demand of your high office did not permit a longer stay." He closed with the wish that the Kelloggs would "soon pay us another visit."

Kellogg will board the liner Leviathan at Cherbourg for his return to the United States.

RADIATOR OF PLANE FOUND

By the Associated Press.

BOSTON, Sept. 4.—The fishing schooner Angie B. Watson arrived here today with the radiator of what was thought might be that of a missing trans-Atlantic airplane. The radiator was picked up 40 miles southeast of Highland Light, Cape Cod. A line caught in the radiator and part of the engine. The latter fell off when the crew attempted to bring it aboard.

It was thought here that the radiator might be that of the missing plane "Dawn," in which Mrs. Frances Grayson started on a flight to Europe last December. At the time there were numerous reports that the plane had been heard over Cape Cod.

Came Down Aug. 19.

The flyers came down on the icy wastes of Point Sukkertoppen on Aug. 19 and made their way through an unexplored country seeking safety. They were picked up by the expedition in a motorboat 10 miles across a fjord to the expedition's base.

The flight, despite the forced landing, was regarded today as a notable feat. In their 1800-mile leg from Cochrane they flew over the wilderness of Labrador, then across 800 miles of the Atlantic below the Arctic Circle before reaching Greenland.

They were sighted flying over Fiskenaesset about 200 miles south of Point Sukkertoppen and to the south of their projected course. The forced landing was due to lack of gasoline A smoke signal sent up by the flyers attracted the attention of the expedition.

A Desolate Waste.

The base camp of the Mount Evans expedition is at sea level on Kangerdluagstuak Fjord. The country is a desolate waste of ice broken up by inaccessible mountains and dangerous fissures. The nearest habitation is a small Eskimo village 120 miles away.

Three miles from the camp is the expedition's observatory, on a mountain peak 1290 feet above sea level. It is a hut 14 feet by 6½. It is equipped with radio and meteorological instruments, and has bunks and cooking facilities.

The seven members of the expedition wear the Greenland native costume made of seal and reindeer skins. Game abounds and constitutes most of the expedition's food. Caribou, seal, arctic hare, parmigan and fox are tame and easy to catch.

Message Indicates Flyers Have Abandoned Trip to Sweden.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

LONDON, Sept. 4.—Bert Hassel and Parker Cramer, Rockford flyers who are now safe at Mount Evans expected today to go to Holstenberg, Greenland, by motorboat, according to a radio from the wireless station at Julienhaab; Greenland, picked up by the Excnahge Telegraph company here.

The fact that Hassell and Cramer were going to Holstenberg was taken as an indication that the flyers were contemplating an early return to the United States and had given up hopes of completing their flight to Sweden.

Rockford Backers Get Direct Word From Flyers by Radio.

By the Associated Press.

ROCKFORD, Ill., Sept. 4.—First direct word from the Greater Rockford flyers, rescued Sunday, was received last night by the Rockford Chamber of Commerce, which is backing the flight.

It was a radio message from Bert Hassell, pilot of the plane which was about 100 miles from Mount Evans, and asking what had best be done with it.

"Use your own judgment," was the reply, thus leaving to Hassell and Parker Cramer, co-pilot, their own choice in the matter of continuing the flight to Stockholm.

Hassell and Cramer Give Thanks to Danish Government.

By the Associated Press.

COPENHAGEN, Denmark, Sept. 4.—A message of thanks from Bert Hassell and Parker Cramer, American aviators who were rescued after an emergency landing in Greenland, was received by the Greenland administration of the Danish Government today. It read:

"We wish to express in some measure our appreciation of the generous action of the Danish Government and of your own department, for the vigor and thoroughness with which the search for us was prosecuted. We hope to express our obligation in person."

MISS EARHART FORCED DOWN AT CUBA, MO.

Trans-Atlantic Flyer Had Left Scott Field for Muskogee, Ok.

Miss Amelia Earhart, the first woman to fly across the Atlantic, was forced down near Cuba, Mo., 75 miles southwest of St. Louis, after taking off from Scott Field at 9:05 a. m. today for Muskogee, Ok., with Los Angeels as her ultimate destination. No details of the landing were received.

"I don't know where I'm going, but I'm on my way," she told a reporter as she seated herself at the controls of her Avro two-seater, an English plane.

"I'm just a tramp flyer now," she added, "and have no particular destination. I would like to see the national air races at Los Angeles, but I'm not entered in any race."

Miss Earhart, who accompanied Wilmer Stultz and Lou Gordon across the ocean in the monoplane Friendship, last June, started from Rye, N. Y., a week ago and traveled cross country by easy stages, making stops at Pittsburg, Dayton and Terre Haute. She landed at Scott Field at 4.45 p. m. yesterday.

"I thought I could drop off at the field without getting into the newspapers," she said. "I'm not seeking publicity."

Miss Annabelle Hoppe of 141 North Pennsylvania avenue was visiting at Scott Field when Miss Earhart landed. Miss Earhart knew no one in Belleville, and Miss Hoppe invited the former school teacher and settlement worker to be her guest overnight. Miss Earhart accepted, much to the delight of Miss Hoppe. They attended a dinner dance at the St. Clair Country Club, where Miss Earhart was the center of attraction.

turned in the death Sunday of Mrs. Edith Helton, 44, of 1328 Arsenal street, who was injured Aug. 26, when an automobile in which she was riding overturned in a ditch on Highway No. 13, east of Belleville.

The driver, Len Kirkpatrick, of the same address, testified he was crowded from the road when an automobile driven by Mrs. Pauline Welker, 40, of Belleville, scraped his fender in passing the car. Mrs. Welker is under bond at Belleville, and, it is understood, will be prosecuted there.

Three Others Held Careless.

A Coroner's jury today charged Frederick W. Long, 3227A North Twenty-first street, and Sidney Strater, 4523 Gravois avenue, with criminal carelessness and held them under bond of $5000 each in the case of Patrick J. Daly, 50 years old, 4209 West Evans avenue, who was crushed to death on the sidewalk of the Twelfth street viaduct Sunday when struck by an automobile driven by Long after Long's car had been struck by a car driven by Strater.

Ralph O. Campbell, a private watchman, living in the rear of 5065 Lindell boulevard, was charged with criminal carelessness and held under $10,000 bond in the death of Mrs. Mary Shea, 42, 2139 Cass avenue, who was struck by a car driven by Campbell at West Florissant and Ruskin avenues Saturday night.

Coroner's verdicts of accident were returned in the case of Mrs. Emma Fitzgerald, 60, 3224 Washington boulevard, who died at St. Luke's Hospital yesterday of internal injuries suffered Friday night when struck by a truck driven by Jacob Glazer, 2210 Franklin avenue, at Page boulevard and Clarendon avenue, and in the case of Robert Neil, 69, a patient at the City Sanitarium, who was fatally injured Friday when struck by an automobile driven by Mrs. Alice Richard, 4337 Oleatha avenue, at 1600 South Kingshighway.

DIES AFTER RUNNING FOR CAR

While running to catch the last car of the Brentwood line, George Bronkhorst, 54 years old, a butcher, 1522 Louis avenue, Brentwood, collapsed in the street near his home at 11:10 o'clock last night and died in a corner drug store a few minutes later.

Heart disease is thought to have been the cause of death.

FATHERS COACH SONS AT TOY PLANE DERBY

Boy, 10, Wins Cup for Best Home-Made Model—Real Air Stunts Shown.

The Junior Aero Derby in Forest Park yesterday provided evidence that model airplanes are as prone to stunt as the real ones, and that they are the sort of toy which Dad takes in hand on Christmas morning and lets the boys have when he has tired of them—and, chances are, has put them out of order.

Dad was conspicuously on hand. A fortunes varied he cheered and advised and lamented, in hundreds in the ring of onlookers, which sometimes was 80 yards wide and more than 100 yards long. And whenever "my boy" won a prize, Dad was right there to put a fatherly arm about his shoulder and help him carry the silver cup.

Nosedives and Tailspins.

Nose dives and tail spins were perhaps the most numerous of the stunts, but not the most popular. One could tell that with his eyes closed, just by the chorus of

The most popular stunt was another for which the models had a decided flair. That was when one of the tiny affairs in the midst of a spiral decided to play pursuit plane and pursued somebody about the ring.

Some Go Clear Across Field.

Some of them, however, flew from the crest of the slight incline of the old flying field—where the ancient air mail "Jennies" of 1920 used to wobble up into the northwest wind—all the way over the abandoned hangar at the east side of the field.

The winner in the first event, for double propeller types, stayed aloft for a minute and 11 seconds and won a cup donated by the St. Louis Star for Honore Somners, 17 years old, of 8340 Washington place. Joseph Ehrhardt, 15, of 7020 Wise avenue, won the Robertson Aircraft Corporation cup for air mail types, with a 25-second flight, and the Parks Air College cup, with a 31-second flight of a single propeller model. The winning glider, which stayed up 5½ seconds, was launched by Russell Amrein, 14, of 3643 Virginia avenue, for the A. and E. Goodwin Printing Co. cup.

The Post-Dispatch cup for home-made models went to the youngest winner of the day, Lester Reinhardt, 10, of 5328 Lansdowne avenue, with duration of 7¼ seconds. The Times trophy was won, with a 19-second flight, by Nat Parker IV of Overland. Two cups, one by the Chamber of Commerce for members of model airplane clubs and the other by Sidney Salomon, president of Nugents, were won by the same flight of a minute and 28 seconds by a model built by C. C. Magrath, 23, of 2317 Randolph street.

A Robin monoplane, built by F. H. Dean, 20, of 5033 Mardell avenue, won the Col. Paegelow cup for the handsomest model by a slight margin over a "Spirit of St. Louis" built by Sommers.

FELLED BY GOLF BALL, SEEKS $20,000 DAMAGES

Ralph L. Stanley Also Asks $1763 for Medical Care and $2000 for Lost Time.

The golf course accident in which Ralph L. Stanley of 4481 Westminster place, a cigar dealer, was struck on the head by a ball at Normandie Golf Club, on St. Charles rock road, Aug. 7, 1927, today resulted in the filing of a damage suit against E. Anson More, 4756 Westminster place, president of the More Automobile Co., in which Stanley asks for $20,000 damages, $1763 for hospital and doctors' bills and $2000 for lost time.

Stanley's petition recites that he was playing on No. 6 fairway when he was struck and knocked down by More's ball from No. 13 fairway. Suffering with a fractured skull and an injured knee cap, Stanley spent five weeks in a hospital and lost five months from his business, according to the petition.

Stanley charges that More was negligent in failing to send his caddy ahead to see if anyone was in the path of his shot.

St. Charles Toll Bridge Jam Holds Up Holiday Motorists

Many Autos Delayed for Two Hours Awaiting Their Turn to Creep Past Fare Collectors.

Motorists returning to St. Louis last night after the three-day holiday ending with Labor day, and cross-country tourists, were delayed from 30 minutes to two hours in getting across the narrow toll bridge over the Missouri River at St. Charles.

The effect of the congestion was noticeable miles to the west on United States Highway No. 40. It lasted between 5 and 10 p. m. The peak was attained at 8:30 p. m., when cars crept along in line for two hours to reach the crossing.

Meanwhile the streets of St. Charles were clogged with machines. Many drivers took side avenues instead of the main route marked through the town, but this only added to the confusion at the bridge approach. However, in some instances the maneuver did reduce the time of waiting.

Women with babies and little children in their arms walked up and down the sidewalks of St. Charles to relieve the tedium, while their husbands jockeyed the family cars slowly through the traffic. Horns of every description rent the air of the county seat on the river, and the exhaust gas of thousands of automobiles polluted it.

Busses running between Kansas City and St. Louis and on other lines shared in the delay and added to the congestion by their bulk. Their schedules were shattered.

Observers at St. Charles declared that this was the worst congestion at the bridge in its history. Extra policemen were pressed into duty to direct traffic. On the wider streets, machines were lined up three abreast, but they had to jam into single file to pass the toll collectors at the west end of the bridge. An extra squad of men was employed to collect tolls. Westbound cars had to fight their way through.

The bridge is owned by a committee of citizens of St. Louis and St. Charles counties, and the tolls are being applied to wipe out the securities and make the crossing free, which will be accomplished in two years. The bridge, because of its tolls, is a notorious bottleneck for traffic.

TO STAND TRIAL FOR MURDER DONE BY HIS FRIEND

U. S. Citizen Who Vouched for Slayer Takes His Place Under Mexican Law.

By the Associated Press.

DEL RIO, Tex., Sept. 4.—John Crosby Jr. of Del Rio and Villa Acuna, Mexico, is in a Mexican jail charged with a slaying he did not commit because of a Mexican law which permits a man to take the place of his friend at the bar of justice.

Crosby's friend Tom Whitehead, a Del Rio rancher, was arrested last Saturday after a fight in Villa Acuna, in which John C. Kastner of San Antonio, suffered injuries from which he died. Whitehead was released when Crosby pledged his own liberty that his friend would appear for trial. Whitehead did not appear yesterday and Crosby was arrested and will be taken to Piedras Negras, Mexico, just across the Rio Grande from Eagle Pass, Tex., for trial on the charge filed against his friend.

Efforts to obtain permission to return Kastner's body to the United States were unsuccessful.

Think Fall Killed Man.

An open verdict was returned today at an inquest into the death of Lavigga (Bert) Hamilton, a roofer, residing at the Suburban Hotel, 6088 Maple avenue, whose body was found early yesterday in the back yard of the hotel. Police think that Hamilton fell from a second-floor fire escape where he had been seen dozing on a box during the night. Death was caused by internal hemorrhage.

DENNY FILES CONTEST OVER COUNTY PROSECUTORSHIP

Charges Fraud at Recent Primary; Two Other Similar Suits Pending.

Robert B. Denny, an assistant Prosecuting Attorney of St. Louis County, who lost the Republican nomination for Prosecuting Attorney by 85 votes in the recent primary, has filed a contest suit at Clayton against his successful opponent, Harry W. Castlen, County Councelor and candidate of the Taxpayers' League.

Denny makes general charges of fraud and misconduct by election officials and others, similar to the charges in the contest suits filed last week by Marshall B. Peterson and Dr. John H. Sutter, defeated candidates for the Republican nomination for Sheriff and Coroner of St. Louis County, respectively.

The three protesting candidates will ask Circuit Judge Kiskaddon for an immediate hearing.

MAN IN SAFETY ZONE FATALLY HURT BY AUTO

Nash Cherokaian Struck at 14th and Olive—Wife Uninjured.

While standing in a safety zone at Fourteenth and Olive streets at 9:30 o clock last night, waiting to board a street car, Nash Cherokaian, 55 years old, a restaurant proprietor of 731 Bayard avenue, was struck by a westbound automobile and fatally injured. He died an hour later of a fractured skull at city hospital. His wife, standing beside him, was not injured.

The driver of the automobile, Harold Dunn of Decatur, Ill., was arrested. Police declared his car straddled the north car track and the safety zone.

There have been 123 motor vehicle fatalities in St. Louis this year, as compared with 82 for a similar period last year and 114 in 1925, when a year's record of 192 was set.

FREDDIE WOOTEN MOVED TO JAIL AT EDWARDSVILLE

Officers Afraid Birger Gangster, Held for Bank Robbery, Might Escape at Marion.

Freddie Wooten, a member of the late Charlie Birger's gang of Southern Illinois outlaws, was removed from the jail at Marion, Ill., yesterday and taken to Edwardsville where he will be held until Sept. 17, when he will be tried at Greenville for the robbery of the Bond County State Bank at Pocahontas on Nov. 30, 1926.

The recent escape of seven prisoners who funneled out of the Marion jail aroused a fear that Wooten would attempt a similar escape, wherefore it was decided to move him to a sturdier building.

He has been in jail since Jan. 2, last, when he was identified by Elmer Grob, cashier of the Pocahontas bank.

Norman Thomas to Speak Here.

Norman Thomas, the Socialist candidate for President, will speak in St. Louis Sept. 22, at 8 p. m., in Jeffla Hall, Lafayette and Jefferson avenues. NORTH CAROLINA CANDIDATE FOR GOVERNOR TO BACK SMITH

O. Max Gardner in This Respect Opposes Senator Simmons; Declares Stand.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

BOONE, N. C., Sept. 4.—O. Max Gardner, Democratic gubernatorial nominee, who has been a lieutenant of Senator Simmons for years, is not following his chief in opposition to Gov. Smith. In opening his campaign with a speech here yesterday, Gardner announced his support of the national ticket and platform.

"While I did not prefer the nomination of Gov. Smith and did not attend the Houston convention," Gardner said, "I would consider myself unworthy as Democratic candidate for Governor if I should hesitate to announce my intention to loyally support the entire ticket of my party.

"I stand whole-hearted, in national matters, on the Houston platform. I have also great admiration for the progressive legislation Gov. Smith has secured and applied as Governor of New York.

"While I differ with Gov. Smith in some of his personal views, I could never give aid or comfort to the Republican party, which for seven years has made government a thing of purchase, by the oil companies and second by the special interests, and has turned its back on every ideal and inspiration of Woodrow Wilson."

UNION'S SAFE ROBBED OF $1500 IN CASH

Vault in Office of Bridge Workers' Local Forced During Holidays.

Burglars obtained about $1500 in cash from the office safe of the Bridge and Structural Iron Workers' Union, Local No. 396, at 307 North Garrison avenue, in a raid during the Labor day holiday.

When the office was opened this morning it was discovered that the combination of the safe had been battered off. Papers were strewn about the room. The money represented dues collected during the past week.

At the Aro Creamery Co., 409 North Sarah avenue, burglars rolled a 400-pound safe from the office to a cooling room, where they broke the combination and took about $100.

Granville Hamilton, 7744 Folk avenue, Maplewood, reported he was robbed of $329 by two armed men as he stepped from a saloon at 1208 Tamm avenue last night.

Two men entered a drug store at 2134 Gravois avenue at 8 p. m., held up Clem Duerfard, the proprietor, and a customer, and escaped with $250, which they took from the safe and a cash register. The robbers, who were armed, drove away in an old Ford car.

Oliver O'Toole, 4811 Terrace avenue, was stabbed in the right arm by three Negroes who held him up at Twentieth street and Washington avenue at 10 p. m. and robbed him of a check for $7.50. O'Toole was stabbed when he resisted the robbers, who escaped on foot.

GREEK PREMIER STRICKEN WITH DENGUE FEVER

Venizelos Contracts Disease That Has Caused 413 Deaths in Athens in Last Month.

By the Associated Press.

ATHENS, Sept. 4. — Premier Eleutherios Venizelos today was suffering from the dengue fever, which during the last month has killed 413 persons in Athens.

The Premier, who is more than 60 years old, recently completed a strenuous political campaign in which his supporters won a sweeping victory. During his long career in public life, he has endured the rigors of exile and the strain of many crises. No anxiety is felt over his condition. Hope that the attack will not prove serious is founded in part on his uniformly good health in the past.

The Ministry of Hygiene estimates that the total cases of the dengue in Athens exceed 250,000 Of the total mortality of 1268 in Athens for August the fever accounted for a third.

In the Piraeus the ratio was almost as great, dengue causing the death of 176 out of a total of 592 fatalities.

Twelve country towns announced they had a total of 30,000 cases. Salonika reported 9000 ill from the fever there.

The epidemic also has visited Jugo-Slavia and Macedonia. From Uskub, Jugo-Slavia, it was reported that a heavy death toll was claimed among the native population by the spread of the dengue despite the quarantine at the frontier.

JACKIE COOGAN'S HOME SAVED FROM FOREST FIRE

By the Associated Press.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 4.—Two forest fires, one in Northern California and the other in the extreme southern part of the State, continued to burn today, harassing ranchers, forestry officers and tired fire fighters.

The fire, which spread over 2000 acres in the Pine Valley section near San Diego, burst out anew last night. After 22 summer homes were destroyed, weary men, battling desperately, saved the home of Jackie Coogan, youthful motion picture star.

In the northern part of the State near Mount Shasta 450 men were hauling water over rough country in an effort to control a fire which already has laid waste 22,000 acres of brush and timber land.

STATE EXPENSES 11 TIMES GREATER THAN IN 1901-02

Expenditures Have Grown From $9,631,388 to $108,791,149, Says Associated Industries Survey

USED AS ARGUMENT FOR BUDGET SYSTEM

Approximately Two-Thirds of Increase Accounted for Road Building, Soldiers' Bonus and Pensions.

The cost of operating the Missouri State Government is shown by a report of the Associated Industries of Missouri to have increased in the 25 years from the 1901-1902 biennial period to the 1925-1926 period from $9,631,388 to $108,791,149, or more than 11 times.

The report was issued in connection with an analysis of state financial affairs in the Associated Industries' campaign for the creation of a budget system in handling State finances, and was made public today.

Approximately two-thirds of the increased expenditures of the State are accounted for in the building of improved roads and in providing soldiers' bonus and pensions for the blind, and an additional $12,000,000 by increased expenditures for educational purposes.

The report emphasized the fact that there virtually is no difference between the amount collected by the State and the amount expended.

How Income Has Grown.

The total amounts collected by the State in taxes, direct and indirect, and from all sources, were shown to be: In 1901-1902, $10,550,859; in 1913-1914, $20,666,592.09, and in 1925-1926, $109,865,211.40. The expenditures were: In 1901-1902, $9,631,388.59; in 1913-1914, $18,706,411.83, and in 1925-1926, $108,791,149.55.

It was pointed out in the report that these figures do not include all the moneys actually received and expended by the State, an amount estimated roughly at between $4,000,000 and $5,000,000 annually, being collected by various state institutions and departments and expended by them without being reported to the State Treasurer.

The report set out that a comparison of disbursements for the periods examined were 481.57 per cent greater in 1925-1926 than in 1913-1914, and 1029.54 per cent greater than in 1901-1902.

"It is customary to explain increases in governmental costs," it was stated in the report, "with a statement that the State has grown. The natural question then is, 'How much has the State grown?'

State Wealth Lays Behind Taxes.

"Research discloses that the cost of the Missouri State government has increased in excess of either population or wealth. In 1900 the population given by the census was 3,106,665. In 1926 the Census Bureau estimated the population at 3,498,000. In 1900 the Census Bureau placed the wealth of the State at $3,244,000,000, and in 1922, the last year for which an estimate was made, at $9,982,000,000."

A complete change in the old system of obtaining funds for the State government expenses, largely by a direct tax on property, was disclosed by the report. Twenty-five years ago the direct property taxes contributed 61 per cent of the total state revenues. In 1925-1926 they contributed only 9 per cent. Fees of various sorts and special taxes accounted for the remainder.

Where the Money Goes.

The purposes for which the State pays out money and the increases were shown in tabulations, which, summarized, were:

In the first period under consideration, only $2149 was expended by the State for highway building. In the latter period, the amount was $61,445,622.

The increased cost of the courts in the 25-year period was from $1,000,601 to $1,633,864.

For labor agencies the increase was from $59,263 to $151,949.

For expenses of departments of elective officials it was from $165,231 to $1,625,054.

For military activities it was from $40,293 to $319,498.

For hospitals and charities it was from $1,460,397 to $4,635,286.

For agricultural activities it was from $148,077 to $453,869.

For penal institutions it was from $712,174 to $10,032,616.

For conservation agencies it was from $35,670 to $654,884.

For regulation of trade and commerce, which includes the Public Service Commission, it was from $98,472 to $1,233,080.

For printing and stationery it was from $99,775 to $492,335.

More Apportioned to Pensions.

For pensions and special purposes it was from $1,844,980 to $8,762,888.

For health supervision it was from $53,108 to $559,929.

For education it was from $3,[illegible]9,302 to $15,126,786.

For miscellaneous activities it was from $198,243 to $705,643.

The report pointed out that there were many duplications of activities, that in many instances it was an impossibility to obtain information as to exact expenditures, that frequent errors were made in reports, and that millions of dollars were collected and not required by law to be expended through the State Treasury.

To correct these errors, avoid duplications of expenditures and bring about economy in State finances, it was argued that the establishment of a budget system was necessary.

PROMISING TENOR MAKES LIVING AS STEEL WORKER

Maximilian Bradoc "Discovered" While Working on Pittsburg Skyscraper.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Sept. 3.—A structural steel worker who sings in a tenor voice as he drives red-hot rivets into their slots hundreds of feet above the traffic of the city has been "found" here. He is Maximilian Bradoc, 33-year-old German-born American citizen, who served in the United States navy during the World war.

Victor Saudek, Pittsburgh orchestra conductor and radio artist, discovered Bradoc. While passing a skyscraper under construction he was amazed to hear a tenor singing ballads. Waiting on the spot until the noon whistle released the workers for lunch, he sought out the aerial vocalist. Since then Bradoc has sung at civic club meetings and over the radio.

While working in New York, "Max" gave recitals in The Little Church Around the Corner and the First Presbyterian Ch Bradoc's desire, he says, is to in grand opera, and he see concert stage as a stepping to his goal. But in the mea he says, he'll continue to rivets from his perch.

PROPOSES CHANGES IN IMMIGRATION LAWS

Chairman Johnson of House Committee Wants Restrictions on Mexican Labor.

By the Associated Press.

TENINO, Wash., Sept. 4.—Modification of pending immigration bills will be proposed in the coming session of Congress by Representative Albert Johnson, chairman of the House Immigration Committee, he announced in a speech here yesterday.

Johnson said he had prepared the following amendment to the 1924 act as a substitute for pending bills affecting restriction of immigration from Mexico and other Latin-American countries:

"Immigration from all countries of North, Central and South America located south of the thirty-second north latitude, and from islands adjacent thereto, shall not exceed the emigration of the United States citizens to such countries for the preceding fiscal year. The minimum quota from such countries is to be 100."

Proposals also will be offered by the chairman that Canadian immigration shall be regulated on the same plan as now used by Canada with regard to immigration from the United States.

This plan rejects aliens when not needed for work and should cure the situation existing in Detroit and other cities on the northern boundary, Johnson explained.

Provisions would be made for short-time temporary visiting cards for Canadians, Mexicans and others of this hemisphere and passport procedure greatly simplified.

Johnson said that he thinks the United States passport fees to foreign countries should be reduced from the present $10 to $2, the head tax on immigrants at present, $8, should be increased moderately and consular fees somewhat reduced.

HOOVER SPEECH IN NEW YORK IS SET FOR OCT. 17

Nominee, However, Will Invade East With Address on Labor at Newark, N. J., Sept 17.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 4.—Herbert Hoover will speak at Carnegie Hall, New York City, on Wednesday, Oct. 17.

This was announced today at the headquarters of the Republican presidential candidate. The New York address is the only speking date in the East he has made except a speech at Newark, N. J., Monday, Sept. 17. However, he will make an address at Boston at same date yet to be fixed.

The Newark address will be the first campaign utterance of Hoover in the East, which is to be made the chief battleground, since it is the home of the Democratic presidential nominee.

The address in New Jersey, which will deal largely with questions affecting labor, probably will be delivered in the First Regiment Armory and will be broadcast over the country through a nationwide hookup of radio stations.

Hoover already has prepared a rough draft of the address, having worked on it over the week-end, and he plans to complete it not later than early next week after his return here from a fishing trip on Chesapeake Bay, on which he is expected to depart Thursday.

Hoover has made no commitments beyond his Newark speech, which will be given in the center of the great Northern New Jersey industrial district with labor. The nominee touched on the labor question briefly in his acceptance address and is expected to elaborate particularly on the question of the use of injunctions in labor disputes.

Hoover is expected to deal more fully with the tariff question in his Newark speech. He intended to discuss this subject at West Branch, Ia., during his homecoming reception there last month, but finally decided to reserve it for his next public utterance.

The Republican standard-bearer surprised his office force again today by appearing at his headquarters at 8 a. m. He immediately began cleaning up a batch of mail which had accummulated over Sunday and Labor day so as to have his desk clear before beginning conferences with party leaders.

His callers in the forenoon included Carmi Thompson of Ohio, who conducted the pre-convention campaign for the late Senator Frank B. Willis: Thad Brown, Hoover's pre-convention manager in Ohio, and Mrs. Elizabeth L. Clark of Steubenville, National Committeewoman for Ohio.

Senator Borah of Idaho, who is to begin his speaking campaign for the Hoover-Curtis ticket at Detroit, Sept. 19, had an engagement with the Republican standard bearer for luncheon at Hoover's home.

Hoover and Borah discussed the political situation generally. The Senator has been asked by the Republican National Committee to speak in New York City and a number of other points in the East, and he probably will comply with the request if he can fit in the dates with some he already has arranged for tentatively.

He will speak this [illegible] in Ohio and Illinois, but no dates have been fixed. Prohibition, the tariff and other domestic issues wil. furnish the themes for most of his talks.

Thompson, Brown and Mrs. Clark were accompanied to Hoover headquarters by Henry D. Silver, chairman of the Ohio Republican State Committee, who became spokesman for the group. He said one of the main questions in the Buckeye State was that of holding the Negro vote in line.

Some of the Negroes are turning to the Democratic ticket, he said, but he expressed confidence that the Republican organization would be able to hold the majority in line after the campaign got well under way.

WEALTHY PROBST BROTHERS SENT TO ANOTHER JAIL

Judge Acts on Reports That Special Privileges Were Shown Them at Benton.

Federal Judge Wham in East St. Louis today made an order transferring George and Ben Probst, wealthy New Athens brewers, from the Franklin County jail at Benton, where they have been enjoying special privileges, to the Vermillion County jail at Danville.

The brothers were sentenced to 90 days in jail on a plea of guilty to a charge of violating the Volstead act through the operation of their brewery at New Athens and have served about half their sentences. District Attorney Baker recently learned they had been made trusties in the Benton jail and as such were permitted to sit on the lawn and sleep in quarters separated from other prisoners. It was on his motion today that Judge Wham issued the order of transfer.

An investigation of the reported special favors granted to the Probst brothers is being made, District Attorney Baker said. Judge Wham said from the bench that jailers and Sheriffs who have custody of Federal prisoners are officers of the Federal Court as such and are subject to discipline.

The order also directs the transfer of Buren Puckett to the Vermilion County jail. Pucket is serving a year for theft from an inter-

Alex Woodliffe Wins Fifth at Fairmount Refunds $53 for $2

By Dent McSkimming.
Of the Post-Dispatch Sport Staff.

FAIRMOUNT RACE TRACK, Collinsville, Ill., Sept. 4.—Today's race program was not without its surprise. Trumpet, ridden by C. Ponce, beat an odds on favorite, Flying Field, to win the fourth, an event restricted to 2-year-old fillies. The favorite was second, beaten by a short neck.

Hidden Thoughts, the second choice in the betting, was third. The winner paid $33.86 for $2.

Phil T. Chinn's filly, Saddle Skirts, a long shot, ran away with the race for half a mile then bolted at the head of the stretch. Jockey Tiner went straight up in his stirrups trying to check his horse from going to the outside rail, and he succeeded.

Just as he straightened the filly out for home, she bolted a second time, and still Tiner got her around to come fast and finished fourth. Surely Saddle Skirts looked equal to anything in the field if she could have taken the show test course around the track.

Alex Woodliffe, a 6-year-old gelding, whose specialty is three-quarters of a mile and even less, was slipped into a mile and a sixteenth in the fifth race today and the astounded spectators saw him steal the race and pay $53.92 for $2. Duckweed and McComas, the favorites, were out of the money and Up and Down, a second choice, failed to catch Alex by the margin of half a length. Bill Seth was third.

Jack Crain, the favorite, literally ran away with the first race. Out in front in the first 50 yards, Jack Crain not only retained his advantage, but increased it at almost every stride. Betty A was most prominent among the contenders for the first half-mile, but in the stretch Cheerful came fast to finish second. A. Pendergrass rode the winer, which paid $7.38 for $2.

The attendance, estimated at 000, appeared small as compared with the capacity throngs of the first two days of the meeting.

Blue Blood, with J. Cavens up, duplicated Jack Crain's race, getting out in front at the start and holding complete command all the way. The one thrill of the race was Linger's late rush, in which Shropshire sent him past Alturo to get second money. D. Smith seemed to take too much for granted when he found Blue Blood too good, and as a result, Shropshire had a clear avenue to the rail, through which he drove Linger at a furious pace. The winner, ridden by J. Cavens, paid $7.28 for $2.

Dante Takes the Third.

Favorites finished first, second and third in the third race, Dante winning with just neough speed to outlast Talequa. Warfield was third. Play Hour set the pace, but when he turned into the stretch, instead of hugging the rail bolted, just as in his previous race, and finished nowhere. Saar was prominent in the early running but weakened. The winner, ridden by J. Cavens, paid $5.52 for $2.

MISSISSIPPI VALLEY LEAGUE CLOSES WORST SEASON IN HISTORY

By the Associated Press.

WATERLOO, Ia., Sept. 4.—Waterloo won the championship of the Mississippi Valley League, which closed its 126-game season yesterday. The Waterloo club was 12½ games in front of the second place Moline team. Other clubs followed in order: Rock Island, Dubuque, Burlington, Marshalltown, Ottumwa and Cedar Rapids.

League officials said the season was the most unsuccessful in the league's seven years of existence, attendance figures showing a decline in nearly every city.

KNUTE HANSEN SUSPENDED BY BOXING BOARD

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Sept. 4.—The current controversy over who owns the services of Knute Hansen resulted in the big Danish heavyweight boxer being suspended today by the New York State Athletic Commission for failure to appear to answer the various claims which have been made to his services.

At the same time, however, Humbert J. Fugazy was given permission to stage a charity show Oct. 12 in which he hopes to feature a 15-round bout between Roberto Roberti, Italian contender, and Hansen.

Fugazy filed a contract in which Roberti agreed to fight Hansen for nothing for charity's sake.

Failed to Appear.

Hansen's difficulties with the commission at present rest only on his failure to appear and it is expected the suspension will be lifted when he answers the commission's summons.

Hansen, who has been picked by Tex Rickard as the man most likely to win the heavyweight crown, has canceled his contract with Walter Freedman, New York sportsman, who is registered with the commission as his manager, having done so in accordance with a clause in that document giving him the right to abrogate it at any time.

Syndicate Claimed Ownership.

A syndicate of prominent Wall street figures, including Walter Chrysler, automobile magnate, has claimed ownership of Hansen's services, undertaking to manage the boxer through the pugilistic firm of Joe Woodman and George Lawrence, but the latter have never filed a contract with the commission. Furthermore, their arrangements with Hansen are alleged to violate the commission rules.

CUBS RALLY IN NINTH TO DOWN PIRATES

By the Associated Press.

PITTSBURG, Sept. 4.—Chicago won the final game of the series from Pittsburg here today, 9 to 8. The Pirates tied the score at 8-8 in the eighth but the Cubs came back with a run in the ninth to win.

The Cubs are now four games behind the league-leading Cardinals.

Fairmount Closes After This Meet Says Bruce Head

FAIRMOUNT, Ill., Sept. 4.—C. Bruce Head, general manager of the Fairmount Jockey Club, took occasion today to spike a rumor to the effect that a continuation of racing following the close of the present meeting was contemplated by other interests than the Fairmount Jockey Club.

"There is no foundation for such a rumor," Mr. Head said. "The Illinois racing law limits racing at any one track to 51 [illegible] annually, and with the 37 days [illegible] meeting and the 13 days [illegible] autumn meeting now in progress, Fairmount Park will have provided 50 days racing this year.

"There will be no further racing at Fairmount Park this season. Plans for the spring meeting are now under consideration, and it may be stated that a full stake program with the Fairmount Derby as the feature will be provided."

Suspended Fighter and One of The Causes of His Suspension

Because of his managerial entanglements, Hansen today stands suspended by the New York State Commission for having made contracts with too many managers. He is considered a fine heavyweight prospect.

GIANTS HELD TO EVEN BREAK IN DOUBLEHEADER

By the Associated Press.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 4.—Williams hit a home run in the ninth inning with Klein on base and gave the Phillies an 8 to 7 victory over the Giants in the second game of a double-header today, after New York had won the first by a 9 to 4 score.

The Giants got 14 hits off four Philadelphia pitchers and the home team hit the same number off Fitzsimmons and Scott. Welsh got a homer for the Giants in the first.

DEMPSEY HAS NO RING PLANS AT THIS TIME

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 4. — Faced by a battery of interviewers who invaded the great man's privacy because of the understanding that he was to make a statement on his future intentions toward the sport of boxing, Jack Dempsey once again declined to commit himself definitely today on the question open to the future, declaring that he had no concrete plans at this time.

Reminded that he had been quoted as saying that he would issue a statement on the matter today, Dempsey replied that he had decided against going on record at this time, either one way or the other.

"The public is tired of being bunked," he said. "If I ever have anything to say that will change my repeated statements of retirement, I will say it at the proper time and stick to it. If I say that I am definitely through now and then, for some reason, change my mind later, the public will think I have been kidding all along. If I say that I am going to fight again and then fail to do it when the time comes, people will think I am just talking to boost my show. On the whole, I think I am wise in refusing to add anything right now to what I have already said on the subject."

Dempsey's show, in which his wife, Estelle Taylor, is costarred, opened here last night.

NEW ZEALAND BOWLERS WILL ROLL MATCHES AGAINST CHICAGOANS

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Sept. 4.—A team of 38 New Zealand lawn bowlers, en route home after a seven months' tour of competition in England, Scotland and Canada, will get a chance to see what Chicago knows about lawn bowling in two series of matches starting Friday.

The New Zealanders won a majority of their matches in Europe and remain undefeated in their games in Canada, where they now are.

PENNANT IFS

By defeating the Pirates today while the Cardinals were idle, the Cubs gained a half game on the league leaders and are now four games behind them. The Giants broke even with the Phillies in a double-header and remain in third place four and one-half games behind the Cardinals.

If the Cardinals win 12 of the remaining 23 games, a percentage of .522, and finish with 91 victories and 62 defeats, the other contenders will have to play as follows to beat them out of the pennant:

Club.	W.	L.	Pct.
New York	18	8	.692
Chicago	15	4	.789
Pittsburg	19	3	.864
Cincinnati	20	4	.833

If the Cardinals maintain the pace for the remainder of the schedule which they have set so far and win 14 and lose nine of the remainder of their games and finish with 93-60, the others will have to play as follows to win:

Club.	W.	L.	Pct.
New York	21	6	.778
Chicago	16	1	.941
Pittsburg	21	1	.955
Cincinntai	22	2	.917

In the above figures, the Giants, Pirates and Reds can nose out the Cardinals by half a game by the figures indicated, inasmuch as all these clubs have one more contest to play than St. Louis. If the Cubs travel at the pace indicated the best McCarthy's men can do is tie.

DR. FREELAND CAPTURES NURSERY HANDICAP AT BELMONT PARK

SALMON COLT TAKES LEAD AT START AND IS NEVER HEADED

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Sept. 4.—W. J. Salmon's Dr. Freeland, which worked so sensational at Saratoga for the $50,000 Hopeful but finished out of the money in that race, made good in convincing style, when he galloped home lengths in advance of his field in winning the Nursery Handicap here today.

Dr. Freeland ran just like he worked. He jumped away to the lead, ran straight and true down the middle of the track and made a show of his field, winning in a common gallop by five lengths. High Score gathered the place by a nose over Soul of Honor, an added starter.

The race was worth $5725 and the six furlongs over the Widener course was run in 1:14 3-5.

The Glen Riddle Farm's Shipmaster, which was carded as a starter in this race, is reported to have broken down so badly that he probably will never race again. He is by Man o' War-Scribble.

U. S. DOGS COMPETE IN MANITOBA TRIALS

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

GAINSBOROUGH, Sask., Sept. 4.—Forty-three setters and pointers are competing in the annual all-age stake of the Manitoba bird dog trials which began here yesterday. The stake thus far has developed some interesting if not sensational performances on the part of the dogs, and among the 32 dogs that have competed thus far at least four may have a chance to contest in the finals and possibly four or five others may win their right in today's performance.

The pointer, Contractor, owned by M. S. Hughes of Tulsa, Ok., handled by Ed Farrier of Union Springs, did some of the cleanest work on prairie chickens. Three other pointers, all handled by Chesley Harris of Hayneville, Ala., also stand well in the stake. These are Newsboy, Mary Blue and Swiftsure Prairie Jim. One of the spectacular races of the afternoon was that of the setter, S. Burdon's Sports Ghost, owned by Charles Burdon of Nowata, Ok. He found more prairie chickens than any of the other dogs, under the handling of J. M. Avent of Hickery Valley, Tenn.

The judges are W. R. Milton of Winnipeg and C. W. Campbell of Tulsa, Ok.

CARDINALS, WITH FOUR-GAME LEAD, TO REST FOR NEXT TWO DAYS

RED BIRDS MISS OPPORTUNITY TO INCREASE ADVANTAGE BY LOSING TWO TILTS TO REDS

By J. Roy Stockton

Still four games ahead of their nearest rivals, despite their double defeat at the hands of the Reds yesterday, the Cardinals returned home this morning add will rest today and tomorrow before resuming the pennant fight Thursday in the first game of a series of four with the Pirates.

Five games were won and three lost during the Red Birds' road campaign in the West, and they improved their position slightly, adding a full game to their advantage over the New York team. However, the big opportunity was missed yesterday, when with the Cubs losing a double-header the Cardinals could have increased their first place margin to six and a half games over all rivals, by scoring a double victory.

Starting with two victories in as many starts at Chicago, the Cardinals took two out of three at Pittsburg, won the opener at Cincinnati and then lost both Labor day games.

Cards Go to Pieces.

In the opener of the holiday bill the Red Birds rallied gamely, tying the score in the sixth inning and then counting three times in the ninth to go one run ahead. However, Sylvester Johnson was unable to protect that lead and the Reds, tying the score in the ninth, won in the eleventh by scoring a run off Bill Sherdel.

Then the Cards went to pieces. Rhem started the second game, was nicked for a run in the first inning and another in the second, and in the sixth Reinhart and Haid were plastered for six runs. The Cardinal defense was bad, the pitching weak and their base running and attacking strategy very bad in the second game. The Cincinnati rooters had a great holiday and poked much fun at the Cardinals for being out in front. And it is true that they did not look like champions, past, present or prospective.

Taylor Douthit had a chance to score when Luque picked up a single that Frisch had lined off the pitcher's glove and threw wild to first. But Taylor stopped en route to the plate and Holm, who was streaking for third, had to return to second.

Then in the next inning the pitching went bad, nobody covered first on a bunt, intended as a sacrifice, and the Cardinals became so rattled that Jimmy Wilson, dropping a third strike with men on first and second, forgot that the batter was automatically out and threw to first, ignoring the runners going to third and second.

Yes, the Cardinals were pretty well rattled and showed once more their weakness in close games, for the second game was close until those six runs were scored.

Mitchell Will Oppose Pirates in Opening Game of Series Thursday

The club probably will win the pennant. It should win, with a lead of 4½ games and only 23 more to play, but it will win by sheer power of bat and fielding skill but not because of any smartness. Perhaps the team's success is the cause, but the fact had stood out many times this season that the Cardinals have played more stupid baseball than any other real good team. Immediate prospects favor the Cardinals. When they open a series with the Pirates Thursday, the Giants will be playing the Dodgers and Braves and the games that New York must play in Boston include four double-headers in as many days. The eight contests, of course, offer the Giants a splendid opportunity to strengthen their position, but they also may prove a dangerous stumbling block, for the New York pitching staff is not in good condition to stand a string of four double-bills and as few as three defeats in the eight games would be costly to the Giants.

Meantime the Cubs will be engaging the Reds at Chicago, and when the Pirates quit St. Louis and the Reds arrive to meet the leaders, the Pirates will move to Chicago.

Manager McKechnie said this morning that he planned to use Clarence Mitchell against the Pirates in the first game and it is probable that Jess Haines will work the second. Then Sherdel and Alexander will be ready to pitch the third and fourth games.

Only three more at-home games will remain on the Cardinal schedule after the Pirate series, the Reds opening a series of three next Monday. After the contests with Jack Hendricks' team the Cardinals will take to the road to finish the pennant race.

Purdy Breaks Up Game.

Pid Purdy, making his first appearance in a game since he collided with a concrete wall in Boston, beat the Cardinals in the first game of the Labor day double-bill. He batted for Callaghan in the ninth inning with two out and Reds on first and second and singled off Syl Johnson to drive in the tying run. Then in the eleventh he doubled to score Critz from first with the winning tally. Alexander pitched eight innings, Johnson the ninth and Sherdel the tenth and eleventh.

Critz's single, Zitzman's triple and an infield out gave the Reds two in the first inning and Hafey hit a home run in the second. In the sixth Bottomley singled and scored the tying run on Blades' double to center. Zitzmann started the Cincinnati sixth with a single, went to third on Kelly's double, and both scored on Allen's single, putting the Reds ahead, 4 to 2.

That was the score when the Cards went to bat in the ninth. Wilson led off with a double to left and Maranville singled him to third. Orsatti's sacrifice fly scored Wilson. Douthit walked and after Kolp relieved Rixey, Harper, batting for Holm, grounded out, advancing Maranville and Douthit, who scored when Frisch singled to center.

That put the Cards one ahead, but Pinch-hitters Pipp and Lucas singled off Johnson with one out and after Critz fanned, Purdy got his first pinch hit. Then the eleventh and Purdy again delivered.

Reds Off in the Lead.

Critz opened the second game for the Reds with a single, Callaghan walked and Zitzman's single scored Critz. In the second Dressen singled and Sukeforth doubled. Rhem struck out Ford and Luque and got Critz on an infield grounder to end that inning, but in the third with one gone, Zitzman singled, Pipp walked and Allen singled to fill the bases. Reinhart relieved and on Dressen's fly to Harper, Zitzman was doubled at the plate to end that frame.

Double plays stopped the Cards in the first, third and fifth and in the sixth their inability to sacrifice and their bad base running prevented them from tying the score or taking the lead.

Reinhart opened with a single and Douthit walked. Holm bunted, but Pipp grabbed the ball and threw to Dressen, forcing Reinhart at third. Frisch then singled off Luque's glove and Douthit missed his chance to score when Luque made a bad throw to first. Bottomley followed with a sacrifice fly and Douthit scored and Holm, who should have been scoring, went to third, where he was left when Hafey fouled out.

And Then It Happened.

In the sixth the Cards wilted. Allen singled to center and so did Dressen. Sukeforth laid down a bunt but Frisch forgot to cover first until it was too late and the bunt went for a hit, filling the bases. Ford's single to center scored Allen and a pass to Luque after Haid relieved Reinhart, forced a run over the plate. Maranville fumbled Critz's grounder, Callaghan hit a sacrifice fly, Wilson dropped a third strike and threw to first, permitting two base runners to advance, and Pipp's single drove home the fifth and sixth runs of the inning.

Hafey opened the ninth with a tremendous home run over the left field fence and with one out the Cards filled the bases on Wilson's single and passes to Maranville and Orsatti, but Douthit was out on an infield fly and Holm flied to Allen to end the affair.

A crowd of 20,024 persons paid at the gate to see the double-header, marking the league leaders' final appearance of the season at Redland Field. The contests also closed the Reds' season at home, except for the season's final with the Cubs, Sept. 30.

Herman Bell, the right-hander recently recalled from Rochester, is expected at Sportsman's Park before the Cards resume Thursday.

Except for the sore index finger of Fred Frankhouse, which was hit by a line drive Sunday, the Cards are in good condition for the pennant drive. Orsatti's injured knee is improving with rest. It was wise of McKechnie to rest the youngster as he may be needed badly in right field before this pennant affair is settled.

Mitchell and Rhem won games at Chicago, Sherdel and Haines gained the victories at Pittsburg and Frankhouse the one at Cincinnati. Alexander lost a game at Pittsburg and Sherdel and Rhem were charged with the defeats at Redland.

"SUNDAY" GAINS FIRST PLACE IN TERRAPIN DERBY

By the Associated Press.

PONCA CITY, Ok., Sept. 4.—Fortune smiled kindly on J. W. Caffey, 65-year-old gatekeeper for the Marland Refinery here, yesterday, when his terrapin, "Sunday," lurched over the line for the first money, $4500, in the fifth annual terrapin derby at the 101 Ranch.

"Sunday" was so named because his master found him crawling along the road on a recent Sunday morning. The victor bore none of the marks of a champion then. "Sunday" made the 7-foot course in 1 minute and 47 seconds.

The second prize, $750, was won for H. L. He on of Fairfax, Ok., by "Anonymous.

Sam Bowden of Electra, Tex., won third with "Uncle Joe;" J. J. Lynn of Fairfax, fourth, with "Lucky," and Earl Chadwell of Hardy, Ok., fifth, with "C ad."

The derby was a feature of the annual fall round-up at the ranch in which members of the Cherokee Strip Cowpunchers' Association and other cowboys of the Southwest participated. The 50 competing terrapin were selected in 10 elimination races held on the first day of the round-up.

JOHN HENNESSEY "SEEDED" ABOVE ALL AMERICANS

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Sept. 4.—John Hennessey of Indianapolis, has been seeded at the head of the American entries and Henri Cochet of France at the top of the foreign contingent in the lineup for the national singles tennis championships starting at Forest Hills Monday, the United States Lawn Tennis Association announced today.

Hennessey gained the No. 1 ranking over George Lott of Chicago, placed at No. 2 in the America list. Lott and Hennessey teamed last week at Brookline, Mass., to win the national doubles crown, defeating Gerald Patterson and Jack Hawkes, the Australian Davis cup stars, in the final match.

The remainder of the American list in order was: Wilmer Allison and John Van Ryn, another crack doubles combination; John Doeg, Francis T. Hunter, Frank Shields, and Fred Mercur.

Cochet Tops Foreigners.

Rene Lacoste, last year's winner of the American singles crown, through victory over Big Bill Tilden out of the competition this year by choice, Henri Cochet took the first seeding among the foreign contingent from Jean Borotra, another member of the French championship Davis cup team.

Seeded three and four in the play are Edward Higgs, first ranking English player, and W. H. Austin, his young compatriot, who competed in the English-American team matches last week. Jacques Brugnon of France, was seeded No. 5; Jack Craawford of Australia, No. 6; R. O. Cummings and E. F. Moon, both Colonial Englishmen, No. 7 and No. 8, respectively.

COLLEGE FOOTBALL OUTFITS COST $100 FOR EACH PLAYER

COLUMBIA, Mo., Sept. 4.—Not so many years ago all that was necessary to play football was a long mop of protective hair and a liking for hard knocks. Today, University of Missouri coaches state, the cost of outfitting one football player is about $100.

Some of the players use two or more outfits a season. It is not unusual for a star backfield man to use a new pair of football shoes for every game. Football shoes cost $15 a pair.

Coat, $9; belt, 50c; hooded jacket, $4; shoulder pads, $12; head guard, $12; hip pads, $12; pants, $5.85; cloth shirt, $9; heavy jersey, $46; medium jersey, $4.85; knee pads, $3; shoes, $15; stockings, $3; socks, 50c; undercloth-ing, $1.

GAR WOOD CHALLENGES SNODDY TO BOAT RACE

By the Associated Press.

DETROIT, Sept. 4.—Gar Wood, holder of the Harmsworth trophy for unlimited power boat motors, last night issued a conditional challenge for the Duke of York trophy for boats of 91 cubic inch piston displacement.

The trophy was lifted from England last year by Ralph Snoddy, piloting Little Spitfire, owned by J. H. Rand, Buffalo sportsman. Rules governing the race provide that the trophy must be defended in English waters.

One condition embodied in Wood's challenge is that he be permitted to defend the cup on the Detroit River course.

Several Offers Made Williams By U. S. Colleges

By the Associated Press.

TORONTO, Ontario, Sept. 4.

DESPITE invitations from American universities, Percy Williams of Vancouver, Olympic 100 and 200 meter sprint champion, expects to attend the University of British Columbia. Here for an official reception arranged in his honor, Williams remarked that he had received several offers from American colleges, and then added:

"I don't think that I will accept them. I expect to go to the University of British Columbia. Of course, I will not know definitely until I return home."

Billy Barton to Run Again In Grand National

By the Associated Press.

BALTIMORE, Sept. 4.—Billy Barton, the Baltimore horse owned by Howard Bruce and which ran second last year in the English turf classic, the Grand National, at Aintree, again will try next March to be victorious in the race that has been won only once in 88 years by an American-bred horse.

Bruce said yesterday the horse will be shipped Thursday from Baltimore and will sail Saturday on the steamer Minnewaska for England, where training will begin.

T. B. Cullinan, Irish rider, who piloted Billy Barton at the last Grand National, will have the mount again.

GOLFER GETS 69, TWO UNDER PAR, 3 STRAIGHT TIMES TO WIN TITLE

ELGIN, Ill., Sept. 4.—Albert Huske of Elgin turned in his third successive card of 69, or two better than par, and won the county open golf tournament over Leslie Whipple, also of Elgin, over the Phillips Parks course yesterday. Huske's margin over Whipple in today's final was 6 and 5, but he continued through the 18 holes to hang up a consecutive par breaking record

FRENCH CRITICS RECALL TUNNEY'S A. E. F. CONTEST

PARIS, Sept. 4.—Paris newspapers today expressed surprise at the lack of signs of a boxer about Gene Tunney.

"He was meant to be a poet and was a boxer by necessity," said Le Petit Parisien. "He only won in the ring enough dollars to enable him to end his days in peace. He perhaps is not a happy man. His glory weighs heavily on this champion who has not yet found happiness."

Other sporting writers remarked that Tunney's figure was athletic but not exaggeratedly so. They said that those not knowing him would never think the blue-eyed bland gentleman was champion of the world and the vanquisher of Dempsey.

"Ten years ago," L'Auto said, "a certain marine non-commissioned officer knocked out K. O. Marchand at a meeting in the Cirque de Paris. Neither Marchand nor any one in the large audience of Parisian and allied fans present suspected this American soldier would be one day the world's champion."

"He is a perfect gentleman," was the way the sporting writers summed up Tunney.

Talking with reporters on his arrival from London, Tunney said to the correspondent of the Associated Press who was acting as translator:

"Tell these boys that France fought for the rights of man in the revolution of 1791 and I am now asking that the rights of man be extended me. I desire privacy and under the French constitution I am entitled to it. From now on, I would like to go about Paris like any other American visitor, only more so."

The French reporters gasped when this remark was translated, but all understood and sympathized with his desire to be let alone.

French men and women crowded about Tunney on his arrival and received him like a conquering hero. They pummeled him in their enthusiasm while flashlights boomed and reporters shot questions at him.

YOUNG PLAYERS NOW READY FOR CONTEST WITH FRENCH SQUAD

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Sept. 4.—"Bring on the Frenchmen" is the attitude of the younger set in American tennis today. After downing the strong British team, 5 matches to 3, in the international team matches at Forest Hills Saturday and yesterday, without the aid of their two leading stars, the young players are now ready to take on the invaders from the other side of the English Channel in a similar series at Germantown, Pa., beginning Thursday. It doesn't matter to them that they were favored to beat the British while they will be the underdogs against the French.

Austin Defeats Allison.

Running up a lead of three to one on the first day of the two-day series against Great Britain, the Americans just coasted through to victory yesterday, winning two matches and losing two. Only the veteran, Francis T. Hunter, lost a match on Saturday. The four young players, John Van Ryn and Wilmer Allison in the singles and Junior Coen and John Doeg in the doubles, all came through.

Yesterday the American team got off to a bad start when Allison, evidently off his game, lost the first singles match to Henry W. Austin, brilliant young captain of the Cambridge University team, 6—2, 6—4.

In the next match, however, Van Ryn made it sure that his team would get no worse than an even break in the series by sweeping over Edward Higgs, No. 1 in the British ranking, with the loss of only two games. Between the one game he lost in the first set, the fifth, and the one loss in the second, the former Princeton star tore off a string of seven straight games against the English player.

Coen Loses His Match.

Coen, playing his first singles match of the series, lost another encounter to I. G. Collins, one of the younger generation of Britishers for whose benfit their trip is being taken. The Kansas City youth went down only after one of the hardest battles of the series by scores of 6—4, 10—8. Coen reached set point four times in one game of the second set, but was unable to put over the deciding point.

With the score 4 to 3 in their favor, Van Ryn and Allison again took the courts to decide the series in favor of America by smothering England's doubles team of Austin and J. C. Gregory, 6—1, 6—2.

After the completion of the regular series, John Hennessey and George Lott, who were unable to play on the American team because they were busy winning the national doubles title at Brookline, played an exhibition match against Higgs and Collins, winning handily by scores of 6—4, 6—2.

CHARLEY ROBERTSON GOES BACK TO FIRST LOVE, MINNEAPOLIS

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Sept. 4.—Charley Robertson, whose chief contribution to the record books was a no-hit, no-run game, he pitched against Detroit while he was a member of the Chicago White Sox, has been obtained by the Minneapolis American Association club from Dallas of the Texas League. Robertson, who pitched for Minneapolis seven years ago, is to report tomorrow.

COON DOG TRIALS DRAW 7500 PERSONS

KENTON, O., Sept. 4.—"The Ghost," a coon dog owned by Robinson and Warner of Dunkirk, Hardin County, won the second annual Leafy Oak coon hound field trials here yesterday.

There were 203 coon dogs entered in the competition for the $1000 stake posted by the sponsors, and for the cup offered by the United Kennel Club of America, approximately 7500 persons witnessed the eliminations.

"Gold Coin," owned by I. B. Baker, Norwich, O., won second place, while "Sport," owned by Walter Levin, Leetsdale, Pa., the other dog taking part in the finals, failed to find the tree harboring the coon and thereby forfeited third place.

Kaiser to Fight Decatur Flash On Local Card

Jimmy Dale, flashy 126-pound Decatur (Ill.) fighter, has signed to meet "Pee Wee" Kaiser in a 10-round bout on the Missouri Stables boxing program to be presented Sept. 18, it was announced today by Matchmaker Maloney. One other 10-round contest, one eight-rounder and two six rounders will complete the card.

Dale has won seven of his last 10 bouts via the knockout route. Among his victims have been Mike Brady, who will be remembered for his battle against Fidel Labarba here, and "Sailor" Larsen.

An attempt is being made to match Nick Broglio and "Pete" White.

Miss Morrill One of Best Young Tennis Players in Country, Says Miss Wills

This is the fifth of a series of six special articles in which Helen Wills, who won the event for the fifth time, discusses the women's national tennis tournament recently concluded at Forest Hills, L. I. In these articles Miss Wills analyses the six outstanding aspirants in the tournament.

By Helen Wills,

As Told to a Special Representative of the Post-Dispatch.

It took Mrs. Mallory three sets to eliminate Marjorie Morrill in the women's national singles tournament at Forest Hills. In the first set, the former champion won by what looks like an easy score, 6-2. Miss Morrill turned the tables in the second, 6-3. The deciding set was won by Mrs. Mallory, 6-3.

But there is always more to a tennis score than the figures which only show the outcome and do not tell the story of what went on before the result was reached. But there is one thing that the figures in this score do show, even by themselves, and that is that Miss Morrill must be counted among the leading players of the country. But there are other reasons.

When the National Ranking Committee finishes its labors Miss Morrill most likely will be found in sixth place. That is a position to be envied when one considers the number of players there are in the country.

Won Over Miss Nuthall.

One of the things which has contributed to put Miss Morrill where she stands is her defeat of Betty Nuthall, one of the star players among the English women, on the Riviera last season. That was no small victory.

In the encounter with Mrs. Mallory Miss Morrill displayed a game which has undergone marked improvement. Her forehand and backhand drives are excellent, her service is dependable and her volleying is very effective. One of the most striking features of her game is what might be called her "tennis intelligence." She thinks even in the most exciting situations, tries change of pace and varies her shot to meet conditions as they arise.

Freedom on Her Drives.

Another impressive thing about Miss Morrill is that her drives, both forehand and backhand are executed with absolute freedom. In this she is outstanding in the younger group. As a result of the freedom and rhythm of her playing form she gets an unusual amount of speed into her drives.

MISS HELEN WILLS.

She is able to concentrate while playing a match and she has an ideal temperament for tournament competition.

It is quite likely that Marjorie Morrill will spend the coming winter in the south of France with her family, all of whom are tennis enthusiasts. The tournaments in the Riviera offer no end of opportunity for practice and experience for a young player.

It seems likely, also, that Marjorie Morrill will occupy the fifth place on the Wightman Cup team next year if her game continues to show the improvement it forecasts.

(Tomorrow Miss Wills will discuss Mrs. George W. Wightman.)

BETHLEHEM, Pa., Sept. 4.—The Bethlehem soccer team launched the home season here yesterday, defeating Newark in an American Soccer League game, 5 to 1. The Steelmen led, 3 to 0, at the end of the first half and tallied two more goals after the restart. MAYOR ORDERS RESORTS CLOSED IN PHILADELPHIA

Gives Police Department Heads 24 Hours to Clean Up City — Underworld Scurries to Cover.

By the Associated Press.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 4.—Mayor Mackey's order to the police that the city must be "closed and sealed" against all places given over to lawlessness within 24 hours has sent bootleggers, operators of gambling houses, speakeasies and other resorts of questionable repute scurrying to cover. The Mayor once said there were 13,000 speakeasies in the city.

Raiding squads were held at the police stations throughout the night in readiness to swing into action as soon as reports of any underworld activities were received, but there was none. Bootleggers and other law-breakers apparently received orders from their leaders to "get under cover." Apparently they were quick to take the warning, for the authorities said today that all the places were tightly closed.

In accordance with the Mayor's instructions, Director of Public Safety Harry A. Davis and Superintendent of Police William Mills had to offer their services to District Attorney Monaghan and lend any aid possible in the grand jury investigation of bootleggers' and gangsters' activities, particularly with reference to the charges that bootlegging had been protected by bribed police.

Monaghan announced that the names of "one or more of the known high police grafters" probably would be disclosed. He also stated that a safety deposit box, sought in the uncovering of bootlegging operations and alleged police bribery, had been found and would be opened in the presence of the grand jury.

The prosecutor said that large sums of money wired to Chicago by a prominent Philadelphia bootlegger and which he thought were for the hire of gunmen were being investigated.

MORE ACCEPT KELLOGG PACT

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 4.—The governments of Egypt, Ethiopia, Venezuela, Portugal and Sweden informed the United States today of their intention to adhere to the general past for the renunciation of war.

Thirty-two nations, in addition to the 15 signatory Powers, now have officially or unofficially signified their intention to sign the treaty, making a total of 47 of the 64 signatory or invited nations which would make the pact universal.

Flyer Killed, Passenger Injured.

DIGHTON, Kan., Sept. 4.—Gordon Willey, 21 years old, Belleplaine, Kan., pilot, was killed, and Frank Crandell of Dighton, student aviator, was probably fatally injured when their airplane crashed near here today. While Willey was banking for a turn, it was thought the engine failed. The plane fell 500 feet into a wheat field.

A Constructive Force in St. Louis Since 1890

MISSISSIPPI VALLEY TRUST CO.

Confidence

PERHAPS there is no other business relationship that rests so solely upon mutual confidence as that of a bank and its customers.

¶ It is upon the basis of implicit confidence that thousands of St. Louis men and women, firms and corporations have intrusted approximately forty million dollars to the care of the Mississippi Valley Trust Company.

¶ On the other hand, in the lending and investment of the money so placed with it, the Mississippi Valley Trust Company, while it has at its command all of the modern credit facilities, must also rely very largely upon its confidence in its customers.

¶ Credit and confidence are synonymous. Both require time to build —both can be destroyed quickly.

¶ Every business man or woman, firm or corporation should establish a relationship with a bank whose record is deserving of confidence —which is large enough to care for any credit accommodations they might ever require.

¶ Then, as years pass, there is bound to arise a tie of friendship and confidence which often counts for as much or more than mere statements of assets in considering applications for credit.

¶ The Mississippi Valley Trust Company invites the accounts of alert individuals and growing firms and corporations.

PLANS DRAWN BY JEFFERSON

By the Associated Press.

WILLIAMSBURG, Va., Sept. 5.—A photostatic copy of an unpublished sketch drawn by Thomas Jefferson, for a proposed addition to the Sir Christopher Wren building at the College of William and Mary here, has been received from the E. Huntington library at San Gabriel, Cal. It is expected to be used in the restoration work now under way on this old building.

The sketch was made by the famous American statesman for a new building to double the size of the one now standing. A legend on the plan says it was drawn at the request of Lord Dunmore, last of the Colonial governors of Virginia.

SAYS SMITH'S VIEWS WOULD AID CORRUPTION

G. O. P. Secretary Declares Many Citizens Would Help Hoover Enforce Dry Law.

By the Associated Press.

KENNEBUNK, Me., Sept. 4.—Franklin W. Fort, secretary of the Republican National Committee, speaking at a Republican meeting here last night, said it was his conviction that under the leadership of Herbert Hoover as President "many Americans will grant to their Government the support it needs to cope with bootlegging, corruption and other crime."

"The enforcement of prohibition," he said, "is conceded by both parties and all candidates to be a task of tremendous importance and grave difficulty. That difficulty arises from two main causes—one the failure of large sections of the people to observe the law, the other the corruption and poor morale of parts of the enforcement service.

"So great does the difficulty seem to Gov. Smith that he despairs of its accomplishment and would beat a full retreat rather than attempt it. Indeed, six years ago he signed a law under which all effort to enforce it by state officials in New York ceased.

"For a public official to confess the unenforcibility of law, is, of course, the surest way to render its enforcement impossible. Those who are inclined to nonobservance are strengthened in their nonobservance and officials can yield lightly to corruption if their superior feels their efforts certain to be useless anyway. Doubly is this true when he is the outstanding advocate of change in the law."

Secretary Fort said the Republican and Democratic platforms differed little on prohibition in their stated purpose to enforce the law, but had a significant difference in form. He said that while the Republican platform pledged its nominees not only to enforcement but also to its observance, the Democratic platform was silent on observance.

The three main distinctions between the platforms, he said, were on debt reduction, farm relief and tariff.

DANISH COUNCILOR MAKES NOVEL BEQUESTS IN WILL

Several Musicians and Journalists Unknown to Testator, Left Money and Gifts.

COPENHAGEN, Sept. 7.—The will of State Councilor Poul Andrae, son of one of Denmark's greatest statesmen, was as quaint as the battered old hat and frowsy coat in which he visited all sorts of public places before his death recently at the age of 85.

Several musicians and composers, personally unknown to him, but to whose work he had taken a fancy, were left what the old man himself termed "portions of gratitude," in the shape of money or a souvenir such as a gold watch. Several journalists also were remembered in this way.

One of them received a gift of $500 and a gold fountain pen. Others received valuable pieces of furniture and art. One Danish writer has been presented with a life lease on a house.

LEAGUE ELECTS WOMAN TO OFFICE FOR FIRST TIME

Mrs. Hinni Forchammds of Denmark Made Vice-Chairman of Committee on Social Questions.

TWO OTHERS GET LESSER POSITIONS

Large Number of Women at Geneva Are Taking Part in Anti-War Manifestations.

By the Associated Press.

GENEVA, Sept. 4.—For the first time in the history of the League of Nations, a woman today was elected to an office of the Assembly which carried with it chairmanship functions. Mrs. Hinni rchammer, president of the National Council of Danish Women, was unanimously chosen vice chairman of the Assembly committee which handles social and humanitarian questions.

As further evidence of the important role which women are playing in international political life, the League delegates appointed Mrs. Hainari of Finland official reporter to the Assembly on traffic in women and children, and then named Dame Edith Lytellton, British delegate, on the commission which is to consider opium smoking in the Far East.

A large number of women are in Geneva following the activities of the League Assembly. Many of them are Americans, and all are interested especially in the possibility that action may be taken to further the renunciation of war as set forth in the Kellogg-Briand pact.

Anti-War Crusade Manifestation.

They are taking part in daily meetings which are discussing all aspects of the anti-war crusade. Tomorrow a huge manifestation will take place under the auspices of the national councils of the British and United Association for the Prevention of War. This meeting will be under the joint presidency of Admiral Drury Lowe, head of the British organization, and Dr. Charles Clayton Morrison of Chicago, one of the initiators of the outlawry of war movement in the United States.

Yesterday Lord Cushendun of Great Britain spoke before a large audience of women and today Count Apponyi of Hungary addressed a similar gathering under the auspices of the American Committee of the Geneva Institute on International Relations.

Among the Americans who are here are Emily G. Balch, president of the Women's International League; Mrs. Frank Day Tuttle, chairman of the Greater New York branch of the League of Nations Nonpartisan Association; Mr. and Mrs. Albert I. Deane and es G. MacDonald.

Commenting on the varied personnel which is watching this session of the League, a local newspaper says that the League is becoming the rendezvous for "all that count in political, diplomatic and economic life of the world." It adds:

"These vast modern congresses of peace meet the needs for exchanges of ideas and the aspirations and hopes of mankind."

To Press Rhineland Issue.

Chancellor Mueller announced last night that the German Government had not withdrawn from its intention to raise the question of evacuation of the Rhineland during the present Assembly. It is expected that conversations between the Chancellor and Foreign Minister Briand of France will be begun soon in continuation of the Stresemann-Briand talks in Paris on the evacuation subject.

The new China came forward yesterday with a claim for immediate re-election as a member of the Council, believing "unified, modernized "China" is entitled similarly to one of the Asiatic seats of the Council. The Persian delegates also announced their candidacy for membership in the Council.

The request of China seems to be finding favor, but as Spain undoubtedly will take the place of the Netherlands and all other seats are to go to regions or groups of states, some of the unrepresented countries are beginning to fear that the allocation of a semi-permanent seat to China would cut them off from Council honors.

Predicts G. O. P. Victory in Maine.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 4.—A prediction that the Republican party will record "a sweeping victory in Maine" in its election on Sept. was made yesterday by Chairman Work of the Republican National Committee upon his return from a visit to that State. He expressed the view that the 38,000 Republican majority in the 1924 election would be exceeded.

Macmillan Says Eskimos Found Fascination in Joyrides on Snowmobile

Explorer at Sydney, N. S., Found Traces of Elizabethan Sub-Arctic Settlement, But No Proof of Norse Occupation.

By the Associated Press.

SYDNEY, N. S., Sept. 4.—The end of Commander Donald B. MacMillan's eleventh venture into the Arctic and sub-Arctic was drawing near today with one of the principal objects of the exploration still undetermined—proof that Norsemen ever reached Labrador.

The expedition aboard the schooner Bowdoin put in here yesterday from Nain, Labrador, for fuel, then prepared to continue on to Wiscasset, Me., whence it sailed in June, 1927.

But although the explorer brought back no conclusive evidence to confirm Eskimo and other tradition of early Scandinavian settlers, his party did succeed in fixing the boundaries of Arctic plant, fish and bird life at a line much farther north than had been previously supposed.

Included among the 6000 specimens aboard the schooner were many varieties hitherto not thought to exist in those regions.

The adventurers inquired eagerly for news of the Bremen flight and the finding of the Greater Rockford flyers, for whom the Bowdoin was only prevented assisting in search by lack of fuel.

A story of how the wreck of the Hudson Bay company's steamer, Bay Rupert, had proved the salvation of starving Eskimo settlements of Northern Labrador and of a visit to Kodlunarn Island in Frobisher Bay, the first attempted settlement of white men in the sub-Arctic, were among the stories told by the Bowdoin's company.

Norse Immigration Unproved.

In discussing the Norse phase of their researchs, Commander MacMillan said:

"We have so far been unable to discover any conclusive evidence that the early Norsemen ever reached Labrador. My own belief, however, is that they probably did. The legends of the Eskimos say the Norsemen came there presumably from Greenland where there are undisputable Viking ruins. But although the natives point with great positiveness to the places in which their legends say Norsemen lived and in which they were killed—and there are ruins which may be Norse—no conclusive proof could be discovered this summer."

All the comfort and some of the discomforts of home were to be found in igloos after the Bay Rupert went ashore on Clinker Rock, Cape Harrigan, said MacMillan. Aborigines who found bare necessaries difficult enough to obtain boasted phonographs, sewing machines and saxophones while flour was fed to dogs.

But the wreck was providential from their viewpoint.

"It had been an unusual summer," said the commander. "There was not a pan of ice to be seen along the coast, but the icebergs were there in thousands—more than had been seen in any one season within the memories of the oldest inhabitants. Unhampered by pan ice, the bergs drifted rapidly before the heavy gales that blow at frequent intervals. The result was that the seal season was a failure, and so was the fishing season along the coast for the ships were late in coming northward and the fish left early.

"In these circumstances the wreck of the Bay Rupert was a godsend. She was loaded to the gunwales with everything that could be imagined. Sir Wilfred Grenfell of the Labrador Mission asked me if I could mention one single article that could not be found in her lading. I guessed several times without success. Even her stock of rifles was in tin cases and floated ashore undamaged."

The Bowdoin picked up three loads of flour in bags floating at sea. It was found that an inch or two on the outside had caked with salt, but the bulk of each bag was fresh and sweet. The flour was presented to the Moravian Mission at Hopedale and was used to feed destitute natives.

No Change in 350 Years.

Kodlunarn Island was found practically in the condition that it was left in by Sir Martin Frobisher, Elizabethan explorer, 350 years ago. Members of the MacMillan expedition who visited the island were the first whites to set foot there for 68 years, and the second party for three centuries and a half.

During the absence of Commander MacMillan at St. John's, N. F., the Bowdoin, in command of Capt. Crowell, master of the Radio, an auxiliary craft, was sent into Frobisher Bay, where the scientists on board had an opportunity of seeing Kodlunarn and Silliman's fossil mound, discovered in 1860 by the Charles Francis Hall expedition. The Bowdoin party found many traces of the Frobisher colony, which was settled by between 50 and 60 men when he sailed for home with his cargo of "gold," which later proved to be iron pyrites. The most striking of these vestiges were the wooden ways from which the colonists launched their vessels. They were still in good condition.

At Silliman's Mound the party obtained many interesting relics. The party found fossils not only in Baffin Land, but also in Newfoundland and Nova Scotia.

On the maps of the Elizabethan period, Kodlunarn is referred to as a meta incognita, and Frobisher supposed that it was on the east coast of Greenland whereas it was actually 700 miles west of Greenland. Incidentally, the Bowdoin group found that Frobisher Bay was of different shape than the chart showed.

The story of Frobisher's colony is another of the early tragedies of the North. Frobisher left his men well housed and supplied but they were never heard of again. In 1860 the Hall expedition stumbled upon hard coal, tools and other evidences of previous white occupancy, and learned from native tradition that the colonists had flourished until they had quarreled with the natives and killed some of them. The Eskimos retaliated by massacring the whole settlement.

Primitive Race Investigated.

The expedition threw new light on the Nascopie Indians, a hitherto little known tribe of the interior of Northern Labrador. Duncan Strong, anthropologist, declared the Nascopies were one of the most primitive races in the world. Their language resembles a Greek dialect. They are particularly hardy and can live with comfort in ordinary skin tents with the weather at 45 below zero.

Strong spent six weeks with the Nascopies, wandering with them in their tribal treks and living in their hunting lodges far in the interior. The Indians are inclined to guard their legends but Strong made friends with them and through a youthful interpreter succeeded in gathering some information. Families of Nascopies emerged from the woods and took up their abode beside the quarters of the scientific members of the expedition at Nain and additional facts were gleaned from them.

All members of the Bowdoin's company were in good health, although at one time Frank Henderson, mate of the Bowdoin, of Provincetown, Mass., and Clifford Hymoe, radio operator, of Los Angeles, were blown down the bay in a small boat and, taking refuge on an island, were badly numbed before they could be rescued.

Natives Run the Auto.

There was genuine disappointment when the expedition sailed for home, for to the white fishermen, native Indians and Eskimos it meant the end of automobiling. The farthest north motor car is in the farthest north garage at Nain, and there the natives impatiently await the return of its owners so that they may have more exciting joy rides than can be afforded by the dog-drawn sleds.

"The snowmobile which we took with us proved quite practicable and of great advantage," said Commander MacMillan. "Every Indian and Eskimo who happened along clamored for rides, and it was by far the greatest attraction the expedition possessed, outrivalling the motion pictures, the radio and the gramophone. A close second in the fascination of the natives, however, was the electric light. But the natives will never be satisfied until they own their own autos, says the Commander.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 4.—The Department of Commerce announces that in the four weeks ending Aug. 11, 77 large cities in the United States reported 588 deaths from automobile accidents. This number compares with 507 deaths in the four weeks ending Aug. 13, 1927.

GOV. SMITH SAYS G. O. P. CLAIMS DO NOT MEAN A THING

Democratic Nominee Explains Republicans Always Declare They Will Carry Everything.

HE ISN'T WORRIED ABOUT NEW YORK

Governor Expects to Announce Definite Plans for Campaign Tours Within a Few Days.

By the Associated Press.

ALBANY, N. Y., Sept. 4.—Gov. Smith is not worrying over the political situation in New York State. In answer to questions, he told newspaper men today in his first conference with them since last Friday, that Republican claims as to the way this State would line up in November meant little to him.

Asked if he took any stock in reports that many "Smith Republicans" who had supported him in his gubernatorial campaigns would be weaned away from him in his race for the presidency, the Democratic nominee said: "Republican claims don't mean anything to me. This is the season of the year when they claim everything on earth. There is nothing new in that. There is as much to that claim as there has been to all others they have made. None of them was ever right. They are entitled to all the comfort they can get. I'd be the last one in the world to disturb their peace of mind."

"Then you are not worried about New York?" someone put in. "Do I look worried?" he came back, with a smile.

In Albany for Rest of Week.

The Governor said he expected to have a definite program for his speech-making tour in a few days, but that he would be in Albany at least for the remainder of the week. No plans had been made for him for next week, he added.

Visiting his Capitol offices today for the first time since his notification, Gov. Smith tackled some State business and then called for the newspaper men. Passing around the usual cigars, he told his callers to pay no attention to the paper; that they were "good smokes." The wrapper read, "Al Smith—the man of and for the people."

Latest reports to the presidential nominee from his advisers in New York headquarters show that organization on a national scale, with representatives in each state working among various elements of the electorate, is rapidly taking form. Separate departments have been set up to take charge of campaign work among the farmers, first voters, women and naturalized citizens.

The farm department will send representatives only into states where the agricultural problem is of major importance, but every state is expected to be reached by a national agent who will work with first voters, women, naturalized citizens, lawyers and college leaders and Smith clubs.

Upstate Offices Planned.

As for the State campaign organization, in which the Governor is keenly interested, M. William Bray of Utica, the new State chairman, will be in charge at New York until upstate offices at Albany and Syracuse are opened when he will take over control of the latter and leave James A. Farley, secretary of the State Committee, the director in Albany.

Only last week Smith addressed the State Committeemen at Syracuse, urging them to waste no time in getting their campaign organization under way. He said it was highly essential that the Democrats remain in control of the executive branch of the State government and warned against permitting the State compaign to become tied with that to place him in the White House.

The Governor is anxious that his policies as chief executive of the State be kept in Democratic hands and he expects to lend all the assistance at his command to bring that about.

He is arranging his itinerary so that he will be in the East Oct. 1 and 2 for the State convention at Rochester, when a State ticket will be selected and a platform adopted.

It is generally accepted that he will be consulted as to both, particularly as to the gubernatorial nomination.

Among more than half a dozen names mentioned to make the race are Senator Wagner, friend of the Governor and Tammany leader; George R. Lunn of Schenectady, former Lieutenant-Governor and at present a State Public Service Commissioner; Peter G. Ten Eyck of Albany, former member of Congress, and Franklin D. Roosevelt, the Democratic candidate for Vice President eight years ago.

U. S. ARMY TO USE WHISTLES TO PROTECT CARRIER PIGEONS

Borrows Idea From China for the Purpose of Scaring Away Hawks.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 4.—To protect United States Army carrier pigeons from hawks the War Department proposes to attach whistles to its flock of 1251 birds.

Whistles for pigeons are old in China. Very light whistles are attached to the tails of the birds soon after they leave the nest. Fine copper wire is used. Two kinds of pigeon whistles are used; one consists of bamboo tubes placed side by side; the other consists of tubes attached to a small gourd. The former may have two, three or five tubes. The later gourd type sometimes carries as high as 13 tubes, each with a different note, thus converting a modest, shy pigeon into a flying calliope.

In every case the pigeon pipes are heavily lacquered to prevent weathering.

FASCISTS ARE AGAINST WHOLE WORLD, PARTY LEADER SAYS

Secretary-General Addresses 600 Militia Officers During Maneuvers at Rome.

(Copyright, 1928, by the Press and Pulitzer Publishing Cos. (the New York World and Post-Dispatch.)

ROME, Sept. 4.—The Fascist militia is the true expression of the Fascit revolution, Augusto Turati, secretary-general of the party, told 600 Fascist militia officers during maneuvers yesterday. They must, he said, keep the Fascist revolutionary spirit alive and educate the young. He added:

"The whole world is against us. We are against the whole world because we are antidemocrats, antiliberals, antisocialists. Fascism is a thorn in Europe's eye, a hard blow in the back, but Fascism is an army which obeys, fights, dies and does not argue."

PROHIBITION QUESTIONNAIRE TO BE SENT TO CANDIDATES

WASHINGTON, Sept. 4.—Questionnaires on their stand on prohibition are to be sent to approximately 1000 Republican and Democratic candidates for Congress by the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment.

Announcing the plan, Henry H. Curran, the association's president, said that upon the replies would depend "largely the direction and scope of the support which the association is planning to give to candidates upholding its principles in districts where they must meet a dry opponent."

The candidates will be asked whether they favor repeal or amendment of the eighteenth amendment, and modification or repeal of the Volstead act and, if the control of liquor traffic should be returned to the states, what form of control should be set up within the states.

The questionnaire points out that liquor traffic control by the states is indorsed "with the spirit of the 'home rule'" platform plank of the Republican party and the "states' rights" plank of the Democratic platform.

CHALLENGES SMITH'S ALLUSION TO WILSON

Reform Leader Says Democratic Nominee Gave False Impression of Dry Law Veto.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 4.—In an open letter to Gov. Alfred E. Smith, William Sheafe Chase, superintendent of the International Reform Federation, today charged the Democratic presidential nominee with having depicted inaccurately in his acceptance speech the prohibition record of the late President Woodrw Wilson.

The New York Governor was declared by Dr. Chase to have misrepresented the "motive of Mr. Wilson in vetoing the Volstead Act." Gov. Smith, he added, owes it to himself and the people of the country "to set forth accurately" the views and public record of Mr. Wilson.

Wilson, in vetoing the Volstead Act, based his disapproval, Dr. Chase declared, on legal methods laid down by the measure rather than the principle of prohibition.

Text of Veto of Prohibition Enforcement Law.

Following is the text of President Wilson's veto of the prohibition law:

"To the House of Representatives: I am returning without my signature H. R. 8810, 'An act to prohibit intoxicating beverages and to regulate the manufacture, production, use and sale of high-proof spirits for other than beverage purposes and to insure an ample supply of alcohol and promote its use in scientific research and in the development of fuel, dye and other lawful operations.'

"The subject matter treated in this measure deals with two distinct phases of the prohibition legislation. One part of the act provides for the enforcement which was made necessary by the adoption of the constitutional amendment. I object to and cannot approve that part of this legislation with reference to wartime prohibition.

"It has to do with the enforcement of an act which was passed by reason of the emergencies of the war and whose objects have been satisfied in the demobilization of the army and navy, and whose repeal I have already sought at the hands of Congress.

"Where the purpose of particular legislation arising out of war emergency have been satisfied, sound public policy makes clear the reason and necessity for repeal.

"It will not be difficult for Congress in considering this important matter to separate these two questions and effectively to legislate regarding them; making the proper distinction between temporary causes which arose out of wartime emergencies and those like the constitutional amendment of prohibition, which is part of the fundamental law of the country.

"In all matters having to do with the personal habits and customs of large numbers of our people, we must be certain that the established processes of legal change are followed. In no other way can the salutary object sought to be accomplished by great reforms of this character be made satisfactory and permanent."

Head of Spanish Diocese Says Organization Omits Religion From Moral Work.

MADRID, Sept. 4.—The Bishop of Valencia has issued a church bulletin which has been read in all the churches of his diocese in which it is said that "good Catholics" should not join Rotary Clubs. 11 KILLED, 34 HURT IN NEW RIOTING IN BRITISH INDIA

Four Mohammedans Found Murdered in Houses at Khairpur; Situation Quieter.

CALCUTTA, British India, Sept. 4.—It has been established that 11 were killed and 34 injured in the fighting Sunday at Khairpur. Three were injured, one of them fatally, when police fired on the gathering of Hindus and Moslems, while four Mohammedans, one of them an 18-year-old girl, were found murdered when some houses nearby were raided.

Aside from some throwing of stones there were no disturbances yesterday. Three bodies, however, were found in the disturbed area, the persons apparently having been murdered overnight. Today the situation was quieter although elaborate precautions still were taken to prevent recurrence.

SIMLA, British India, Sept. 4.—It has been announced by the Indian Legislative Assembly that 149 persons have been killed and 1345 injured in rioting in India since July 1, 1926.

MEXICO'S FINANCIAL STATUS IMPROVED DURING LAST YEAR

Secretary of Treasury Reporting to Congress, Urges Private Control of Railways.

By the Associated Press.

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 4.—Secretary of the Treasury Montes de Oca, in his annual report submitted to Congress today, declared "Mexico is firmly resolved to comply loyally with her foreign debt obligations and to pay her creditors."

He reported that the financial condition of the Government had improved considerably during the last year, reflecting a more favorable economic status of the republic generally. He claimed progress in the study or adjustment of the problems of financial rehabilitation of the country, balancing the budget, foreign indebtedness, the internal debt and reorganization of the national railway.

"The Ministry of Finance believes that rehabilitation of the national railways is incapable of realization if the railways are not administered as a private enterprise," he said. "The Government considers it indispensable that the constituent deed and statutes of the railways be revised in such form that the standard of railway progress in other countries may be obtained.

CHINESE NATIONALISTS GAINING

SHANGHAI, Sept. 4.—Japanese reports from Nationalist sources today said that Northern troops in Tsingtao, Shantung Province, and their local commander had gone over to the Nationalists.

The whole province has now transferred its allegiance to the Nationalist government. This is expected to upset plans of Gen. Chang Tsung-chang, former Governor of Shantung, to transfer his army from Chinwangtao to Shantung in an effort to re-establish his authority there.

HOOVER INDORSED BY PRESIDENT OF GENERAL MOTORS

Alfred Sloan Jr. Takes Opposite Stand From Raskob and Pierre S. du Pont of Same Corporation.

ADMITS DEFECTS IN DRY ENFORCEMENT

But Thinks G. O. P. Nominee Best Fitted to Handle Problem — Silent as to Private Plans.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Sept. 4.—Alfred P. Sloan Jr., president of General Motors Corporation, is out for Herbert Hoover for President.

A statement indorsing Hoover's candidacy was issued by Sloan yesterday, six weeks after John J. Raskob resigned as chairman of the finance committee of the corporation when he became chairman of the Democratic National Committee, and nearly four weeks after a leave of absence as chairman of the board of directors was granted to Pierre S. du Pont, who later publicly announced his support of Gov. Smith.

In his statement Sloan said he had always been for Hoover, and made a public indorsement now because many of his friends had been questioning him as to his position. He did not say whether he would take an active part in the campaign or what his intentions were in regard to his official connection with the company.

In correspondence with Raskob, when the latter was considering his resignation, Sloan said that General Motors had no place in politics and that any political statement its officers might make would come from them merely as individuals. In his statement yesterday he said he was speaking only as an individual.

Why He Indorses Hoover.

His indorsement for Hoover was made, he said, because he believed the Republican nominee was the man best fitted to carry on the Coolidge policies under whose administration this country had had its greatest prosperity.

Long an advocate of prohibition, Sloan added:

"Having been intimately connected with industrial problems for many years I am thoroughly convinced that prohibition has increased our national efficiency, has added to the purchasing power of the people and given us an advantage in our competition for foreign trade.

"At the same time I recognize that conditions respecting the observance of the law are far from satisfactory and time may prove the necessity for some adjustments. If so, I am for having those adjustments brought about by an executive in sympathy with the economic benefits that the closest possible adherence to the prohibition idea is sure to bring about.

"It seems to me, therefore, that we should ask ourselves whether this or any other problem is likely to be any more constructively handled under a change in administration. I see nothing to justify any change. Therefore I am for Mr. Hoover and always have been."

Sloan and du Pont "Wets."

Sloan, du Pont and Raskob are listed in Who's Who as Republicans. Du Pont and Raskob are avowed wets.

When Raskob's resignation as finance chairman and a member of the executive committee was accepted the presumption was that he would return after the November elections. He retained his place as a director and vice president of the company. Du Pont's resignation as chairman of the board was not accepted, but he was given a leave of absence. He has contributed $50,000 to the Democratic campaign fund.

What Price Truth?

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

LIFE is replete with incongruities—not the least of them being that perpetrated by the smug Messrs. Kellogg, Briand, Stresemann, et al., when, in unison, they sang the song of the Dove to the basso profundo accompaniment of millions of marching feet, booming of big guns in battle maneuvers, and the clatter of machinery engaged in fabricating the sinews of war.

Peace on earth—good will to men! What mockery! And poor old Diogenes still wanders with glimmering lantern searching for his honest man!

I need not remind you what your paper has recently headlined relative to the increasing military activites of the world. Yesterday it was to be noted that Mr. Kellogg will refrain from offering the newest peace treaty to Congress until it has disposed of current bills for greater naval armament. What charming inconsistency—what naivete—what price truth?

"Woe unto you, scribes and Pharisees, hypocrites! For ye make clean the outside of the cup and of the platter, but within they are full of extortion and excesses!" DAVID D. SIEGELMAN.

Dr. Harrison.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

NOTHING in the entire history of the Jewish people of St. Louis (covering a period of nearly 100 years) has so severely shocked and so completely stunned, bewildered and confused the whole community as the calamity of Dr. Harrison's most fearful, tragic death.

His sermons gladdened innumerable hearts, enlightened many minds and influenced for good a legion of lives of people of several generations and all faiths. Many will be the multitude that will grieve and lament his sad, untimely fate. A. ROSENTHAL.

A Carnivorous View of Shaw.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

TUNNEY is waiting in England for Shaw to return from his Italian vacation so that he can shake hands with him. Can't you imagine the broadside of wisecrackery that will be emitted at this meeting of the aristocratic king of the cap and bells and the author of "My Greatest Ring Battle?"

You ought to know that Shaw is a great vegetable eater; that he is author of "Cashel Byron's Profession," "Arms and the Man," "How He Lied to Her Husband," and other breezy last wills and testaments; that he is the one of whom H. G. Wells has said, "He has written a forest of words and a wilderness of nothing;" that he has said Italy under Mussolini is well on the way to socialism and that fascism has justified itself because the Italian lire has increased in value; that he is that writer to whom a capable critic in the Theater Magazine refers as "Ibsen's third carbon copy." And last but not least he is the fearless prognosticator who predicted way back in 1921 that Carpentier would defeat Dempsey by any one of 10 methods.

But, anyhow, Shaw is going to shake hands with Tunney. He didn't bother to greet Dempsey in 1923 in Europe. But the greatest heavyweight of all time shouldn't feel sad. Shaw never did appreciate talent. He passed up Walter Hampden and John Barrymore to chat with Charley Chaplin. He refused Arnold Daly his skits but willed them on to our perfumed Adolph Menjou.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

JEFF MACKAY'S "examination of the newspaper files for 1904" cannot have been very thorough. James A. Reed was in that year an active candidate for the Democratic nomination for Governor, and was one of three opponents defeated by Joe Folk for the nomination. Many Missourians not yet 50 years old remember this fact distinctly. H.

Mr. Scharff's Article.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

IN your issue of Aug. 31, under the heading "A Warning to Public Utilities," you quote from an article in the September number of the Atlantic Monthly by Maurice R. Scharff, entitled "The Public and Their Utilities."

I am interested to note that in quoting the last three paragraphs of Mr. Scharff's article wherein he presents possible alternatives to the alleged abuses practiced by some public utility holding companies, you perhaps inadvertently omitted the following statement:

> Of course, there is always lurking in the background the possibility of government ownership and operation —than which no greater public calamity can be imagined.

Traffic Signals on Wydown.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

SOME time ago traffic signals were installed on Wydown boulevard and they certainly did slow down the speed maniacs, but these signals have been removed. Since the removal of these signals I have witnessed two bad accidents.

Why can't there be something done in regard to this matter, before a death occurs for the lack of signals.

CALLES' GREAT EXAMPLE.

If another Creasy were to give us the history of the "Fifteen Decisive State Papers of the World," the message of President Calles to the Mexican Congress would, we believe, be included in the volume. In this communication, addressed not only to the Congress and the country, but also to "the family of civilized nations," Calles undertakes to unhorse forever the man on horseback, to overthrow the Mexican tradition of "the indispensable man" and to establish a "government by institutions." It is his supreme effort to liberate Mexico from the thralldom of dictatorship and install democracy.

To that end Calles declares with unmistakable finality that "Never, for any reason, under any circumstances, shall I return to the presidency."

Such renunciation of the highest office in the land, coming from the head of any Government, would be a notable example of practical idealism. Power has a fatal lure. Even in our own supposedly impregnable democracy we have witnessed two menacing assaults upon our tradition against "the indispensable man," for that is the true purport of our unwritten injunction against the third term. We were solemnly warned during the White House incumbency of Roosevelt, by no less an authority than Dr. Hadley, then president of Yale University, that "if things continue as at present we shall have an emperor in Washington within 25 years." And it was the informed judgment of an earlier day that, if Grant had been nominated for a third term, "Cincinnati would be our Pharsalia."

There is historic glamour in this decision of Calles from the fact that it is a departure from tradition. Further, his continuance in office would not only be in conformity with precedent, but it would have the indorsement of the vague, inarticulate public opinion of Mexico. The man himself may have sincerely debated the wisest course to pursue from the standpoint of the people's welfare. He touches lightly on that phase of it in his reference to the "propitious atmosphere to return to the principle of perpetuation in office of one man" and to the "pressure that was exerted" upon him to continue in power. He has thrust aside the crown, not with the reluctance of Caesar, but with impressive sincerity.

His advice to the Congress and the vision he beholds of an intrenched and functioning democracy in Mexico reflects the statesman and the seer. He urges the Congress to be deliberate in its proceedings and, uninfluenced by any special interest, to consider only the people and the hard-won fruits of the revolution in selecting a provisional President. Declaring his faith in the "loyalty and honor of the army," he prayed that it "be not beguiled by anybody into any action against the Government," for, as he solemnly averred, "in this poignant hour it would be criminal for any man to attempt to come into presidential power by any other than constitutional means." In the Mexico of the future, that Calles dreams of, equality of opportunity shall include the presidency for which all citizens of worth and standing shall be eligible to contest on the highest terms of dignity and decorum.

That is Calles' farewell message, in which, in our opinion, he rises to rare heights of statesmanship and patriotism. If his counsel is followed and his prophecy fulfilled the tragedy of Obregon's assassination will have been transformed into a landmark of Mexico's long fight for freedom.

COME, DOCTOR!

Dr. Varney, the prohibition candidate, has a great opportunity to show Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler and others who dislike prohibition, but will not bolt, what true courage is.

The prohibitionists have a campaign fund of $100,000. They are going to spend it to defeat Gov. Smith. This, of course, is equivalent to spending it on Mr. Hoover.

Dr. Varney is thus deprived of any chance to win. The Republicans first stole his thunder, and now they take his money. He has only his honor left, and anybody knows what to do with that.

UNCLE SAM LOSES A GOOD OFFICER.

A thorough study of the career of Stephen A. Connell, secret service agent, who died yesterday after 35 years of police duty for the Federal Government, would prove of immeasurable value to policemen of this nation if they could learn and adopt its lesson.

A man of unusual physical power, he was endowed also with a remarkable brain. He never shot a man or shot at one. He used his fists when occasion demanded, but only in self-defense, and he never lost a battle. There was little of the man-hunter about "Steve" Connell. He never swerved from the path of duty, but he did not work for his record alone. His heart went out as quickly to an unfortunate first offender who fell into his clutches as to relative or friend in trouble. He spoke to the District Attorney or the Judge about it.

His ability as a detective resulted in his being called into nearly all of the big cases of the Treasury Department. He obtained some really remarkable confessions from criminals, yet he never abused or threatened them. People in trouble naturally confided in him. His record was spotless and he died with perhaps more friends, including many criminals he had sent to the penitentiary, than any policeman who ever lived.

THE HASSELL-CRAMER FLIGHT.

After they were practically given up as dead, Bert Hassell and Parker Cramer reappeared in Greenland, as blithe a brace of trans-Atlantic aviators as ever read an altimeter or tested a strut. We can safely leave it to Rockford, Ill., to record the joyousness of this event. Dispatches from that city, whence the Hassell-Cramer flight originated, leave no doubt that the well-known welkin is severely battered and bruised, what with cowbells, brass bands and other means employed by Rockford to make known its exultation.

As it turns out, Hassell and Cramer missed their objective by a very narrow margin. They were forced by shortage of fuel to land Aug. 19, on Point Sukkertoppen, only 50 miles southwest of Mount Evans, where a landing field had been prepared. They managed to come down on that bleak coast without damaging the plane. They then trekked 40 miles over Greenland's icy mountains to the point where they were picked up by Prof. Hobbs' party. These details show the flight was entirely successful and apparently skillfully conducted.

Except for the desolate character of the country and the slowness of communication, there was nothing about the Hassell and Cramer flight to cause disappointment to aviation. Mechanically there was nothing to be desired. The plane took them over the sea without any trouble, and did all that could be asked of it. The flight shows that what aviation needs, now that it has perfected the plane itself, is the development of subsidiary aids to safe air travel, such as means of communication, marked airways and the like. Even so remote a region as the Arctic Circle must some day be thoroughly prepared for air traffic.

A TERRIBLE RECORD.

As published in yesterday's Post-Dispatch, the record of the Missouri Insurance Department in the case of the International Life Insurance Co. is enough to damn the Baker administration had that inept regime not already been damned by the prison scandal and other messes.

The department did more than shield the company long after it was known to the Insurance Commissioners of many other states that the International was insolvent. It defied and even threatened the people who sought to protect the public. Thus, Commissioner Detrick of California, who was the chief factor in forcing exposure of the company over the head of the Missouri department, was charged with making unreasonable accusations against the company, which the Missouri department said he was trying to dynamite, and when the New York Commissioner let the inquisitors have an expert to examine the International the Missouri department tried to drive this man out of the State.

Gov. Baker should long ago have taken his Insurance Department in hand. The Commissioner, Ben C. Hyde, had been stricken by paralysis, soon after the department began its apologies for the International. It was his chief deputy, Robert C. Daly, who thereafter controlled the department. Daly was too weak to force the company to correct its bad practices. He came out as a State patriot who defended the International because it was a Missouri company. Had he been a proper and competent State official he would have held the company to account before the commissioners of other states forced the issue.

The whole sordid story amounts to this: that Hyde, who had taken a $2500 fee from the International, initiated the do-nothing policy which Daly continued. Neither was fit to hold a public office, nor has the Governor who let this incompetent Insurance Department carry on in the State's name ever been fit to hold one. As one Insurance Commissioner said: "The mere fact that the International Life Insurance Co. was changing hands frequently at a rapidly increasing price was sufficient to have caused an alert department to have investigated before Toombs had a chance to warm his seat as president." He might have added that it was also enough to have caused an alert Governor to have wondered about his Insurance Department.

THEY'RE OFF.

When it was announced some months ago that the fight for State Senator in the Thirty-third District was to be between Hogan and Brogan, we were all keyed up to witness a miniature Donnybrook Fair. In this corner, ladies and gentlemen, Jelly Roll Hogan, leader of the old Hogan gang; and in this, Joseph H. Brogan, undefeated choice of the voters for lo! these many years. The expected fireworks didn't develop. Spring's zephyrs melted before the blast-furnace of August. The primary came and went. Brogan, as usual, was approved by the voters.

We have had to wait until now, with the world series just ahead and crab grass in complete control of the fairways, for the Hogan-Brogan contest to develop the truly Celtic touch. It comes in a terse, vibrating epistle written by Hogan to Brogan, thus:

> Do you wish to do away with the knowledge, which all honest Democrats have, that your gang stole the election from me? To remove this belief, will you concur with me in having the ballots counted in the Third Ward, Precincts 10, 13 and 14 in which you got—Brogan 308 votes, Hogan none?

Brogan, to be sure, will "concur," and the battle is on.

FARM RELIEF B. C. AND A. D.

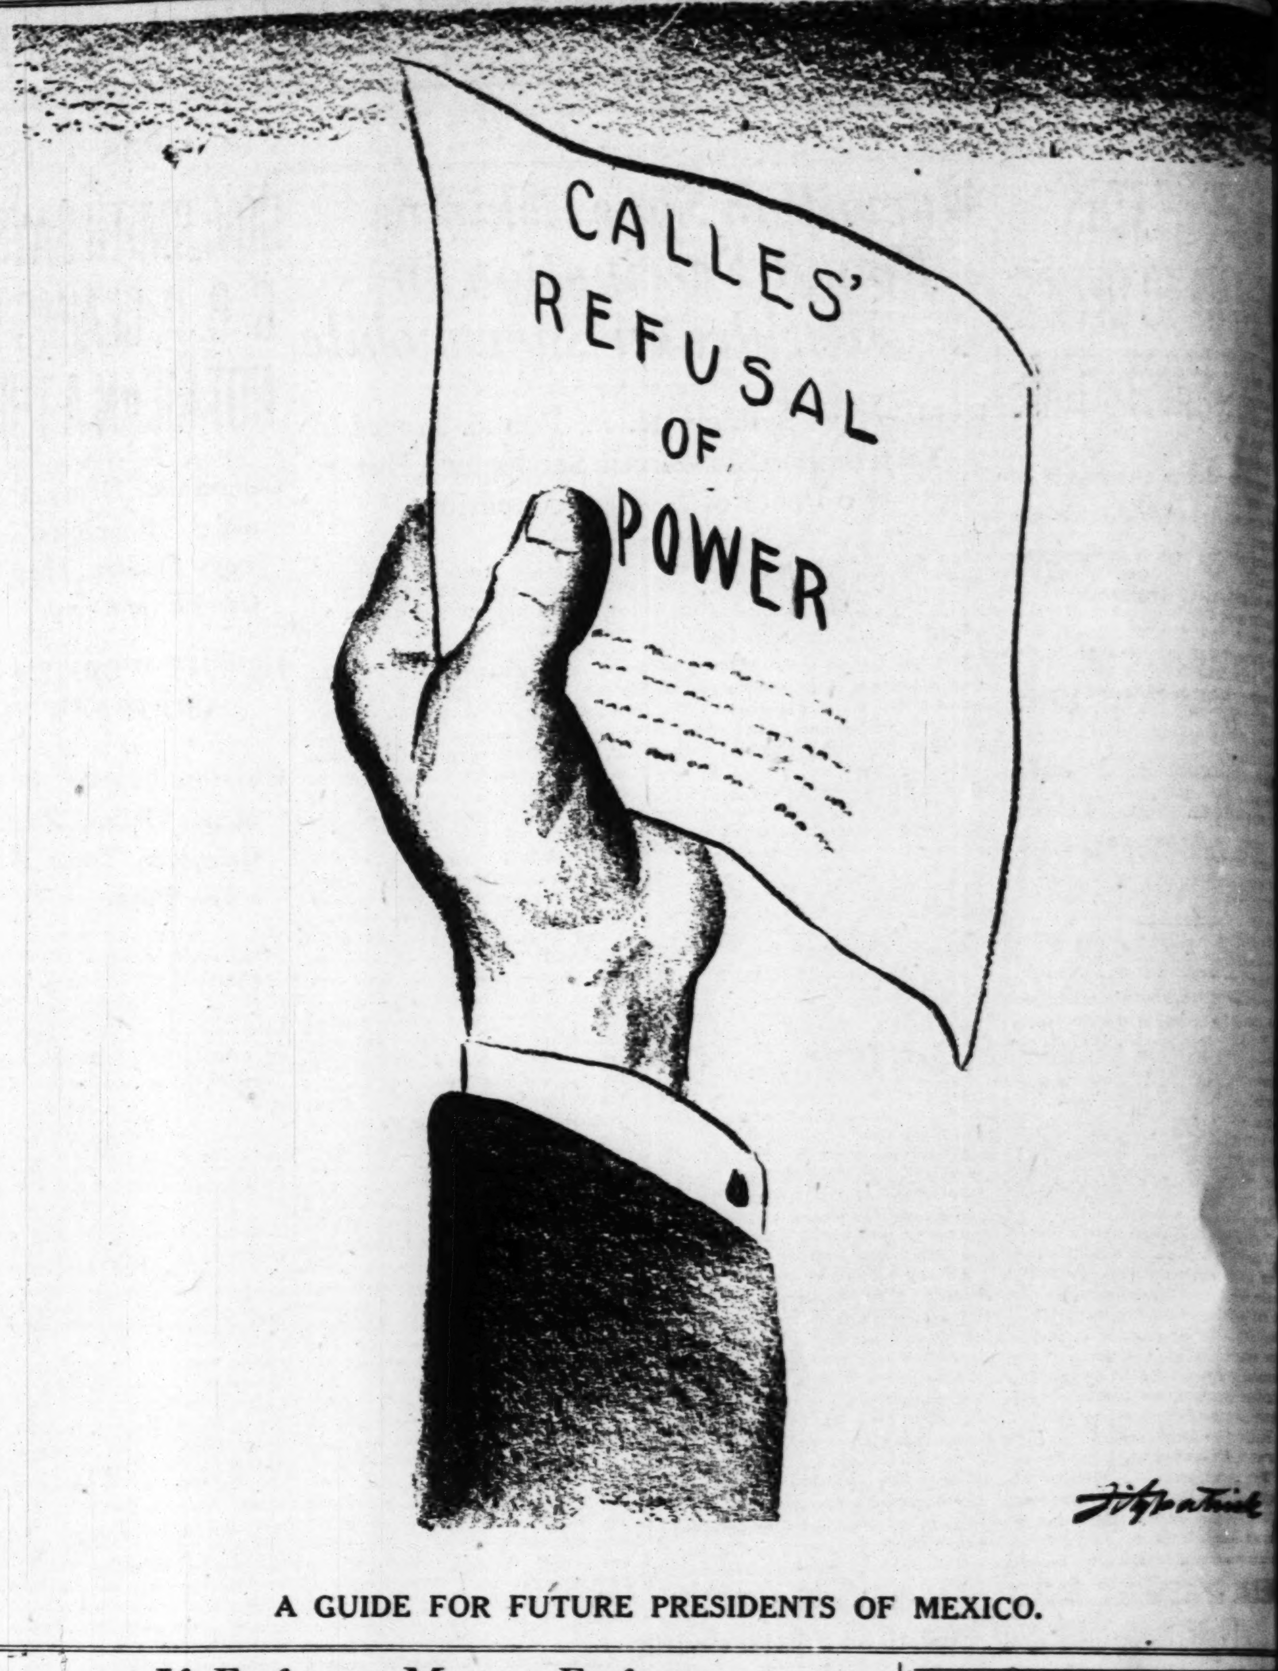
Farm relief as a political issue is older than the Christian era. If McNary and Haugen disturb the dreams of privilege today, and Mr. Hoover exercises caution in the matter lest his party fail to sustain him, so did the brothers Gracchi, in the second century before Christ, alarm the aristocrats and at last make the Mellons, Coolidges and Goffs step around carefully in the angry presence of the Brookharts, Nyes, Howells and Fraziers.

About the only difference between that old movement for farm relief, which in the end brought Rome to civil war, and the movement which plagues our presidential campaign today, is that whereas the banks and the money lenders, including our own Federal Land Bank, have most of the farms in the United States in their clutches today, those of Rome were owned outright, sans mortgage or land bank, by the state. Its public land holdings were a considerable source of revenue.

Tiberius Gracchus, who seems to have approximated all our farm leaders rolled into one, instituted agricultural reforms of such soundness and durability that they are said to influence farming in Italy today. As the Mexicans and the Russians have done, he put the people on the land. He taught them agriculture, furnished them with farm implements and showed them how to diversify and market their crops. The benefits of his reform to the Roman masses were as substantial as they were unquestioned. Nevertheless, they could not have persisted except for the stature of Tiberius himself. The noblest Roman of them all in that early time, he no more permitted some shrinking little Mr. Coolidge to veto one of his bills than he suffered somebody like Charlie Curtis to bury one of them in the Senate. The way was open, and Tiberius stood at the gate. They finally killed him, but too late to deprive the Roman people of the heritage he had restored to them.

The career of Gaius, brother of Tiberius, was scarcely less remarkable. Like young Bob La Follette, who grew up in the shadow of his father, Gaius grew up in the shadow of Tiberius. The farm bill that Gaius took up to the Senate was something by comparison with which the farm bills appearing in our Congress are the gentle preachments of pikers. Gaius gave to every farmer not the land merely, but the farm plant. He showered upon him, with the compliments of the farm bloc in the Roman Senate, his fancy chickens, his blooded swine, and his registered cattle. He initiated good roads. Of course, they killed Gaius, too. The Romans always killed everybody who did anything for them. They let Caesar, as someone has recently pointed out, give to modern civilization France; but they would not let him do for Rome what he did for France.

At any rate, the problem is the same. It is the farm leaders who vary.



A GUIDE FOR FUTURE PRESIDENTS OF MEXICO.

If Enforce Means Enforce

With Hoover pledged to "efficient enforcement" of the dry laws and Smith promising to enfore them "to the limit," the public has a right to expect something new in the enforcement line; what shall it be? The Evening World calls upon the Anti-Saloon League for its suggestions.

From the New York Evening World.

PROHIBITION law in these United States has never yet been properly enforced.

On this one point parties and candidates in the present campaign are agreed. The Republican platform and the Democratic platform both pledge enforcement of the eighteenth amendment and the Volstead act. In both cases the pledge is so emphatic and conspicuous as to imply clear recognition that enforcement has been hitherto inadequate. Likewise with the candidates: Mr. Hoover, in his acceptance speech, took his stand for the "efficient enforcement" of laws enacted under the eighteenth amendment and declared that "crime and disobedience of law cannot be permitted to break down the Constitution and laws of the United States." Gov. Smith, in his acceptance speech, promised to "execute to the very limit he pledge of our platform to make an honest endeavor to enforce the eighteenth amendment.'" He also said: "The corruption in enforcement activities which caused a former Republican Prohibition Administrator to state that three-fourths of the dry agents were political ward heelers named by politicians without regard to Civil Service laws and that prohibition is the 'new political pork barrel, I will ruthlessly stamp out. Such conditions cannot and will not exist under any administration presided over by me."

What, then, may we expect?

* * *

Mr. Hoover, if elected President, is committed to "efficient enforcement." It will be his duty as executive to ascertain from expert and trustworthy sources what kind and degree of enforcement may be deemed efficient and to use his utmost power and vigilance to secure such enforcement. As to the cost, he can hardly be niggardly. Urging relief for the farmers, he has said: "A nation which is spending ninety billions a year can well aford an expenditure of a few hundred millions for a workable program that will give to one-third of its population their fair share of the nation's prosperity." By the same token Mr. Hoover could scarcely begrudge even a billion or two for the efficient enforcement of a law which now takes precedence over all other laws in these United States; a law which, he holds, must be obeyed unless we are to permit a breakdown of the Constitution and laws of the country. Surely the cost of efficient enforcement of such a law must be a secondary consideration as compared with enforcement itself.

Gov. Smith, if elected President, is committed—regardless of efforts he may make toward changing prohibition law—to enforce that law "to the limit" so long as it remains the law. Nor does "the limit" mean that he could consistently balk at any cost found necessary by expert authorities and backed by the representatives of the people in the Congress.

Therefore, whichever candidate is elected, the country has a right to expect at once something new, something determined, something on a large scale in the way of plans for enforcement. The time to begin to formulate those plans is now. And since the Anti-Saloon League is the preeminent proponent of prohibition enforcement, The Evening World suggests that the Anti-Saloon League be called upon to confer at once with the leaders of both parties and propose an enforcement plan that would seem adequate and efficient. With such a plan presented for discussion, the enforcement pledges of the platforms and candidates will become more concrete and interesting. It will be far better than waiting for the results of Mr. W. C. Durant's $25,000 prize contest in which the awards are not to be made until Christmas. The public is entitled to hear something specific about enforcement plans during the campaign.

The chief trouble with enforcement to date has been, as the Evening World has again and again insisted, that it causes too little inconvenience to persons high up in the social and political scale whose influence would count heavily for or against the law itself. That influence will never be definitely exerted while enforcement cautiously refrains from troubling the elect. The real start for any efficient program to enforce prohibition law to the limit should be a nation-wide inventory of all private liquor stocks—with the burden upon the individual possessor to prove how he came by the liquor he owns. High-handed procedure? Yes, but no more high-handed than the law itself or the attitude of those who regard it as the paramount law of the nation to be enforced at all costs. One thing is certain: We shall never find out what the country, the whole country, all classes in the country, really think about present prohibition law until we try enforcement that goes to the bottom and to the top.

Surely that is the kind of enforcement the Anti-Saloon League wants. It cannot be that the Anti-Saloon League seeks enforcement only up to a point beyond which it might seriously discommode influential persons, including Congressmen and others, who now kowtow to the league under a pleasant understanding that, whatever happens, enforcement will never climb so high as to interfere with their personal habits. Such half-way scheming on the part of the league is, of course, unthinkable.

With both parties and candidates solemnly promising a new era of enforcement, with private citizens offering large money prizes for the best enforcement plan, we ought to hear more in this campaign about exact methods of enforcement and perhaps a little about enforcement costs.

What is likely to prove the most efficient, "to the limit" effort to enforce present prohibition law?

What are the probabilities of success?

What is the estimated price?

* * *

The people are entitled to authortative answers to these questions. If the Anti-Saloon League agrees that enforce means enforce, it should be ready to help at once with the new plans and estimates. Since we're all one as to the need and desirability of genuine enforcement while present prohibition law remains law, let's get down to ways and means. The Evening World has offered a modest suggestion which it nevertheless considers basic and essential for a real, serious start: An official inventory of all private liquor stocks now held in the United States. What does the Anti-Saloon League say to that?

Undoubtedly Automatic

THE GHOST EPIGRAMS. By Oscar Wilde. (Covici, Friede, N. Y.)

IF REPORTS alleged to have been received recently from the other side of Jordan may be credited, it would appear that Oscar Wilde is quite incorrigible. It is now more than a quarter of a century since he passed over from Paris with no tearful delegation from an admiring world to bid him godspeed; and in all that time he seems to have learned nothing whatever. This seems odd, for, at the worst, he must have had the opportunity of associating with many of the intellectual and spiritual elite of the ages. Think what he might have learned from Confucius and Socrates, to mention only two of many! He seems, rather, to have kept in close touch with the progressive time-spirit of our always spiritually addled planet, and what he has written about men, women, life love, morality, and all that sort of thing, seems easily abreast with the most obstreperously advanced utterances of our civilized minority.

Oscar, after an absence of 27 years, seems scarcely on the side of the angels and still gives evidence of believing that it is better to be quoted than to be right. One suspects that his latest book, here offered in a handsome limited edition printed on "Normandy vellum paper," must have been written originally on asbestos.

We are assured by the publishers—and the accuracy of blurbs is proverbial—that "the epigrams contained in this book have never appeared in any book of epigrams or aphorisms selected from the works of Oscar Wilde"; but that the whole contents of the volume was "set down as it came from the Master" to one "Lazar" by means of automatic writing.

There are many canny people who pooh-pooh the idea of automatic writing, but, after all, does it not appear that a goodly portion of our contemporary literature must have been written quite automatically and without the slightest interference of the intelligence, if any?

Here are some of the recently imported epigrams:

"Man's honesty is a cowardly attempt to establish a safe precedent

"All works of art are the autobiographies of liars.

"Woman never ceases loving a man until she finds another to replace him.

"Morals are set up by men who hate or by women who envy.

"Love is an orgy of emotions.

"He who can bear poverty without shame deserves it.

"An honorable man is generally mean and often contemptible.

"Love does not ennoble one, for it generally rounds up one's actions to selfish purposes.

"Once man demanded virtue in woman; now all he expects is that she be discreet.

"Assume a vice though you have it not, with the hope that it may grow upon you."

Automatic writing? Undoubtedly! One need only listen long enough to the louder brayings of our "intellectuals" in order to do that sort of thing in his sleep.

MIRROR OF YOUTH: An anthology of youth and the out-of-doors. Edited by Marian King. (Longmans, Green & Co.)

As Rachel Field puts it in her verses written for this collection,

"Stars are here and leaves and rain,

Miss King, the editor, who is a writer herself, has searched through the old poets from Shakspeare to Shelley, and the moderns from Kipling and Whitman to Millay and Sandburg for the poems that have "put a spirit of youth in everything." The book has the following divisions: The Great Out-of-Doors; Youth, Love and Adventure; Dreams and Visions; Fancy, Jest and Jollity; Golden Numbers; When Banners Unfurl, and Negro Songs and Spirituals.—I. Betrothal of Giovanna to Boris Has Been Rumored at Semiannual Intervals Since 1926.

SOFIA, Bulgaria, Sept. 4.—The Engagement of King Boris of Bulgaria to Princess Giovanna of Italy was reported today.

Betrothal of the third daughter of the King of Italy to King Boris of Bulgaria has been rumored at semiannual intervals since July, 1926. The Princess, who now is 21 years old, has been the subject also of similar reports in connection with other royal houses and several high Italian families. One of these rumors had her engaged to Prince Leopold of Belgium when she was only 17 years old. Most of the reports, however, have linked her name with that of King Boris and last November it was said that their engagement would be announced by June, 1928.

FRANCE

FIRST-TRIP memories of France are yours for life. The valley of the Loire with its rippled-roofed high old houses, its time-mellowed chateaux under a sky in a hundred shades of snow and gray and peaceful blue ...the sound of church bells in Brittany, in the crisp, silent air ... the tang of Bouillabaisse in Marseilles, the sweetness of tiny wild strawberries with cream from an earthen pot in Paris...the fragrance of a million roses down in Grasse. The most vivid memory of all was the feel of the gangplank under your feet as you went abroad. You're in France itself the instant you cross over "the longest gangplank in the world" to the "Ile de France", "Paris" or "France". Fastest service to Plymouth, England ...then Le Havre ... three hours, Paris.

$950,000 MORE NEEDED TO FINISH COURT HOUSE

Part of Interior to Be Left Unfinished, Kinsey Announces, Till Money Is Provided.

The $4,000,000 authorized in the bond issue for the new Civil Courthouse is insufficient to complete the building according to specifications, and when the Courthouse is opened for business early next year it will have temporary wooden steps and part of the interior will be unfinished, President Kinsey of the Board of Public Service announced today.

Kinsey estimates an additional $950,000 will be needed to provide the desired stone steps, to embellish the interior and to remove debris from the grounds surrounding the structure. Another bond issue to authorize additional funds is favored by city officials, but it is understood they will not push the proposal until after the municipal elections next spring.

He Will Succeed Alfred Fairbank, Who Directed Solicitation of Funds Last Year.

George M. Berry, president of the Berry Motor Car Co., has been named chairman of the seventh annual Community Fund campaign, which will raise money to underwrite charitable agencies in the city for 1929. Col. Albert T. Perkins, general chairman of the fund, made the announcement last night.

Berry succeeds Alfred Fairbank, who conducted the sixth annual campaign. Berry came to St. Louis six years ago from Kenosha, Wis.

LEGION TO MEET IN SEDALIA

Springfield Wins Drum and Bugle Corps Contest.

By the Associated Press.

CAPE GIRARDEAU, Mo., Sept. 4.—Sedalia was chosen as the 1929 convention city of the Missouri Department of the American Legion at the final day ofthe tenth annual meeting here today. Hannibal and Chillicothe also sought the meeting, but the Executive Committee unanimously favored Sedalia and the convention adopted the report.

Election of officers was scheduled for late today. Legion politicians were busy with booms for candidates for the State commandership to succeed Dan M. Nee of Springfield. Nee let it be known he would accept the post for another term should it be offered, but was making no active campaign. Supporters of Redick O'Bryan, Moberly attorney, were busiest, while others in the race included L. L. West of Kansas City, Jules R. Fields of St. Louis, Bartlett Boden and B. M. Basteel of St. Joseph. The drum and bugle corps ofthe Goad Ballinger Post of Springfield won first place in the contest.

Ohio River Tonnage Increases.

CINCINNATI, Sept. 4. — Romance of the picturesque has given way to the romance of utility in Ohio River commerce. Where majestic steamers once rode the stream, squatty barges filled with ore, coal, oil and sand now operate. Last year the Ohio's tonnage was more than that of the Panama Canal—22,000,000.

Day by Day in the West
By O. O. McIntyre

SOMEWHERE IN CALIFORNIA. Sept. 4.

LEAVING San Diego at sunup we headed in the general direction of Los Angeles, and this evening we are somewhere or other that has a hotel called the Blue Front. The name fits the melancholy mood. Nor do I care for the group of shifty-eyed Mexicans loafing in the office in a big way.

A wrong road—and here we are. A city chap lost in the wide open spaces who would give — just a minute—two suit cases, $18.42 in cash, a wrist watch, a dusty pair of spats, three sticks of gum slightly used and a broken-down typewriter, to be whistling across Times Square tonight.

Opposite the Blue Front is a shack with a small yard enclosed with a tangle of barbed wire. In the yard is something that bleats like a goat, but looks like a coyote. It will be a lovely night, listening to whatever it is and trying to sleep.

The proprietress is a work-worn drudge with a wisp of hair knotted on top of her head. Her husband is a one-eyed halfbreed. Drawing the finger across the throat describes him perfectly. Ricketts, the chauffeur, added to the general gloom with: "That guy ain't up to no love-makin'."

Our room is reached up a back stair leading from the kitchen, and has what started out to be a window but didn't get far—a sort of glorified knothole. Inquiring about rates. Old One-Eye said: "A dollar," and added ominously, "down."

There is nothing to do but stay, as we are out of gas and the nearest garage is four miles away. (Incidentally old One-Eye is lounging in the doorway watching me peck the typewriter). The dinner consisted of beans, bread, canned peaches, anemic coffee served in tin cups, expensive at 25 cents a plate.

A half block away is, I suppose, the main street. It consists of a little country store with a porch whose posts are emblazoned with tobacco, baking powder and chewing gum signs. A poultry store with foothills of boxes and crates. A notary public's office and a little cottage. That is all.

ALONG the highway today were many old missions—some now crumbled away to mere adobe walls. Others include a chapel, several houses, a granary and a graveyard. Feeble old caretakers potter about to show visitors peeps of a vanishing past.

CALIFORNIA has many up-to-the-minute towns, however, that you never hear about. They are tucked away in bowls, surrounded by rugged hills, and have a newness and cosmopolitan manner. The tourist is no novelty, for they stream through daily from all parts of the country.

ONE of the beautiful little spots near San Diego is Grossmont, an exclusive colony crowning an isolated peak. Here home owners include Mme. Schumann-Heink, Mrs. Carrie Jacobs Bond and Owen Wister.

ALSO there is Ramona—the name so recently glorified in song along Broadway. Here the smallness of the world was accentuated. Stopping at a rose-clad cottage to ask a direction, I noticed a name on a mail box. It was the same as that of a lady who conducted a boarding house on West Fifty-seventh street in New York where I once lived and paid my board regularly. She opened the door, glanced at me coldly and shut it again. How sharper is ingratitude than something or other about a serpent's tooth!

OLD One-Eye just came clumping up the stairs again. "Play kyards?" he inquired, opening the door without knocking. I told him I didn't. "We are starting a little game," he ventured. I suspect a variant of the old army game, with a little dirty work at the crossroads on the side.

"FAR off somewhere is the eerie, forlorn tune from a mouth organ. All that is needed to complete a first-class blood-curdling is the mournful "Whoo-oo-o" of an owl. Or a pistol shot in the dark. And if you ask me, there is something breathing funny on the roof.

ONLY THREE PAIRS LEFT IN ENDURANCE DANCE

Other Twelve Teams in Contest for $1000 in Prizes Drop Out.

An endurance dance that started just before midnight Saturday with 15 pairs entered narrowed down today to three teams who were moving slowly over the floor of the Cinderella Hall, Cherokee street and Iowa avenue, with the certainty of sharing in $1000 in prizes.

The third day of the contest started with five pairs remaining, most of them hardened in previous endurance contests. At 10:30 a. m., within reach of the 60-hour mark, Anthony Lewis, 519 Veronica avenue, East St. Louis, and his partner, Miss Lillian Miller, 5650 Lotus avenue, dropped out, overcome with fatigue and loss of sleep. Lewis had danced 176 hours until the police stopped a contest in Chicago last week.

Shortly before noon, Julius Townley, 15 South Main street, East St. Louis, and Miss Emily Jellison, 3434A Cherokee street, also gave up the contest, leaving the floor to two pairs of experienced endurance dancers and a lone pair dancing in their first test of stamina.

Seasoned Dancers.

The seasoned dancers remaining in the contest are Ralph Smith of Danville, Ill., and his partner, Miss Hazel Collins of Paris, Ill., and Kenneth Watson and Miss Madge Sloan, both of Danville.

They have been in several contests. Smith, who carried No. 13 on his back for good luck, claims the endurance dance championship of Illinois as result of his record of 410 hours in a recent contest at Kankakee. He insists he is ready to go on for the two weeks or more the management counts on the contest to continue. His partner, Miss Collins, danced 157 hours to win second prize at Paris, Ill.

Still hopeful of outlasting the veterans, Harland Milstein and Miss Betty Lee Palmer, neighbors, residing at 4471 Olive street, danced on, pale from the strain. A phonograph furnished music for them. At night, when the regular dance is held in the hall, the steps of the dancers quicken to tunes played by an orchestra.

Marked by Numbers.

A lone spectator or two watched the dancers this morning. Over the holidays 20 or more spectators who paid 25 cents each for admission stood about the roped inclosure through the daylight hours picking out favorities among the informally attired dancers, marked with numbers as football players.

Harry and Paul Silverberg of Danville, promoters of the contest, estimated in absence of a checkup on attendance figures that several thousand persons, including the regular evening dance attendants, had seen the dancers. The contest, they said, was "just getting interesting." Basing their prediction on a two-weeks run, they anticipated financial success for the venture.

Jackson Johnson Post of the American Legion, sponsoring the contest, will get about 25 per cent of the gross receipts and the winner of the first prize, $500, will get 5 per cent of the receipts and the winner of the second prize, $300, 2½ per cent of the receipts.

Writes Letters While Dancing.

Endurance dancing has become automatic for Smith. During the long morning and afternoon hours he writes letters as he moves about the floor with his blonde and stockingless partner, Miss Collins.

"This one's easy compared with some I've been in," he said, without looking up from the letter he was writing on the back of a box of stationery. "We get 15 minutes' rest out of every hour and an hour in the morning. To stay in it you have to keep moving or else your muscles will get stiff."

When the bell sounds for the 15-minute rest period, half the pairs scurry for the rest rooms. The others remain on the floor. In the rest rooms, they slump into cots. A nurse examines them and attends to their wants. Another attendant rubs down sore muscles with alcohol. Some try to snatch a few minutes' sleep.

Smith is credited with the ability to go to sleep as soon as he falls on the cot. When the bell rings again, the dancers straggle back to the floor, some red-eyed from lack of sleep, to take up the dance to the mocking tune of "Get Out and Get Under the Moon."

MOTHER, TWO CHILDREN, HURT IN EXPLOSION OF STOVE

Boy, 4, Loses Sight of Left Eye; Another Is Burned on Body; Parent Suffers Hip Fracture.

Raymond Schuchmann, 4 years old, suffered a fractured skull and the loss of his left eye; his mother, Mrs. Florence Schuchmann, received fractures of the hip and left hand; and Harold Schuchmann, 6 years old, was burned on the body and legs when a combination coal and gas stove exploded at their home, 1525 North Forty-fourth street, East St. Louis, yesterday morning.

Mrs. Schuchmann had started a fire in the coal compartment of the stove and was dressing the children when there was an explosion which tore the stove to pieces and hurled iron in every direction. Mrs. Schuchmann was thrown through an open doorway to a porch and Raymond was hurled beneath a table. Schuchmann, who is district manager for the Kroger Grocery Co., was in another room with their third child, 16 months old. He ran to the kitchen and extinguished the flames which followed the explosion.

According to Schuchmann, his wife had reported smelling gas in the kitchen during the last month. state shipment. District Attorney Baker also had information that special privileges were granted to Puckett at the Benton jail.

SHULTZ IN STUTZ SPECIAL SETS PIKE'S PEAK CLIMB MARK

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo., Sept. 4.—Struggling through ice and snow which covered the upper portion of the 12-mile course, Glen Shultz, driving a Stutz Special, won the Pike's Peak hill climb yesterday and lowered the record for the old course by seven seconds.

It was his third victory in the climb in as many years and in 1923 he had been awarded the Penrose trophy for stock cars. His time yesterday was 17 minutes 41 2-5 seconds and lowered the previous record of 17 minutes 48 2-5 seconds established in 1925 by E. H. Myers.

The Penrose stock car trophy went to Wade Morton, who drove an Auburn up the steep ascent in 21:45 2-5.

Joe Unser, who drove an Anstead Special up the course in 18:59, was second in the open race, while Proctor Nichols, in a Cliff House Special, made the climb in 19:01 2-5 for third.

THE FUTURE OF DODGE BROTHERS

WALTER P. CHRYSLER

To me Dodge Brothers has always ranked as one of the great industrial properties of the world.

From the first, its products have been good, its policies wise, its ideals high, its principles sound.

Every department of its operations has attracted and continues to attract men of the first calibre; and the success of any enterprise depends upon the character of its man power.

Its world-wide dealer organization ranks with the finest in the industry.

Its workmen and executives have received the invaluable benefit of Dodge training, and to them Dodge Brothers standards of integrity and quality are sacred.

We know these men, for we have the same kind at Chrysler, and I know that we can work enthusiastically together and build for Dodge Brothers a future even greater than its great and distinguished past.

We are giving and shall continue to give the closest personal supervision to every phase of Dodge Brothers operations.

Dodge Brothers will continue to produce its own product, and Dodge Brothers Dealers will continue to market it.

Dodge Brothers Motor Cars will continue to bear Dodge Brothers good name, and to maintain the high and progressive standards from which motor car buyers the world over have previously benefited.

Production is increasing steadily and has now reached the impressive total of more than one thousand units per day.

Dodge Brothers as well as Chrysler, the dealers as well as the public, will reap benefits that can scarcely be estimated from this great cooperative union of plant facilities, financial power and engineering resources.

123,000 CHILDREN BEGIN SCHOOL YEAR

88,000 Enrolled in Public Buildings, 33,000 in Parochial and Diocesan.

The school year of 1928-29 began today for more than 123,000 St. Louis children, of whom about 88,000 are enroled in the public grade and high schools, and 35,000 in parochial and diocesan institutions.

Central High School opened in Yeatman High School Building, Garrison avenue and Palm street. Yeatman Intermediate School was divided among several grade school buildings of the vicinity, but will be administered separately from them.

Portable schools are being used in several districts, to relieve pressure upon the neighborhood school buildings. The new Lindenwood and Kennard schools, and the new Central High School, will be under construction during the coming year. Portables have been provided in place of the ones used for Negro pupils in West Bell place, near Sarah street, which were demolished in the tornado of Sept. 29, last.

Night schools are to open next week, the Monday and Wednesday night classes holding their first session next Monday, and the Tuesday and Thursday classes meeting for the first time next Tuesday.

The Catholic diocesan high schools reported a large attendance, paricularly William Cullen McBride High School for boys, where the demand was beyond the capacity of the building. The enrollment there is expected to be more than 800, and that at Rosati-Kain High School for girls about 750, while St. Louis University High School has about 600.

The enrollment in the Catholic parochial schools throughout the city was estimated at 30,000, on the basis of a normal increase over last year's figure.

Nineteen graded schools of the Lutheran Church also opened today. Enrollment was estimated at a total of 3000.

Hampton is in Southeastern New Hampshire, about 430 miles from Altoona. Honeywell landed when it appeared he might be swept out to sea.

HEARING ON FRANKLIN AV. CAR LOOP WRIT MONDAY

Three Firms File Intervening Petition on Behalf of Public Service Co.

A hearing on the temporary restraining order which prevents the Public Service Co. from building a loop on Third street, Fourth street and Franklin avenue in the "commission row" district, will be held Monday in Circuit Judge Falkenhainer's court.

The Commission Row Protective Association, comprising 14 property owners, has attacked the validity of the enabling ordinance, holding that the laying of tracks would violate the purpose for which the property was condemned in 1924.

Three business houses of the district, the Meletio Seafood Co., the St. Louis Hotel Supply Co. and the Mound City Tent and Awning Co., today filed intervening petitions asking that the Public Service Co. be permitted to proceed immediately with its plans, in order that widened Franklin avenue might be paved to Fourth street.

PROHIBITION QUESTIONNAIRE TO BE SENT TO CANDIDATES

WASHINGTON, Sept. 4.—Questionnaires on their stand on prohibition are to be sent to approximately 1000 Republican and Democratic candidates for Congress by the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment.

Announcing the plan, Henry H. Curran, the association's president, said that upon the replies would depend "largely the direction and scope of the support which the association is planning to give to candidates upholding its principles in districts where they must meet a dry opponent."

The candidates will be asked whether they favor repeal or amendment of the eighteenth amendment, and modification or repeal of the Volstead act and, if the control of liquor traffic should be returned to the states, what form of control should be set up within the states.

The questionnaire points out that liquor traffic control by the states is indorsed "with the spirit of the 'home rule'" platform plank of the Republican party and the "states' rights" plank of the Democratic platform.

SHOWS HOW SCIENCE AIDS DAIRY INDUSTRY

Head of Society of Chemical Industry Reviews Advance Made by Profession.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Sept. 4.—Showing farmers how to raise cows partly on air is one of the ways that chemical industry is enriching the world and making it possible to support ever-increasing population.

This was one of the examples cited here yesterday by Francis H. Carr in his presidential address at the meeting of the Society of Chemical Industry. Carr is one of the 150 British chemists who attended the meeting.

The cows are not fed with air directly, but it comes to them through the process the chemist calls "nitrogen fixation." In past years the world's chief supply of nitrogen, which all plants need as fertilizer, came from Chile in the form of saltpeter. Now there are several chemical methods of turning the nitrogen that forms more than two-thirds of the air we breathe into fertilizer.

New Source of Nitrogen.

"When in 1901 Sir William Crookes predicted that without some new source of fixed nitrogen the steadily increasing population of the world could not be indefinitely maintained, he did not seriously doubt the ability of science to provide the means," said Carr.

"One and a half million tons of nitrate are being extracted from the atmosphere annually. Thus the nitrogen used up from the soil, in producing the increasing amount of food required by a population rapidly growing in number and raising its standard of material existence, is now amply replenished by the product of the chemical industry.

"It has recently been stated by H. J. Page that experiments in 80 centers clearly prove that the stock-carrying capacity of pastures and their output of milk and meat may be increased to an unprecedentedly high level. Instead of requiring two or even three acres to graze a cow throughout the season, the average area of intensively treated grass required for the purpose was only 72-hundredths of an acre and in some cases figures of only half an acre or less were reached."

Making Liquid Fuel.

Making liquid fuel to take the place of gasoline directly from coal is another way chemical industry is enriching the world. "In one of the experimental research laboratories of our fuel research station," said the president. "I have recently witnessed the operation of powdered coal treated by the Bergius process, passing into the bomb with hydrogen under pressure at a moderate temperature and issuing from it as a liquid fuel."

But the supply of the world's coal is limited, so that even this will not always be possible. Carr thinks that even fuel may be eventually made from another constituent of the acid. Carbon dioxide and water, in the form of steam.

Co-operating among competing firms in the form of research associations is one of the ways in which valuable results have been obtained in England, said Carr. A group of business contributes a share to the operation of a central research laboratory. This is further aided by the Government on the basis of a contribution or subsidy, equal in amoun to that contributed by the firms. This is continued for five years. Then the Government contribution is either reduced or stopped as it is presumed that time the results of the work will make it possible for the members to bear the entire cost.

Can't Eat, Goes 18 Miles to Find Help

"My stomach was so bad I couldn't eat. I went 18 miles for Adlerika. I soon felt better and now do all my own housework again."—Mrs. L. A. Austin.

The simple mixture of buckthorn bark, glycerine, saline, etc., (known as Adlerika), has a most surprising DOUBLE action. First, it acts on BOTH upper and lower bowel (most medicines act on lower bowel only) and removes foul matter that often poisoned the system for months. Second, Adlerika clears all GAS and sourness from stomach and bowels, bringing INSTANT relief from stomach trouble. And in addition, Adlerika removes metabolic poisons which cause neuritis, rheumatism, etc.

Dr. H. L. Shoub, New York, writes: "Adlerika, in addition to its intestinal cleansing, checks the growth of intestinal bacteria and bacilli."

Dr. J. Weaver: "In my 50 years' practice, I have found nothing to excel Adlerika."

J. E. Puckett: "After using Adlerika, I feel better than for 20 years. Awful impurities were eliminated."

It will astonish you the great amounts of poisonous matter Adlerika brings out—matter you would never believe was in your system. In chronic constipation, gas bloating, sour stomach and sick headache, just ONE spoonful Adlerika brings wonderful relief. At leading druggists. Sold in St. Louis by Wolff-Wilson Drug Stores and other druggists.

CATHOLICS SUBMIT PLEA FOR CHANGES IN MEXICAN LAWS

PROPERTY RIGHT ALSO DEMANDED

Return of Real Estate Confiscated Since 1914 Sought in Memorial Signed by 140 Laymen.

By the Associated Press.

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 4.—A petition signed by 140 prominent Catholic laymen asking amendment of the religious laws to establish "complete religious liberty in Mexico and make the church and state independent" was before a Senate committee today for consideration.

The petition was read in the Senate last night and turned over the the Committee on Constitutional Points for a report. The memorial was also filed with the chamber, but that body was not in session yesterday. The petition asks specifically:

"1. That the legal existence and personality of all distinct denominations be recognized.

"2. That the separation and independence between the state and different religious denominations be recognized, and that the state should not legislate in religious affairs.

"3. That this separation be not a system of hostility, but of friendly co-operation in order to benefit the commonwealth. Each in its own sphere can be independent, the state in affairs of the temporal order, the church in affairs of the spiritual order. They can and should contribute thus to make Mexico a prosperous and enjoyable country. This involves no question of constituting one state within another, but, instead, an independent spiritual authority alongside and in harmony with another independent civil authority. This is beneficial and customary in all civilized countries, and nowhere creates a conflict and nowhere is considered as implanting a state within a state."

Free Teaching Demanded.

The petition said the Catholics only ask "for what is indispensable to our life." It then urged that the articles of the Constitution be made to read as follows:

"Article three: Teaching is free. That imparted in the State schools will be subject to terms established by law which will not be antagonistic to religion or those being educated by its practice. Said teaching to be gratuitous in the State primary schools.

"In private schools religion can be taught freely according to the dictates of parents or in their name by those supporting and directing said schools.

"In Government schools, at the request of parents and tutors, classes in religious instruction can be opened under the care of persons considered to be competent by the former, but attendance is not obligatory unless the parents desire.

"Article five: The State cannot permit any contract, pact or agreement to be entered upon the object of which would entail the diminution, loss or irrevocable sacrifice of one's liberty for reasons of labor or education motives.

"Article 24: Everyone is free to profess any religious creed he or she choose and practice its ceremonies, devotions or acts of its worship provided they do not mean breach of morality.

Property Rights.

"Article 27: Private and public benevolent institutions may acquire goods needed for their direct use and may acquire, hold and administer capital loaned on real estate provided instalments of the loan do no exceed 10 years. Religious associations, called churches, whatever the creed, may do the same but also remain independent in the management of their funds.

"Article 130: The State and the religious denominations are independent of each other. The State recognizes the judicial personality of all of them. The State shall not legislate respecting spiritual affairs nor intervene in the management of religious bodies. They in turn, will not mix in matter appertaining to civil power. The right to intervene in matters relating to the exercise of public worship in connection with the public order is reserved to the Federal authorities. The authorities shall act only as delegates or auxiliaries of the Federal authorities.

"Only civilly registered marriages shall enjoy the guarantee and benefits of the State laws.

"All churches and their dependencies, parish houses, etc., and all other buildings belonging to religious communities and taken away from them since 1914 shall be given back to the respective communities to which they legitimately belong."

Freedom of speech, press and assembly also is asked for in the petition.

Calles to Deliver Farewell Address to Congress Saturday.

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 4.—The support of the army—so essential to success of Governmental policies and political movements in Mexico—has been pledged to the program outlined by President Calles in his farewell address to Congress Saturday, a canvass of the military chieftains by two Mexican City newspapers today showed.

The papers, Excelsior and El Universal, assert that in their canvass "all the military chieftains of the republic" gathered here for the convening Congress Saturday had concurred in the following statement:

"The army will follow the line of conduct marked by its duty and patriotism."

"We will support the utterances of President Calles, who before the National Congress pledged and guaranteed the noble and disinterested conduct of the army in this national crisi. The army will remain aloof from political participation in the selection of a provisional Presidet, in that selection the army's only role will be to support whomsoever Congress may constitutionally put at the head of the Government."

Excelsior, commenting on the pledge of the military leaders and the situation in general said:

"We do not exaggerate. The actual fact is that the Calles message produced unanimous praise of his enemies who say now that whatever his errors in the past, he must be forgiven them in view of his transcondental patriotism and renunciation of every selfish consideration for the best interest os his country."

Vatican Organ Faintly Praises Calles Retirement Decision.

ROME, Sept. 4.—Faint praise for the announcement by President Calles that he would never be President again is given in the Osservatore Romano, the organ of the Vatican.

"This most praiseworthy decision," says the papers, "comes too late, but better late than never. During his future leisure Calles, relieved from the heavy burden of power, will have an opportunity to meditate on the power of the cross."

NEW SEXTANT CAMERA LOCATES POSITIONS

Usable on Plane or Ship to Fix Latitude and Longitude.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Sept. [illegible] — The folding and wrapping of light into one very small package makes feasible the new Pierce Sextant camera, the instrument which takes a photograph and records accurately the location on the earth's surface of the place where it is snapped.

The light-folding permits concentration of the intricate process into a box sufficiently small to be carried in one hand. It locates position with one motion, whereas navigators for centuries have required several instruments, observations and much time to accomplish the same thing. It will enable a flyer to blaze an accurately and permanently recorded trail in the air, even when no ground markings are in sight. One will be used by Commander Richard Byrd on his Antarctic expedition.

The camera takes pictures of the sun. No other exterior objects are photographed, but inside the camera are instruments which complete the record. This picture is a small snap-shot less than the size of the hand.

The idea of such a camera was worked out by Commander M. R. Pierce, U. S. Navy.

The light bending begins with taking the sun's picture. The camera's lens is not pointed directly at the sun, because the entire box must be held in a horizontal position to permit the interior instruments to register. A prism of glass, projecting outside the camera, catches the sunlight and bends it until the beam is passed horizontally across the interior of the top of the camera box. Next, this sunlight is bent at a right angle by a second prism, which directs it to the bottom of the box to register on the photographic film.

Within the camera box four small electric bulbs light the interior recording instruments. One of these lights casts a beam through a pendulum moving in a slot, and determines the position of an artificial horizon, which appears in the finished picture as a straight line across the face of the photo. This beam is bent twice by prisms, passing about three sides of the box before it registers on the film.

Beams which carry respectively the image of a watch face, a bubble, and a scale marked in degrees of angle, all are bent through various angles until they can be brought into focus on the film. It is much as if five strings were passed from various objects in the box, turning and bending so as never to cross each other's paths but finally all ending at the same point without interference. The light beams are so infinitely more senstive than strings that they respond to scientific checks and balances in the camera to produce a completed picture whose accuracy is estimated by Commander Pierce at within one-half second.

MEXICO BUYS U. S. PLANES

Six Machines Leave Detroit for Mexico City; May Stop Here.

By the Associated Press.

DETROIT, Mich., Sept. 4.—Six planes, representing the first purchase of American aircraft by the Mexican Government, left the Ford airport here for Mexico City at 12:20 p. m. today. They will be put into service transporting passengers and mail between Mexico City and the United States border.

The ships, all single-motor cabin monoplanes, were built by the Stinson Aircraft Corporation. They will be flown by American pilots to Laredo, Tex., from where they will be taken by Mexican pilots to Mexico City. The six planes probably will stop at St. Louis and Dallas or Houston, Tex., and arrive at Laredo on Thursday. The squadron of planes was in the charge of Clyde W. Spracher, Stinson pilot. Other pilots of the trip are Thomas Hardin of Fort Worth, K. J. Dooley of San Antonio, Pat Nolan of Omaha and J. B. Machle and M. Sterling, both of Detroit. Passengers are Victor Toce and H. S. MALMGREN'S MOTHER WRITES NOBILE SHE HOLDS NO MALICE

Thinks Son's Companions Did All They Could for Him on Italia Expedition.

By the Associated Press.

ROME, Sept. 4.—A letter from Mrs. Anna Malmgren, mother of the lost Swedish explorer, Dr. Finn Malmgren, tells Gen. Umberto Nobile, leader of the wrecked Italia expedition, that she believes everything possible was done for her son by his Italian comrades. The letter was published today in La Tribuna. It is signed "Yours affectionately, Anna Malmgren," and in part says:

"Dear Gen. Nobile: I have not the right to talk of public opinion and such things, but I can assure you my sympathy for you is unlimited and will always remain so.

"I have many things to thank you for, but over all my heart is moved most by your great kindness in passing my house at Appelviken on your voyage to Svalbard. I am sorry I was not able to encounter you upon your return and thank you personally for all you had done for my son. On several occasions you spoke of him with highest eulogy and that has been a great consolation for me.

"My son himself respected and esteemed you very much and his friendship for you was profound and sincere. I too feel it my duty to tell you aloud that I am absolutely convinced your reciprocal friendship remained unaltered even when he left on the expedition which was doomed to be his last. * * * I believe Capt. Zappi's words. He and Capt. Mariano with whom I had the pleasure of a brief visit evidently did all they could for my son and I shall always hold them as men of honor."

Timber for Bridge Approach.

The Board of Public Service today authorized advertising for bids for supply of timber for the southern approach to the Municipal Bridge, now under construction. It is estimated the necessary ties and other timber will cost $175,000. The total cost of the approach will be well within the $1,500,000 authorized in the 1923 bond issue, President Kinsey of the Board of Public Service said.

STOLEN ARTICLES RECOVERED BEFORE LOSS IS DISCOVERED

Edward Long, 21 years old, and George McQuade, 18, former inmates of Boonville Reformatory, were arrested last night by Lieut. The bundles contained men's clothing and McQuade had in his pockets several foreign coins, medals and articles of jewelry.

The two were being held as suspects when Frederick J. Fansin of 4408 West Florissant avenue returned from a week-end trip at 11 p. m. and discovered that his home had been entered by burglars. He identified the articles found in the possessions of the two prisoners. They refused to make any statement.

An exhaustive and unbiased survey reveals that the Post-Dispatch—Daily or Sunday—reaches far more St. Louis Automobile Owners than any other St. Louis newspaper.

The Most Exhaustive Survey Ever Made of St. Louis

To get the whole truth about newspaper coverage in St. Louis—to obtain a complete, accurate and unbiased report on the newspaper reading habits of St. Louis people, was the purpose of the most exhaustive survey of its kind ever made of St. Louis.

More than half of all the homes in St. Louis were visited. Every class and division of St. Louis population was thoroughly covered. A total of 120,038 homes were called upon. Complete interviews were secured from 91,756 homes.

A Survey of Facts, Not Opinions

This survey is remarkable not only for its magnitude, but for the extraordinary steps taken to keep it rigidly accurate and free from bias. It is a survey of facts, not opinions—it was made to get information, not to prove something.

Warner Bros. Advances 21 1-2 Points—New High Levels Reached by a Score of Issues.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Sept. 4.—Speculators for the advanced retained control of the price movement in today's stock market despite rather heavy selling inspired by the marking up of the call money rate from 7½ to 8 per cent.

Nearly two score issues broke through to new high levels for the year, with sensational advances of 21½ points in Warner Bros. A and 19½ points in the common as the individual features. Net gains of 1 to 11 points in a long list of other active issues were interspersed with a number of declines ranging from 1 to nearly 8 points.

Calling of about $25,000,000 in loans in connection with the semi-weekly adjustment by banks of their position at the Federal Reserve Bank was believed responsible for the stiffening of call money. Another factor may have been the new Clearing House regulations, effective Sept. 1, increasing the service charge on the placing of loans for out-of-town banks and private corporations, as well as increasing the minimum loan for such accounts to $100,000. Easier call money is looked for when the Sept. 1 and Labor day funds return to the banks, but the full effect of this might not be felt before the middle of the month. There was no cange in time money and commercial paper rates.

Pools Continue Activity.

The monthly New York Stock Exchange report of member loans, issued after the close of the market, showed an increase of $214,089,826 last month, bringing the total to $5,051,437,405. The weekly reports of the New York Federal Reserve Bank showed an increase of only $51,229,000 between July 25 and Aug. 29.

Powerful pools, apparently having succeeded in attracting a public following, started to bid up stocks from the opening gong. Transactions of 1000 to 15,000 shares were quite common during the session. Speculative interest switched frequently from group to group with the amusement, independent motor and public utility shares giving the best demonstrations of group strength.

The wild outburst of buying in the amusement shares was accompanied by unconfirmed rumors of new alignments in the industry and trade predictions of large earnings from the new talking picture developments. The spectacular rise in the Warner issues was attributed, in part, to the urgent retreat of an over-crowded short interest. Fox Film A ran up nearly five points to 99⅞, as against a low of 72 earlier in the year. Paramount Famous Lasky advanced to a new high level and then fell back on realizing.

Concurrent activity and strength of Hupp and Reo Motors, both of which established new high records, also was based on unconfirmed merger rumors. Chrysler, Packard and Graham-Paige also moved into new high ground and General Motors closed two points higher at 203¾. Columbia Gas, with a five-point gain at 125, was the leader in the public utility group.

* * *

Rails Are Strong.

American Linseed ran up 13 points to a new top at 135 and then eased to 133. Among the many other issue sto reach new high ground were Continental Can, Union Carbide, Loose Wiles Biscuit, International Harvester, Coty, May Department Stores and Barnsdall A. Such recent favorites as U. S. Steel common, American Can, Anaconda Copper, International Nickel and Woolworth were ranged behind minus signs at the close. Recent weakness of Manhattan Electric Supply was explained today by the omission of the regular quarterly dividend.

Rails showed more uniform strength than the industrials, with rather substantial gains in such issues as Delaware & Hudson, Baltimore & Ohio, Colorado & Southern and Union Pacific.

Commodity markets were again mixed. Wheat dropped 1c to 1½c a bushel, but cotton closed slightly firmer. Coffee quotations were slightly higher and raw sugar futures a shade easier.

Reactionary tendencies predominated in the foreign exchange market, but most of the declines were nominal. Sterling cables ruled around $4.85¼. Japanese yen broke 13 points to 45.50c.

BOND PRICES HOLD FIRM UNDER INACTIVE TRADING

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Sept. 4. — Trading was slightly less active but prices were firm on the bond market today, with rails and convertibles aprominent among issues making small gains. Calling of around $25,000,000 in loans by banks was regarded as an aftermath of the Labor day demand for funds and apparently had little effect on the market. Time money held steady despite the rise of call money to 8 per cent.

Strength of Barnsdall 6s, which touched a new year's high at 107½, and of Public Service of New Jersey 4½s, which closed about a point higher after losing part of the early gain, was a feature of the industrial group. Coppers were under pressure. Anaconda and Andes 7s both selling off around a point. Humble Oil 5½s, International Cement 5s, General Motors acceptance 6s, Goodyear Tire 5s, Otil Steel 6s A and Youngstown Sheet & Tube 5s closed fractionally higher.

With the exception of a few secondary issues the railroad group sought higher levels. Pennsylvania 4s, Erie Convertible 4s B, New York Central 3½s and a few others closed a point or more higher, demand for railroad liens apparently being based on the renewed strength of railroad stocks and publication of improved earnings reports.

The foreign list was fairly active, but price movements were irregular.

Condition of the Reichbank.

BERLIN, Sept. 4.—The statement of the Reichsbank as of Aug. 31, shows the following changes in reichsmarks. Gold and bullion increased 7,221,000; reserve in foreign currencies decreased 16,504,000; bills of exchange and cheques increased 636,097,000; silver and other coins decreased 20,525,000; notes on other banks decreased 17,559,000; advances increased 101,746,000; other assets decreased 70,657,000; notes in circulation increased 703,437,000; other maturing obligations decreased 67,368,000; other liabilities decreased 16,250,000. PRICES GENERALLY LOWER FOR GRAINS AT CHICAGO

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Sept. 4.—Wheat and corn were marked down on the Chicago Board of Trade today under pressure of a variety of moderately bearish elements that found th grain markets poorly supported. September corn was the vulnerable spot, sagging 2¼ to 2⅝c while deferred months eased off fractionally.

Wheat eased off at the start owing to Liverpool's reaction to rains in Australia and the Argentine. Canadian harvest weather continued favorable. Further losses followed during the early trading, influenced to some extent by the bearish private crop figures which, however, had already been taken into account by the trade. The forecasts ranged from 310,000,000 to 325,000,000 bushels of domestic spring wheat and a record Canadian crop between 470,000,000 bushels and 538,000,000 bushels, the latter report suggesting Manitoba's yield at 53,000,000, Sas Katchewan at 310,000,000 and Alberta at 175,000,000 bushels. The world's exportable wheat surplus is reckoned at 820,000,000 bushels over the estimated importers requirements compared with 104,000,000 a year ago. The seaboard reported 1,000,000 bushels, Manitobas taken for export.

Proximity of heavy Canadian wheat movements, appearance of hedging sales for the Northwest and an increase of 3,774,000 bushels in the visible supply were the principal factors in the late weakness of wheat, which rallied fractionally to close easy at 1⅛ to 1⅝c decline, Sept 1.10 to ⅛, Dec. 1.15 to ⅛, March 1.19⅝ to ¾ and May 1.21⅞ to 1.22.

SPECIAL G. O. P. FARM COMMITTEE IN ILLINOIS

Candidates and Party Managers Plan Extensive Speaking Tours Throughout State.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Sept. 4.—Appointment of a special farm committee to work for the success of the national and State Republican tickets in Illinois was announced today by the Republican State Central Committee.

Members of the new committee are: State Senators Simon Lantz of Conserville, Henry Dunlap of Savoy, A. S. Cuthbertson of Bunker Hill, Harold Kessinger of Aurora, and Norman E. Flagg of More, and Representatives Homer Tice of Greenview, Gus Johnson of Paxton, Frank McCarthy of Elgin, Calistus Bruer of Pontiac and Henry C. Allen of Linden.

Illinois Republicans, split in the April primaries, were reunited today at a gathering of State and national candidates and party managers. Final plans for a Statewide campaign carrying the candidates' message into several counties a day, beginning Sept. 10, are to be made.

James W. Good Attends.

The meeting, in the form of a luncheon at the Hotel La Salle, was held for the purpose of hearing messages from State candidates and Republican campaign officials and to make final plans for an extensive speaking campaign.

Among those who delivered short talks were James W. Good, Western campaign manager for Herbert Hoover; Senator Charles S. Deneen, Louis L. Emmerson, gubernatorial nominee; Otis F. Glenn, senatorial nominee; Bertha Baur, National Committeewoman; Harry B. McCulloch, chairman of the State Central Committee, and David Shanahan, State campaign manager.

Speaking Tours Planned.

Thirty-one counties in Southern Illinois are to be visited in six days by a motor cavalcade of candidates scheduled to begin its tour next Monday. After a week's rest another trip will be made into other sections of the State.

Counties on the first lap of the campaign include Clark, Crawford, Cumberland, Jasper, Effingham, Lawrence, Edwards, Richland, Clay, Wayne Wabash, White, Hamilton, Gallatin, Saline, Hardin, Pope, Johnson, Union, Massac, Pulaski, Alexander, Williamson, Jackson, Franklin, Jefferson, Randolph, Perry, Marion and Clinton.

Rival Cook County Republican factions will open separate headquarters this week, representing the Crowe-Thompson and Deneen forces.

DRY AGENTS DESTROY 1000 BOTTLES OF BREW AT PICNIC

Prohibtion agents visited the Labor day picnic of the Lemay Ferry Business Men's Association at Risch's Grove, 600 Lemay Ferry road, Monday afternoon. With the picnic band playing "How Dry I Am," they destroyed 1000 bottles of what they said was home brew. Three men who were serving refreshments behind an improvised bar were arrested. The visit of the agents depressed but did not disrupt the merrymaking by several hundred persons.

Deputy Administrator Dillon and several of his agents, on arriving at the grove, purchased refreshment tickets and then sampled the refreshments. Concluding they had received home brew, they took possession of the bottles stored on ice behind the bartenders and began to destroy bottles.

The agents finished the day with a raid on a saloon at 220 Lemay Ferry road, arrested John Brader, bartender, and ordered William F. Knight, former Constable of Carondelet Township, to report to the Federal Building today as proprietor of the saloon. They were charged with sale and possession of liquor.

MURDER IN ROCKFORD, ILL., ATTRIBUTED TO LIQUOR GANG

ROCKFORD, Ill., Sept. 4.—Tont de Salvo, 29 years old, restaurant proprietor, was killed by two unidentified men as he sat in his automobile in a residential street last night. Six shots entered his body. His slayers placed one of the revolvers they used in one of the victim's hands and the other in the seat beside him. The chambers of both weapons were empty. They escaped without being seen.

Police attribute the killing to rivalry between bootlegging factions.

Tom Dedaq's body was found several months ago in a woods near the Camp Grant rifle range. De Salvo was said to have belonged to a rival liquor group and authorities said his death was probably in revenge for the killing of Dedaq.

TRUE LIFE STORY OF THE PRINCE OF WALES

By WALTER AND LEONARD TOWNSEND

INSTALLMENT XIII.

THE PRINCE AND THE WAR.

THOSE who have come in contact with the Prince and who know him intimately cannot but pay tribute to his well-balanced mind and orderliness. Hearing of the attempts in England to defeat the German blockade by the intensive cultivation of small holdings, the Prince at once inaugurated a scheme in the Duchy of Cornwall estate at Dartmouth and had the satisfaction of seeing several acres of the largest enclosures of grass land prepared for food cultivation.

The idea of commencing farming on extensive lines on the Prince's Cornish estates had been first mooted, however, early in 1913, and operations had commenced then. Crops had been sown and cattle installed in the pasture lands, but the Prince had, owing to subsequent activities, been compelled to devote his time to other interests than farming. He mentioned, while in Paris before the war, that nothing would please him better—if he had to have a landsman life—than to settle down as a gentleman farmer! Since he has been able, to some extent, to realize this ambition in his ranch in Canada.

The Prince celebrated his twenty-first birthday at the front and asked that all congratulations, public or otherwise, should be postponed until the conclusion of the war.

For the same reason, the Prince decided not to make any appointments to his household.

The King of Italy conferred upon the Prince the Order of the Annunziata, carrying with it the relationship of cousin to His Majesty of Italy.

During the four years of the war, the Prince of Wales never stayed away from the various fronts for long. He paid several flying visits home, but he made good use of his time spent in England. He visited the hospitals for the wounded, attended the meetings of public bodies and traveled from one end of the country to the other fulfilling public duties. Although he was so young he gained no little reputation for delivering forcible war speeches.

In January, 1917, the Prince made one of his frequent rush visits to England to attend the meeting of the Prince of Wales Committee for the care of Soldiers' War Graves held at the War Office.

A few weeks later the Prince brought over dispatches from Sir John French to the Secretary of State for War and then stole two or three days' well-earned leave in the peace of Windsor Castle before returning once more to the front.

The ordinary rank of soldiers would have quickly discerned in the Prince's activities among them any hint of condescension and would have quickly detected any attempt on his part to "mix" with them on any but a downright comradely basis. When the Prince asked for a light for his cigarette or asked for a cigarette, it was not because he wished to be considered friendly, but he really needed a smoke or a light.

The Prince took a great delight in inspecting troops during the war, whether they were soldiers, sailors, boy scouts or civil organizations.

After his short leave in the autumn of 1917, the Prince of Wales returned to his duties with reinforced vigor. "He is only a boy, but he has a tremendous lot of courage," wrote a soldier to his family, discussing his meeting with the Prince.

Early in February, 1918, the Prince returned to Buckingham Palace from Sir H. Plumer's headquarters in Italy to take his seat in the House of Lords.

The Prince now began an exhaustive tour of industrial areas: South Wales was the starting point and he was received amidst great acclamations. His next visit was to the Cornwall estates of the Duchy. Here he spent a busy day inspecting the Wolfram mine at Kit Hill. He donned an overall and a miner's hat to which a Davy lamp was fastened and walked through an underground cutting into an actual mine, stopping on the way to pay his "footing." This is an old Cornish custom and consists in having one's boots wiped by the oldest miner present on payment of 2-6d. During his inspection of the mine he used a hand drill and chatted freely with the workers. He stayed for lunch at the mine buildings and had the pleasure of meeting his brother, Prince George, whom he had not seen for 18 months. Prince George was still at Dartmouth. After a brief visit to Plymouth, the Prince returned to London to be present at an entertainment of the soldiers' children in the East End.

From London the Prince now journeyed to the Clyde industrial area on a plea for more ships. While there he visited all the chief naval and mercantile works and shipyards and had a special word of congratulation for a group of survivors from torpedoed vessels.

While on the Clyde, the Prince associated freely with the workers and drove a steel rivet into a ship's plate, remarking that though the work looked easy enough, it was jolly hard.

May, 1918, represented the third anniversary of the entry of Italy into the war as an ally of Great Britain. England had arranged, some months before the date, that some member of the Royal Family would be present at the quiet ceremony which was to take place on that day in Rome. When the time came, however, the King found it impossible to leave his duties and the Prince of Wales was deputized to leave for Italy.

The young Prince, wearing the khaki uniform of a British officer, arrived in Rome on May 23.

The crowds which lined the streets marking the route the Prince was to travel, cheered long and madly as he passed. As his car traveled alongside the Massimo Hospital for wounded soldiers, the convalescents crowded to the windows, waving their hands and shouting their greetings to the distinguished visitor below.

The ceremony of the anniversary took place the following day in the Augusteum Hall, and the building was packed to overflowing. After the National Anthems of each of the Allies had been rendered, and a hearty welcome to the Prince of Wales had been given, he was called upon to speak.

Wild cheers broke out when the slight figure of Edward rose to address the crowd from the royal box. He said in part:

"I proudly proclaim my conviction that the great object for which our two nations are fighting against the forces of reaction is inevitably destined to triumph, owing to the union of which our meeting this evening is symbolic."

Prince Edward took risks in France, but they were, as far as possible, minimized. He would be the last to say it. That is why he referred to "my insignificant part in the war." But there was no need for any apologia on the part of the sensitive young Prince. No one expected the heir to the throne to wield a bayonet or shoulder a rifle. Probably if he had done—and his wishes on this subject have never been doubted—the actual influences both on the result of the war and the morale of the troops would have been insignificant compared with that which his presence alone effected. It was a harder task for the Prince of Wales to reconcile himself to his "safety" duties than actual fighting would have been.

The great European struggle was over.

Now he wished to be accepted as a man. He had won his spurs. Had he not mixed with men too long and too freely to be ever restricted as he had been in those peaceful years before 1914? His experiences had made a lasting influence upon him. Henceforth though he may be called the Prince of Wales he would always remain "the people's Prince!"

He exhibited the keenest interest in the welfare of repatriated prisoners of war. On Nov. 17 he attended in person at Dover and met a transport of 800 men recently released from German internment camps. The prisoners, as they left the boat, were formed into lines along the pier front, and the Prince walked down the files chatting with the men and questioning them with regard to their experiences and their future plans.

He realized that the time was not far distant when he would have to bid good-by to the soldiers who had been his friends. He expressed the wish to be allowed to spend Christmas with the troops abroad. No one was really surprised, therefore, to read in the newspapers on Christmas eve, 1918, that "the Prince of Wales is staying in Brussels, incognito."

Match or Contrast, Paris Approves Both

EVENING shoes which contrast with rather than match the evening dress are a new development in Paris.

Shoes of sapphire blue, cerise, cherry red or emerald green crepe de chine are frequently worn with dresses of white or cream shades. Two shades of blue or pink and combinations of fuchsia purple with soft blues, and Venetian pink with pale blue are chosen for dress and shoes ,the shoes always being the darker color.

Chiffon handkerchiefs to match the shoes and occasionall a chiffon bandeau draped around the head are part of the new vogue of contrasts.

A pinch of baking soda in the water with the fowl suspected of being tough will help make it tender.

Here's why

Black Flag Powder — rather than liquid—is best to kill roaches, bed bugs, fleas and other crawling pests. These pests hide when you're in the room. They only come out when no one's around. Black Flag Powder won't evaporate. The pests crawl into it—and it kills them—quickly, surely. For Black Flag is the deadliest of all insect-killers. Powder, 15 cents and up.

BLACK FLAG
Some prefer Powder to kill crawling pests —roaches, ants, etc., and Black Flag Liquid to kill flying pests—flies, mosquitoes, etc.

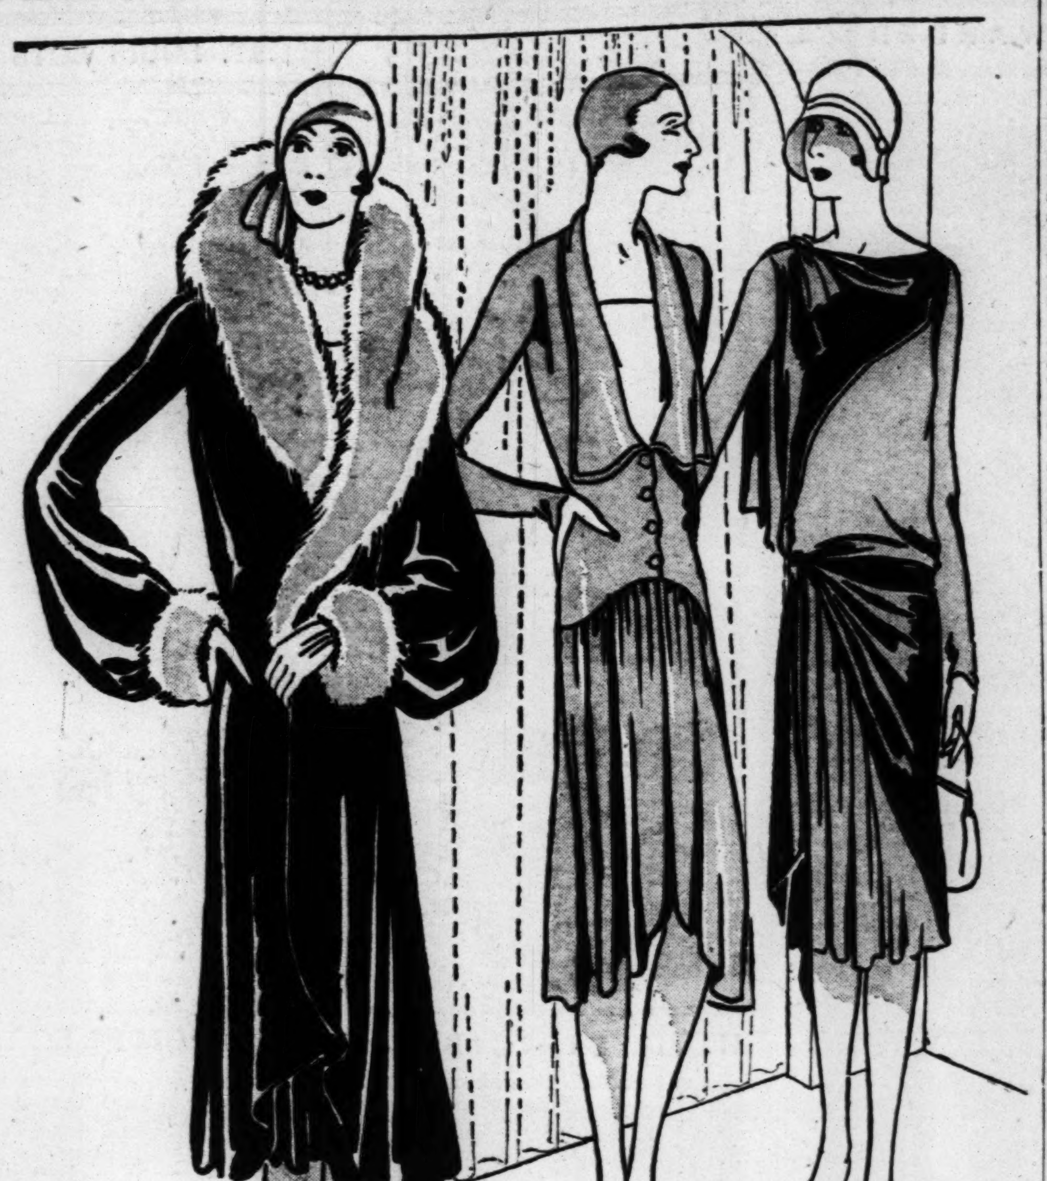
NOW IT IS THE FASHION TO FOLLOW THE NATURAL LINES



Made of blue-black Panne, this coat is trimmed with beige wolf. The tight-fitting bodice widens out below the hips. Narrow sleeves are worked out on the same original principle.

This afternoon dress has its narrow bodice buttoned in front and a shaped skirt. It is in blue-black Panne.

Elaboration, When It Is Used, Is the Elaboration of Workmanship on the Surface, of Which There Are Fine Examples in the Autumn Styles.

By Madame Besancon de Wagner.

PARIS.

WOMEN are really the most impatient creatures in the world. Instead of being content to enjoy wearing the ephemeral chiffons we were at such pains and trouble to design now that the weather is at last suitable, they clamor for scraps of news about what they will be asked to wear during the coming autumn months.

It makes one hot even to think of velvets with the temperature at over eighty in the shade. Still dress designers have to work in advance. Early in August my winter collection was complete, and buyers from all over the world were fanning themselves in our salons in the Place Vendome, and thinking in terms of fur and woolens, velvets and winter gowns, so I will try to give you a few hints of what the autumn fashions are so far.

One of the leading characteristics is that the dresses show a great deal of fine workmanship. This does not mean that the charming simplicity of line is lost. It is too becoming for me to wish that it should be fundamentally changed. We have reached a stage in artistic development in dress where the beauty of natural lines seems to us of supreme importance, and elaboration, when it is used, is the elaboration of workmanship on the surface rather than an elaboration that changes the lines. To put it in a few short words, dresses are what the French call "travaillees," which means they show all the wonderful stitchery for which Paris has been famous for generations past, and which is really what women look for when they buy a Paris gown.

There are, of course, certain modifications. Each season's fashions are an evolution from the season which has just closed. Certain ideas have clarified and led to new inspirations. This is inevitable. One of the evolutions produced by the present appreciation of lines which show the natural beauty of the figure is the princess gown. My new collection shows many models on these lines, draped and adjusted to the figure. I am sure these gowns will be found to be most becoming. They have a youthful charm and allure that I think will please.

OF course, the main interest at present is centered in the skirts. These certainly have fulness. It has been said before that the modern woman will not consent to be restricted in her movements. The fact that dressmakers fully appreciate this desire for freedom is shown in various ways in the autumn fashions.

There are godets and other interpretations of fullness. Once more we show you the irregular hemline. It is not quite the same irregular line as that of last season, but, although women realize that it is prettier to wear long, flowing lines than the short skirt of the same length all round, the time has not yet come when they are ready to accept frankly long skirts, and the irregular hemline is so universally becoming and attractive that there is no reason why it should be buried in the limbo of a forgotten past.

Among the details of elaboration to be seen in my new collection are trimmings of lace. Lace is so feminine and softening that I think no lovelier decoration can be found for the dress that is to be worn on smart occasions. There are jabots and flounces of lace. Lace is united with all manner of more solid fabrics, and I think the result will be one step forward toward the goal of really feminine fashions, the aim we have all had in mind for several seasons past, and one which we now seem definitely within sight of achieving.

SLEEVES are long. The short sleeve is a pretty caprice for the summer months. But nowadays fashions have to be practical, and short sleeves are certainly not practical for the winter. Many of the new sleeves are cut in one-piece with the corsage. This means that a gown must be beautifully cut and made. Women wil be pleased with this effect, for while they appreciated the ease of the over-simple fashions that were prevalent some time ago they were secretly annoyed that their expensive gowns could be so easily reproduced on a large and inexpensive scale, and they welcome any fashion which gives them simple lines cut in such a manner that they are not likely to see their Paris models reproduced by their maids in a short time after their first appearance.

One of the reasons why we still see the irregular hemline is that its possibilities are a long way from being exhausted. We have had dresses with irregular hemlines for some time past. Where the straight line has remained has been in the realm of coats. This was not always a happy effect. It is not pretty to see trailing ends of drapery appearing under the straight line of a plain coat. This season you will see coats that follow the line of the gown over which they are worn. That is to say, they will dip at the back when necessary. I am sure this will produce a very pleasing result and it is a further proof of my theory that ideas always produce a further evolution each season.

There are, however, occasions in the autumn and winter when a more elaborate coat is not only suitable but necessary. These are the coats with godets and a more fanciful cut and they are, naturally, extensively trimmed with handsome, real furs.

This is a sad age for the embroiderers. We use little embroidery in the winter collection. The wheel of fashion must turn, and for the moment it is turning away from embroidery. No doubt it will revolve again when the embroiderers have found time to invent something so new and attractive that we are unable to resist its beauties.

Don't save mustard. Mix fresh each time needed if you want a nice flavor.

Some Fancies for the Dressing Table

KNICKKNACKS for the dressing table turn the ordinary jars, boxes and bottles into attractive and smile-provoking ornaments. A tiny china and rouge jar seen in one shop has a small rabbit perched on the top of it for the express purpose of being used as a handle. A swansdown puff in a green and silver box has as its handle a penguin in green and black with a yellow beak.

Hand-painted wooden make-up boxes from Austria with matching powder bowls are colorful and fantastic, and, therefore, very gay.

Its appeal, consistent with its price, is an imported mirror quite distinct from the customary type. This is round, black and shiny, the back decorated in gold about the edge and with a tiny hand-painted miniature imbedded in it and a gold piece to hold the long, heavy, black silk tassel which serves as a handle.

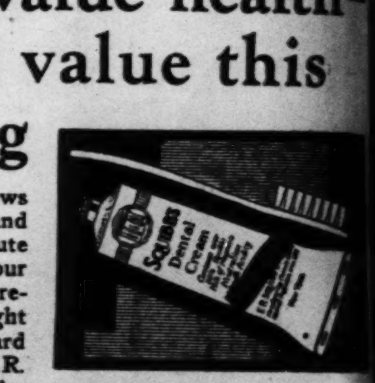
★If you value health—you will value this warning



TODAY everyone knows that decayed teeth and infected gums constitute a grave danger to our health. In order therefore that everyone might know how to safeguard against this threat, E. R. Squibb & Sons caused the entire dental profession to be asked definite questions on mouth hygiene. The answers received agreed almost unanimously that:

(1) Acids are the most frequent cause of tooth decay and infected gums.

(2) The most serious trouble occurs at the place where teeth and gums meet—known as The Danger Line.

(3) The best product known to neutralize acids in the mouth is Milk of Magnesia.

These answers constitute a warning to us all and also point out the safe and sure way to protect your teeth and gums — use Squibb's Dental Cream.

It contains more than 50% Squibb's Milk of Magnesia in the most convenient and effective form to neutralize acids at The Danger Line. When you brush your teeth with it, tiny particles of Milk of Magnesia are forced into every pit and crevice where acids can form. There they remain to safeguard your teeth and gums for hours afterward.

Start now to protect your teeth and gums correctly—especially at The Danger Line. See your dentist regularly — and use Squibb's Dental Cream. It keeps the teeth beautifully white. 40c a large tube.

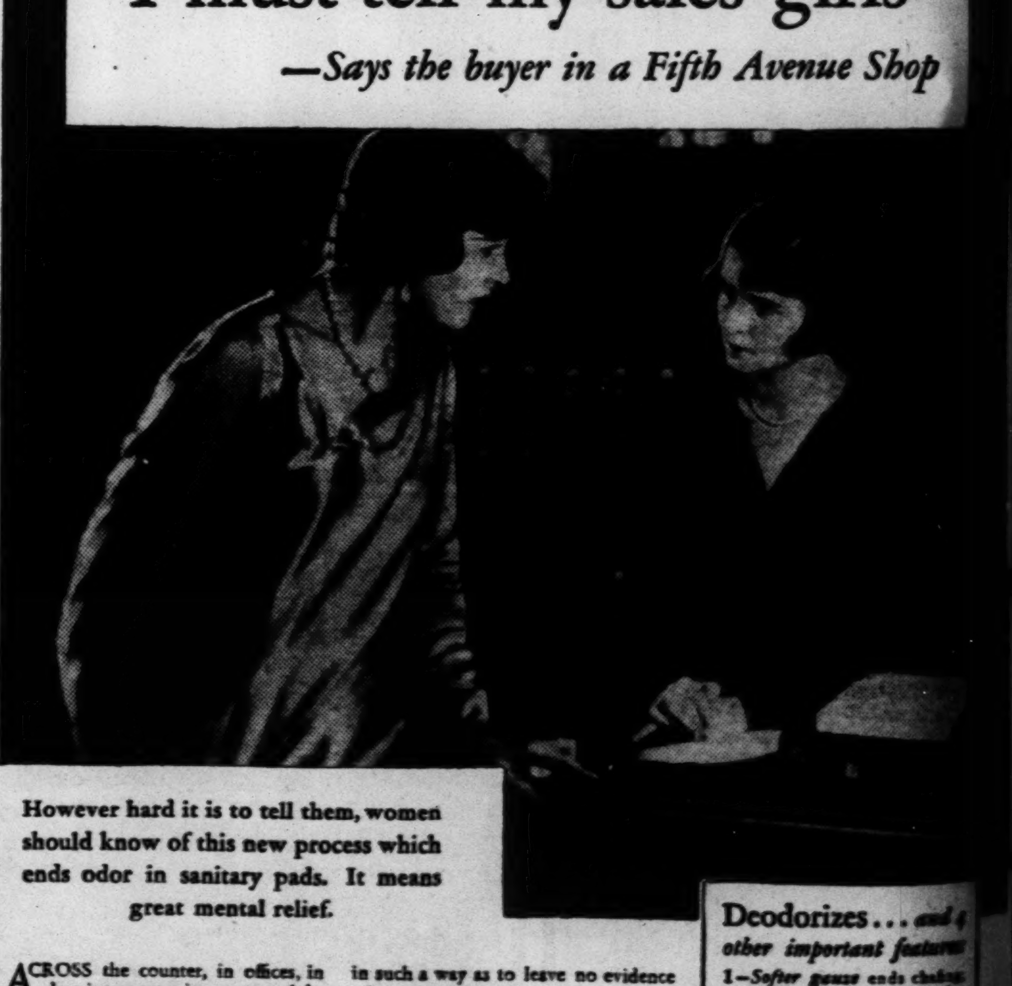
"Awkward to discuss—but I must tell my sales girls"

—Says the buyer in a Fifth Avenue Shop



However hard it is to tell them, women should know of this new process which ends odor in sanitary pads. It means great mental relief.

ACROSS the counter, in offices, in drawing rooms, in country clubs—wherever women meet the world, they are in danger of offending others at times. The unhappy self-consciousness which used to follow this realization is now ended. Kotex scientists have found (and patented*) a way to neutralize all odor in sanitary pads. This cause for worry is entirely dismissed. Women can meet any social emergency with a new light-heartedness.

Fear of consciousness gone, too

A certain bulkiness associated with old-fashioned methods has been overcome, too. Each pad is rounded and tapered in such a way as to leave no evidence of sanitary protection.

You may add or remove layers of filler as needed—a thing all women appreciate. There is a new softness, because both filler and gauze have been specially treated. Finally, Kotex is so easy to dispose of, eliminating all need of laundering.

The GREENE MURDER CASE

By S. S. Van Dyne

THE CLOSING OF A DOOR.

(Friday, Nov. 12, 9:30 a. m.)

"THERE'S something awful funny going on here," she had said, forgetting for the moment the urge of her coquettish spirits. "The Greenes are queer people. And the servants are queer, too—what with Mr. Sproot reading books in foreign languages, and Hemming preaching about fire and brimstone, and cook going around in a sort of trance muttering to herself and never answering a civil question. And such a family!" She rolled her eyes. "Mrs. Greene hasn't got any heart. She's a regular old witch, and she looks at you sometimes as though she'd like to strangle you. If I was Miss Ada I'd have gone crazy long ago. But then, Miss Ada's no better than the rest. She acts nice and gentle-like, but I've seen her stamping up and down in her room looking like a very devil; and once she used language to me what was that bad I put my fingers in my ears. And Miss Sibella's a regular icicle—except when she gets mad, and then she'd kill you if she dared, and laugh about it. And there's been something funny about her and Mr. Chester. Ever since Miss Julia and Miss Ada were shot they've been talking to each other in the sneakiest way when they thought no one was looking. And this Dr. von Blon what comes here so much; he's a deep one. He's been in Miss Sibella's room with the door shut lots of times when she wasn't any more sick than you are. And Mr. Rex, now. He's a queer one, too. I get the creeps every time he comes near me." She shuddered by way of demonstration. "Miss Julia wasn't as queer as the rest. She just hated everybody and was mean."

Barton had rambled on loquaciously with all the thoughtless exaggeration of a gossip who felt herself outraged; and Markham had not interruupted her. He was trying to dredge up some nugget from the mass of her verbal silt; but when at last he sifted it all down there remained nothing but a few shining grains of scandal.

The cook was even less enlightening. Taciturn by nature, she became almost inarticulate when approached on the subject of the crime. Her stolid exterior seemed to cloak a sullen resentment at the fact that she should be questioned at all. In fact, as Markham patiently pressed his examination, the impression grew on me that her lack of responsiveness was deliberately defensive, as if she had steeled herself to reticency. Vance, too, sensed this attitude in her, for, during a pause in the interview, he moved his chair about until he faced her directly.

"Frau Mannheim," he said, "the last time we were here you mentioned the fact that Mr. Tobias Greene knew your husband, and that, because of their acquaintance, you applied for a position here when your husband died."

"And why shouldn't I?" she asked stubbornly. "I was poor and I didn't have any other friends."

"Ah, friends!" Vance caught up the word. "And since you were once on friendly terms with Mr. Greene, you doubtless know certain things about his past, which may have some bearing on the present situation; for it is not at all impossible, d'ye see, that the crimes committed here during the past few days are connected with matters that took place years ago. We don't know this, of course, but we'd be very much gratified if you would try to help us in this regard."

As he was speaking the woman had drawn herself up. Her hands had tightened as they lay folded in her lap, and the muscles about her mouth had stiffened.

"I don't know anything," was her only answer.

"How," asked Vance evenly, "do you account for the rather remarkable fact that Mr. Greene gave orders that you were to remain here as long as you cared to?"

"Mr. Greene was a very kind and generous man," she asserted, in a flat, combative voice. "Some there were that thought him hard, and accused him of being unjust; but he was always good to me and mine."

"How well did he know Mr. Mannheim?"

There was a pause, and the woman's eyes looked blankly ahead.

"He helped my husband once when he was in trouble."

"How did he happen to do this?"

There was another pause, and then:

"They were in some deal together—in the old country." She frowned and appeared uneasy.

"When was this?"

"I don't remember. It was before I was married."

"And where did you first meet Mr. Greene?"

"At my home in New Orleans. He was there on business—with my husband."

"And, I take it, he befriended you also."

The woman maintained a stubborn silence.

"A moment ago," pursued Vance, "you used the phrase 'me and mine.'—Have you any children, Mrs. Mannheim?"

For the first time during the interview her face radically changed expression. An angry gleam shone in her eyes.

"No!" The denial was like an ejaculation.

Vance smoked lethargically for several moments.

"You lived in New Orleans until the time of your employment in this house?" he finally asked.

"Yes."

"And your husband died there?"

"Yes."

"That was 13 years ago, I understand. How long before that had it been since you had seen Mr. Greene?"

"About a year."

"So that would be 14 years ago."

An apprehension, bordering on fear, showed through the woman's morose calmness.

"And you came all the way to New York to seek Mr. Greene's help," mused Vance. "Why were you so confident that he would give you employment after your husband's death?"

"Mr. Greene was a very good man," was all she would say.

"He had perhaps," suggested Vance, "done some other favor for you which made you think you could count on his generosity—eh, what?"

"That's neither here nor there." Her mouth closed tightly.

Vance changed the subject.

"What do you think about the crimes that have been committed in this house?"

"I don't think about them," she mumbled; but the anxiety in her voice belied the assertion.

"You surely must hold some opinion, Mrs. Mannheim, having been here so long." Vance's intent gaze did not leave the woman. "Who, do you think, would have had any reason for wanting to harm these people?"

Suddenly her self-control gave way.

"Du lieber Herr Jesus! I don't know—I don't know!" It was like a cry of anguish. "Miss Julia and Mr. Chester maybe—gewiss, one could understand. They hated everybody; they were hard, unloving. But little Ada—der susse Engel! Why should they want to harm her?" She set her face grimly, and slowly her expression of stolidity returned.

"Why, indeed?" A note of sympathy was evident in Vance's voice. After a pause he rose and went to the window. "You may return to your room now, Frau Mannheim," he said, without turning. "We sha'n't let anything further happen to little Ada."

The woman got up heavily and, with an uneasy glance in Vance's direction, left the room.

As soon as she was out of hearing Markham swung about.

"What's the use of raking up all this ancient history?" he demanded irritably. "We're dealing with things that have taken place within the past few days, and you waste valuable time trying to find out why Tobias Greene hired a cook 1[illegible] years ago."

"There's such a thing as cause and effect," offered Vance mildly. "And frequently there's a dashed long interval between the two."

"Granted. But what possible connection can this German cook have with the present murder?"

"Perhaps none." Vance strode back across the room, his eyes on the floor. "But, Markham old dear, nothing appears to have any connection with this debacle. And, on the other hand, everything seems to have a possible relationship. The whole house is steeped in vague meanings. A hundred shadowy hands are pointing to the culprit, and the moment you try to determine the direction the hands disappear. It's a nightmare. Nothing means anything; therefore, anything may have a meaning."

"My dear Vance! You're not yourself." Markham's tone was one of annoyance and reproach. "Your remarks are worse than the obscure ramblings of the sibyls. What if Tobias Greene did have dealings with one Mannheim in the past? Old Tobias indulged in numerous shady transactions, if the gossip of 25 or 30 years ago can be credited. He was forever scurrying to the ends of the earth on some mysterious mission, and coming home with his pockets lined. And it's common knowledge that he spent considerable time in Germany. If you try to dig up his past for possible explanations for the present business, you'll have your hands full."

"You misconstrue my vagaries," returned Vance, pausing before the old oil painting of Tobias Greene over the fireplace. "I repudiate all ambition to become the family historian of the Greenes. . . . Not a bad head on Tobias," he commented, adjusting his monocle and inspecting the portrait. "An interestin' character. Dynamic forehead, with more than a suggestion of the scholar. A rugged, prying nose. Yes, Tobias no doubt fared forth on many an adventurous quest. A cruel mouth, though—rather sinister, in fact. I wish the whiskers permitted one a view of the chin. It was round, with a deep cleft, I'd say—the substance of which Chester's chin was but the simulacrum."

"Very edifying," sneered Markham. "But phrenology leaves me cold this morning.—Tell me, Vance: are you laboring under some melodramatic notion that old Mannheim may have been resurrected and returned to wreak vengeance on the Greene progeny for wrongs done him by Tobias in the dim past? I can't see any other reason for the questions you put to Mrs. Mannheim. Don't overlook the fact, however, that Mannheim's dead."

"I didn't attend the funeral." Vance sank lazily again in his chair."

"Don't be so unutterably futile," snapped Markham. "What's going through your head?"

"An excellent figure of speech! It expresses my mental state perfectly. Numberless things are 'going through my head.' But nothing remains there. My brain's a veritable sieve."

Heath projected himself into the discussion.

"My opinion is, sir, that the Mannheim angle of this affair is a washout. We're dealing with the present, and the bird that did this shooting is somewheres around here right now."

"You're probably right, Sergeant," conceded Vance. "But—my word!—it strikes me that every angle of the case is hopelessly inundated."

Champion Dairy Maid Convinces Her Father

FRANCES ROBINSON, 16, of Danville, Ky., not only knows all there is to know about the care of cows, but she has convinced her father that the dairy industry is a profitable one. He has abandoned his tobacco crop and turned his fields to clover and corn and his barns to blooded stock.

Miss Robinson is known as 'Kentucky's Champion Dairy Maid." Her Jersey cattle have won the State prize for the past three years. She was Kentucky's representative at the National Junior Club encampment in Washington, D. C., in June, and last year she represented her State at the National Dairy Exposition in Memphis.

SETTING THE TABLE

WILL you please be so kind as to tell me the important things that I should keep in mind when I am setting my table? To my mind, one of the most delightful things about a home is a well-set table, and I am setting a high ideal for myself in making up my mind to have my table set correctly. I enjoy very much the table suggestions that you give from time to time, and I always follow them. Thank you.—F. R.

Indeed I am very glad to help you in this delightful game of setting a table correctly. Let's take up the table items one by one.

There are several important rules for setting a cover, and the basic idea of these rules applies to informal meals—"family" meals—as much as it does to formal meals—"company" meals.

Knives, since they are used in the right hand, are placed at the right of the table, with the cutting edge toward the plate.

Spoons, with the bowls up, are placed at the right of the knives.

Forks are placed at the left of the plate, with the tines up. This is because the fork is held in the left hand when the knife is in the right hand. If an oyster fork is necessary, it is placed on the right of the knives and spoons, and parallel to them—or on the plate on which the oysters are served.

The silver should be placed in the correct sequence so that the person eating may use first the utensils farthest from the plate and "work toward the plate."

Not more than three knives and three forks (not counting the butter knife or oyster fork) are laid at one cover. If necessary additional pieces are laid just before the course is served.

Usually the silver is laid for the courses through the salad course, and the dessert silver is either placed at the plate before the dessert is served, or brought in on the dessert plate under the finger bowl.

For every item of food in the menu the necessary piece of silver should either be placed at the cover or brought in before the service of the course.

Unnecessary silver should not be placed. That is, the careless table-setter should not place on the table a heterogeneous collection of silver utensils (teaspoons, forks of various sizes, and for good measure, two or three knives) with the misguided, but generous, idea that "the guest may help himself to the utensil that he wishes to use for the course."

The napkin is placed on the left of the forks. If it is folded in a square, the open corner is the lower corner, nearest the plate.

The water glass is placed above the tip of the dinner knife. If there is a glass for wine or a fruit cup, it is placed to the right of the water glass or in a line slanting down from the goblet to the right. If there are more than two glasses, they are grouped artistically.

The bread and butter plate is placed above the tips of the forks, so that it will be on a line with the water glass. The butter spreader is placed on the bread and butter plate parallel to the edge of the table, the handle toward the right and the cutting edge down.

The place card is best placed above the plate.

The edge of the service plate, the tips of the handles of the silver utensils, and the lower edge of the napkin should be placed in exact alignment, one inch from the edge of the table. Some hostesses prefer that the silver be placed two inches from the edge of the table, so that there is a minimum of danger of its being brushed off the table.

Salts and peppers are usually placed between two covers or individual sets may be placed, or, if there are only a few covers, sets may be placed at the ends of the table.

Covers should be placed directly opposite each other.

The chairs are placed so that the line of the tablecloth is not broken.

MEDITATIONS
—OF A—
Married Woman

BY HELEN ROWLAND.

A PLEA FOR "BUNK."

Everybody's de-bunking everything, these days—big business, love, marriage, religion, history and romance!

* * *

Chivalry, sentiment and good old Victorian morality have been so thoroughly "de-bunked" that we almost blush to be accused of tolerating them around the house. They are somewhere back in the class with Dundreary whiskers, hand-painted plaques and gold teeth.

* * *

Yet, the more I read of the new psychology, the more I miss the sweet old-fashioned bunk!

* * *

If there isn't any Santa Claus, I don't even want to know it.

* * *

According to the latest popular theory, everybody is filled with an inferiority complex, and everything we do, good or bad, is for the promotion of our own Ego—the bolstering up of our own vanity and self-esteem.

* * *

If my neighbor cuts her best roses and brings them to me, it's not because she's sweet and generous or because she loves me. Oh, no! It's because she wants to play Lady Bountiful to me—to feel superior to me.

* * *

If your Pet Man takes you to a NICE restaurant instead of to the little table d'hote around the corner, it's not because he thinks so much of you—it's because he thinks so much of himself. It's not because he wants to please you and to show you a good time: it's because he wants to SHOW OFF—to feel pleased with himself!

* * *

When a man looks into your eyes with one of those long looks that go right through you and button up the back, it's not the blueness or the bigness or the limpidness of your eyes that he sees, but his own REFLECTION, glorified and magnified!

* * *

Everybody's trying to feel better and finer and more important than everybody else!

* * *

Wouldn't that sour you on humanity—and make you love Pomeranians? But, that's the New Psychology! Everything's BUNK—loyalty, courage, dreams, faith, ideals!

* * *

Then, give me back my BUNK! I want my hooey, my hokum, my blah! If bunk means believing in the existence of Divinity and in the decency and fineness of your fellowmen, I want my bunk!

* * *

If bunk means seeing a divine and inspired purpose in everything, from a pansy to a poem, let me keep my bunk!

* * *

If bunk means believing that love is something high and sweet and unselfish and glorified, and not a mere biological urge, then give me bunk!

* * *

If bunk means living in the IMAGINATION, instead of in the arid desert of materialism—then leave me to my BUNK! Blessed be the wisdom, the power and the glory of the imagination for ever and ever!

Metal Threads Run In New Weaves

METAL threads are seen in the weaves of a variety of fabrics. Satin weave with interwoven thread of metal, gold or silver, exhibits a molten metal surface and is astonishingly pliable. Heavy woolens carry the suggestion of a design in gold threads.

Silk prints, elaborate enough in design of themselves, are further enhanced by a design of metal threads woven into the material on top of the original pattern. The effect is very sumptuous.

Colored laces, of course, are being shot with metal threads . . . not criminally, iridescently.

And then, of course, the rather heavy metal brocade with a raised design of metal threads and a raised design in silk threds.

Chutney.

A very interesting chutney to tuck away in our preserve closet for next winter's consumption. Chop one pound tart apples, one pound small white onions, six red and green peppers, one bunch celery, rind of one lemon. Add to this one and one-half cups brown sugar, one-half cup granulated sugar, one pound seeded raisins, one quart cider vinegar, one tablespoon, ground ginger, two teaspoons salt, one teaspoon paprika. Boil gently until it thickens, then pack away in sterilized jar. Seal while hot.

Wilted Lettuce.

A welcome change in vegetables. Chop one-quarter pound bacon finely and fry until crisp. Mix together one-half teaspoon dry mustard, one-half teaspoon salt, one-quarter teaspoon pepper, one teaspoon sugar, three-quarters cup mild vinegar. Bring this to a boil and pour over shredded lettuce. Serve immediately.

No Must.

Lay a little stick across the top of the seldom-used teapot, just under the lid. This will permit fresh air to enter and prevent mustiness.

Children's Bedtime Story

By THORNTON W. BURGESS.

MRS. WHITEFOOT'S HAPPY THOUGHT.

To his own welfare he is blind
Who is too set to change his mind.
—Whitefoot the Wood Mouse.

WHITEFOOT the Wood Mouse was never more scared in his life than when he discovered Spooky the Owl was about. If he had been in the Green Forest he would not have been so scared, but Whitefoot had just started to follow Peter Rabbit across the Green Meadows to the dear Old Briar-patch. Fortunately Whitefoot had only a little more than started and was still but a short distance from the Green Forest. Just as soon as he dared Whitefoot ran back toward the Green Forest. Such a sigh of thankfulness as escaped him when he got there!

Whitefoot's mind had changed completely. He was now quite ready to go back home, in spite of the presence of the Bobcat family in that part of the Green Forest. So, watching his chance, he started. Now, the way Whitefoot travels is to run a few feet and dart under a piece of bark, or a big leaf, or into a little hole, and there wait until he is sure that it is safe to run a few feet more. In other words he travels by running and hiding. So sometimes it takes him quite a while to reach his destination. It took him a long time to get home. When he got home he found Mrs. Whitefoot there.

"Well," she demanded sharply, "where have you been?"

Whitefoot didn't want to tell her that he had started for the dear Old Briar-patch. "I've been looking for a place where we will be safer," said he.

"Did you find it?" she demanded sharply.

"No," confessed Whitefoot. "No, I didn't. I thought we might go back to the Old Orchard."

"Black Pussy the Cat would be up there," said Mrs. Whitefoot. "To be sure, one cat isn't as bad as four cats. But I'd like to be where there are no cats at all. But I don't suppose there is such a place."

"Yes, there is," said Whitefoot.

"Where?" demanded Mrs. Whitefoot.

"The dear Old Briar-patch over in the Green Meadows, where

"Well!" she demanded sharply, where have you been!"

Peter Rabbit lives," replied Whitefoot promptly.

"It is too far away," declared Mrs. Whitefoot with equal promptness. "It is too long a trip to make across the Green Meadows."

"Then I suppose we'll have to stay here and worry," said Whitefoot mournfully.

Mrs. Whitefoot was scratching one of her ears with a dainty little white hand. "I have an idea," said she.

"What is it?" asked Whitefoot eagerly.

"We could go over to that little house in the woods, where Farmer Brown and Farmer Brown's Boy make all that sweet stuff in the spring," said she. Of course she meant the sugar house over among the sugar maples.

"But Yowler the Bobcat comes around there," protested Whitefoot.

"True," replied Mrs. Whitefoot, "but he cannot get inside. No one bigger than a mouse can get inside."

"You forget Shadow the Weasel," said Whitefoot.

"Well, we always have to watch out for Shadow the Weasel wherever we are. It is those cats we are trying to get away from," declared Mrs. Whitefoot.

Whitefoot thought it over. "My dear," said he, "I believe you're right. I really believe you're right. We don't have to go outside that little house unless we want to. Let's move over there right away."

Besides his contributions to science, particularly chemistry, Lloyd has written six novels. He now is completing his seventh, "Felix Moses."

ANSWERS TO QUERIES

The Post-Dispatch reserves the right to reject any query. Personal and telephone calls or answers by mail cannot be given attention, except letters on medical questions of undoubted sincerity when accompanied by stamped, addressed envelope.

J. F. P.—A whitewash used by the United States Government for lighthouses and other public buildings is: Unslaked lime, two pecks; common salt, one peck; rice flour, three pounds; Spanish whiting, one-half pound; glue, clean and white, one pound; water, a sufficient quantity. Slake the lime in a vessel of about 10 gallons capacity; cover it, strain and add the salt previously dissolved in warm water. Boil the rice flour in water; soak the glue in water and dissolve on a water bath, and add both, together with the whiting and five gallons of hot water to the mixture, stirring all well together. Cover to protect from dirt, and let it stand for a few days, when it will be ready for use. Apply hot, preferably from a kettle used over a portable furnace.

K. E. A.—The flight of Edward F. Schlee and Willima S. Brock in the plane Pride of Detroit was the first race by airplane against time around the world. They attempted to beat the world girdling record of 28 days 14 hours and 30 minutes, held by Edward S. Evans and Linton Wells, who traveled by airplane, steamboat and train. Brock and Schlee hopped off from Harbor Grace, Newfoundland, Aug. 28, of last year. Their first objective was Croyden, England. The projected flight was ended at Tokio. They were told by aviation authorities and their own agent that it would be suicidal to attempt the next hop, across the Pacific, at the time. They flew 12,275 miles in 19 days and had nine and one-half more days to break the world's record when they stopped. Assuming their flight across the Pacific had been successful, they could have broken the record with comparative ease, most of the remaining distance being water, with probably two stops.

LEGAL INFORMATION

(By a Member of the St. Louis Bar Association)

MRS. M. W.—The parents cannot have the marriage annulled against your desires.

MRS. S. E. W.—You cannot compel the children legally to help provide for their parents. All you can do is appeal to them.

C. B. Q.—You should consult your lawyer personally about the questions connected with your case.

R. S. M.—The children will have no claim to the property at the time of their father's death, as he has no interest in it.

S. G.—Write to the Board of Pardons and Paroles, Springfield, Ill. Information you want about their time of meeting is not of record here.

N. H.—You can sue for a divorce and alimony, or for separate maintenance. Consult a lawyer or the Legal Aid Bureau, Municipal Courts building, Fourteenth and Market streets.

IGNORANT—If the child's birth was reported at the time you can get a birth certificate at the Municipal Courts building, Thirteenth and Market streets, first floor. (2) Only by inquiry of the Court officials could you get the information wanted. (3) You can keep the child out of school until she is six years of age.

G. W.—As to the possibility of "suing under the workmen's compensation law," you can appeal to the Circuit Court for the award of the Workmen's Compensation Commission.

E. M. V.—The last day for personal service of the October term of court is Sept. 15. The suit should be filed before that date, if possible.

WAYNE.—If the father is taking good care of the child and providing a proper home for her, the grandfather could not take her away.

A. D. B.—Under the circumstances described we do not believe that the owner can raise the rent until the expiration of the year.

A. H.—Whether or not the grandmother of the child can take him from his stepmother, since the child's father has died, would depend upon the circumstances and to a certain extent upon the preference of the child.

MEDICAL QUESTIONS

Health and sanitation questions of public interest only will be considered. Diagnosis or treatment of individual cases will not be given.

ANXIOUS—Lapse of time between exposure and the first stage of the infection mentioned is from one to three weeks. The first stage of the disease lasts from one to two years. Two years is an average period for treatment to effect a cure.

DON—Enlarged tonsils are the result of disease and while it may be possible to reduce them to some extent by treatment, removal by operation is often advised. Consult a specialist, and if you wish, send stamped, addressed envelope for names of specialists.

MRS. A. M. G., GRANITE CITY—Any pronounced or chronic physical trouble might be the cause of loss of weight. You are advised to see a physician who would find out the cause and advise you whether or not some treatment is necessary before undertaking the exercises and other measures ordinarily relied on to develop the body.

P.-D. READER—As you mention having physician you might ask him if it is advisable to discontinue active treatments on account of loss of weight. A diet list and the preparations of cod liver oil are about the only things practical to recommend here for increasing weight. If you wish a diet list send stamped, addressed envelope.

ALTITUDE—A deflected septum almost always produces obstructed breathing resulting in sleeping with the mouth open, which is abnormal and unhealthy. The proper channel for passage of air into the lungs is through the nose. Also, such obstruction may prevent inhalation of the normal amount of air, and so lead to debility, laryngitis, nervousness or other abnormality. Treatment by a capable specialist would probably do more for relief and cure than would change of climate. A line addressed to the Health Department of Granite City will furnish the altitude of that section. Names of specialists are not published, but will be given if you send stamped, addressed envelope mentioning the condition again.

$110,000 for a Rug Paid at London Sale

THE "Emperor's Carpet," the most famous Persian rug in the world, has been sold at London for $110,000 to the International Art Gallery.

Measuring 25 feet by 10 feet, it was made in a factory of the Persian court some time during the sixteenth century. Tradition says that it was taken to Vienna in 1698 as a gift from Peter the Great to the Emperor of Austria. It remained in possession of the Hapsburg family until the Austrian revolution in 1921.

Since then it has been in the State museum, Vienna, until sold to a private buyer.

Turkish Women Ignore All Orders to Unveil

PUBLIC antagonism has forced the Turkish Government to abandon strict enforcement of the prohibition against veils for women and fezes for men.

The older generation will be left to follow the old customs and efforts henceforth will be centered in persuading the young people of Turkey to obey the regulations designed to westernize the country.

Stories are told of Turkish girls who leave their homes for school each morning demurely veiled. At a safe distance from their parents they produce a tam-o'-shanter or other western hat, remove their veils and go on their way.
